TAXATION PLAN IS ASSAILED AS 'CONFISCATORY'

State Levies Would Add to Load.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 28.—[Special.] — The dangerously deterrent effects likely to follow the "confiscatory" surtaxes and estate and gift taxes placed in the pending revenue bill by the house radicals were described in a letter made public today from Raymond Pitcairn, Philadelphia attorney, to Representative F. H. La Guardia of New York, leader of the radicals among the house Republicans.

At the same time Majority Leader Rainey of Illinois inserted in the record a letter from L. H. Parker, chief of the expert staff of the joint congressional committee on internal revenue, which listed the income taxes already in force in 28 states and described how, in some states the very wealthy would have more than three-quarters of their incomes taken in income taxes alone.

Need New Industries.

"Doubtless we would agree that the greatest help in this emergency would be the establishment of new industries not suffering from killing competition and overproduction, that would provide employment in the production of things, new and useful," wrote Mr. Pitcairn, who is a brother of the head of the Pitcairn Autogiro company. "This was what happened when the automotive industry arose and took up the labor that had been displaced by labor saving machinery of a generation ago.

"My brother has developed the autogiro to a point of commercial practicability. Quantity production of safer aircraft is now awaiting capital to equip factories for quantity production. As in the majority of cases available income is greatly curtailed by the all pervading depression.

Fears More Losses.

"Now comes the threat of confiscatory surtaxes which already are a great deterrent to new industry. And as if this situation were not enough to discourage all new enterprise, the halls of congress echo even now with confiscatory estate levies to be added to estate taxes which have caused and will increasingly cause the breaking up and bankruptcy of estates which hold the capital necessary to sustain businesses supported by holders of stocks and equities in the firms and companies that make up the industrial greatness of the nation and which employ a vast section of our population.

"True wealth consists not in cash nor static capital but in capital used in the continued production of things of value. The falling off of income inevitably means unemployment. The confiscation of income and capital will necessarily increase the depression.

Need Concentrated Capital.

Citing another case in point, Attorney Pitcairn wrote Representative La Guardia that the company of which he is a director had spent a year in planning a large new plant, but that the project has been postponed because of the high taxes proposed in the new revenue bill.

In the Parker letter, introduced by Representative Rainey, the writer pointed out that state taxes were comparatively low, but upon a broad base. And in view of the financial difficulties in which many states find themselves, the tax expert said, "It would not be surprising if the income tax rates in the various states were substantially increased in the near future."

Pays 77 Cents on Dollar.

"If a man lives in one of these average states and happens to have an income of $5,000,000 he will pay 77 cents in income taxes out of every dollar he makes in excess of that amount, leaving him only 23 cents of his earned dollar," Mr. Parker wrote. He cited particularly the case of Wisconsin.

"If a man living in the state of Wisconsin is fortunate enough to have an income of over $5,000,000, he will pay a maximum tax of 72 cents on the dollar to the federal government and 15 cents to Wisconsin, making a grand total income tax of 87 cents on the dollar," he said.

"A man with a similar income in New York, Illinois, Massachusetts, North Carolina, and North Dakota will pay a maximum tax of 72 cents on the dollar to the federal government and 6 cents on the dollar to the states, making a grand total of 78 cents on the dollar.

"In the case of Arkansas, Georgia, Oklahoma, and South Carolina, the maximum combined rate of tax will be 77 cents on the dollar."

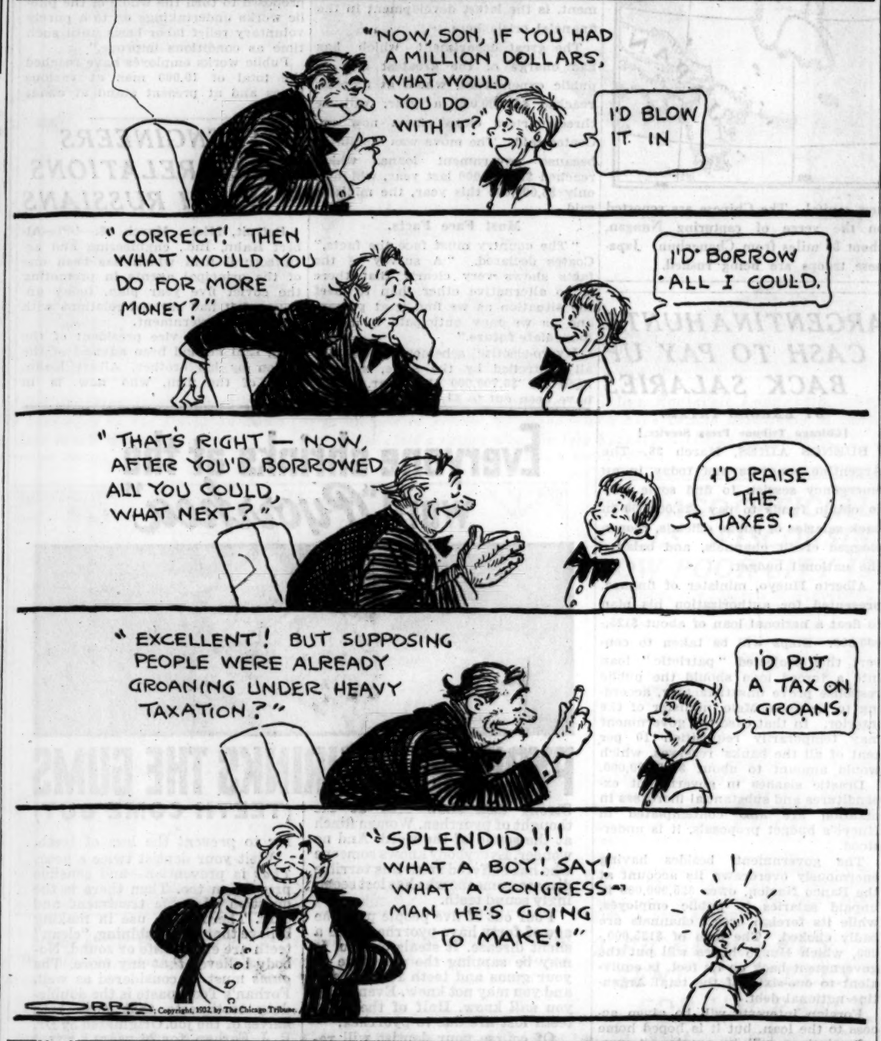
CONGRESSMAN TESTING OUT HIS SON IN POLITICAL ECONOMY



2 Slain, 2 Shot in Mystery Fray in Home

Two men were shot and killed and two others were wounded in a mysterious affray in a flat at 842 North Mozart street last night. Robert Schreier, tenant, who shot all four men, asserted they were bandits. Police early this morning were still investigating his story, one theory being the shooting grew out of a brawl.

ROBERT SCHREIER.

The men killed were Joseph Sokula, 28 years old, of 716 Milwaukee avenue, and Stanley [Buddy] Butzloff, 25, of 4258 Montrose avenue. Those wounded are Alex Maslanka, 26, and Andrew Schmitz, 24, both of 834 North Mozart street. The fact that Maslanka and Schmitz were neighbors of Schreier added to the mystery of the case, police said.

Story of Slayer.

In his story Schreier, who is a chauffeur, told Lieut. John Palowski that he, his brother William, and Joseph Kroll were in the flat when three men—Maslanka, Butzloff, and Sokula—entered the rear door. One of them shouted: "This is a stickup!" Sokula, he said, ordered him into a front room, hitting him on the head with a blackjack.

"As I went into the front room I picked up a shotgun and a revolver which I kept in case of robbery," stated Schreier. "Sokula was in front of me and I fired. Then I shot another of the men. Maslanka, who held a pistol in his hand, turned towards the door, and as he ran down the stairs I fired at him. A fourth man was running in the yard and I fired the shotgun at him."

Two of Wounded Are Neighbors.

Maslanka and Schmitz staggered into the latter's home at 834 North Mozart street, where the former roomed. There Maslanka's pistol dropped from his pocket. Schmitz changed clothing and disappeared. He appeared next at the Rogers Park hospital, suffering from shotgun pellets in the chest, neck and arms. He told doctors that he had been shot "in the booze racket."

Police arrived a few minutes after the shooting and found Butzloff on the floor of the Schreier flat, shot in the abdomen. He was taken to the Bridewell hospital where he died early this morning. Sokula was dead from slugs in the chest. While they were there they learned of the wounded man at 834 Mozart street and found Maslanka. He had been shot in the chest and mouth. He will die, physicians said.

In the Schmitz house, police questioned Mrs. Blanche Schmitz, wife of one of the wounded men, and Mrs. Mary Kozial, 933 North Mozart street, a sister of Schreier's wife, Antoinette. Mrs. Schreier was away at the time of the gunplay. Police held the three women. From Mrs. Schmitz, they learned that Maslanka had been beaten up by six men in the neighborhood Sunday morning.

It was possible, detectives said, that Schreier had participated in the beating, and that Maslanka and his friends had entered Schreier's home to whip him in retaliation. On the other hand, they said that the robbery story might be authentic, and that Schmitz, who remained in the yard when the others invaded the flat, acted as "finger," or indicator.

Schreier, the police said, was arrested recently for stripping an automobile, but was freed. In his home were found 24 bottles of beer and some alcohol. In Schmitz' home five gallons of alcohol were discovered. These might have some bearing on the case, police believed.

PERSONALTY TAXES IN CHAOS; JACOBS TELLS NEW PLANS

An analysis of the 262,000 personalty tax items on the books of the old board of assessors shows that only 40,000 were proper returns from which tax payments might be expected. Assessor J. L. Jacobs made this statement yesterday, announcing that new methods would be used in collecting the 1931 personalty levy.

"I am calling a series of separate conferences with representatives of financial, industrial, manufacturing and community groups," said the assessor. "Instructions will be given and attention called to the legal necessity for filling out schedules. The assessor's office will offer help in preparing the schedules.

"All personalty schedules will be mailed out as registered matter to insure that taxpayers receive the papers."

Although the lists of taxpayers already are being prepared the schedules will not be mailed for several weeks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, March 28.—Forty-five Cuban and foreign leaders of an international drug adulterating ring were arrested by secret police today, charged with selling a poison preparation made up locally under the name and patent of a well known foreign manufactured headache tablet. Police tonight continued to search all drug stores in Cuba for the tablets.

Dr. Mesirow Joins Alimony Row in Jail

Dr. Maurice E. Mesirow, who several times has been on the verge of going to the county jail, finally answered roll call in the jail's alimony row last night. In a south side hotel his second wife, Mme. Irene Pavloska of the Chicago Civic Opera, awaited reports from his attorneys, and termed his arrest "another outrage in a vengeful campaign" of his first wife. Back alimony totaling $1,100 is due Mrs. Eda Mesirow, the plaintiff, now said to be ill in Los Angeles.

I. Harvey Levinson, attorney for Dr. Mesirow, busied himself during the late afternoon seeking means to free his client, who was arrested in a clinic at Michael Reese hospital. Late last night he announced that he had been unsuccessful and would do nothing further until today, when he will seek bond. The arrest of the eye, ear, nose and throat specialist followed the confirmation recently by the Appellate court of his conviction before Judge Daniel P. Trude for contempt of court.

Held in Contempt by Judge.

In December, 1930, Judge Trude ruled that Dr. Mesirow was in contempt because he had not paid the alimony due his wife, and because he disappeared from the courtroom during the hearing. A few days later the judge stayed the commitment order, pending an agreement on bond between the attorneys.

The legal see-saw between the physician and his first wife began with her suit for divorce in August, 1927, when the "Jane Doe" named in her bill was identified in court as Mme. Pavloska. The latter was charged with enticing Mesirow from his home and alienating his affections. The doctor countered with the assertion that he had long ceased to love his wife when he met the singer, who was a friend of his sister. Mme. Pavloska branded the charges "cruel and false," and threatened suit for defamation of character. On Dec. 29, 1928, one day after the divorce, Dr. Mesirow married Mme. Pavloska.

Singer Assails First Wife.

Mme. Pavloska last night intimated that reports she had received from Los Angeles varied widely from the first Mrs. Mesirow's story of her condition. She declared that "we have good reason to believe she is enjoying herself thoroughly in Los Angeles."

The singer, who went into voluntary bankruptcy in 1929, denied last night that she had guaranteed alimony payments to the first wife at the time of her marriage.

HUNT FLYER ON YACHT AS BABY KIDNAPING CLEW

BULLETIN.

Boston, Mass., March 28.—(AP)—Coast guard vessels along the Atlantic seaboard were searching tonight for the yacht Samonian on which John B. "Warbug" Marsten named by Betty Gruenler as holding a clew to the Lindbergh kidnaping, was thought to be hiding.

Marsten, an aviator whose license has been revoked, was connected with the mystery, after a two hour questioning by police had failed to shake Miss Gruenler's story that he could give valuable clews to the kidnaping.

She insisted that if she were given 24 hours and sufficient money she could bring back valuable information concerning the kidnaping.

Miss Gruenler reported voluntarily to police after she had read that she was wanted for questioning. Newark, N. J., police informed of the girl's story, asked that she be kept under surveillance.

New York, March 28.—[Special.]—The Rev. H. Dobson Peacock of Norfolk, Va., flew through a storm today to visit Col. Charles A. Lindbergh at Hopewell, N. J. He spent half an hour trying to convince the aviator that he was in touch with the actual kidnapers of the missing Charles Augustus Jr., but left, admitting that he had been only partly successful.

Still the clergyman, who regarded his mission as so important that he was willing to risk his life in carrying it out swiftly, clung to the belief that he and his associates, Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage and John Hughes Curtis, a Norfolk boat builder, would be the agents through whom the 21 months old infant would be restored to his anxious parents.

Cool Reception at Estate.

Dr. Peacock admitted he had not brought tangible proof of the authenticity of his information and denied that he was taking the ransom money back to Norfolk with him. But he declared that his optimism was based upon "latest reports" from the Virginia city, where Mr. Curtis and Admiral Burrage awaited his return.

A cool reception greeted Mr. Peacock upon his arrival at the end of his journey by airplane and automobile. State troopers on duty at the entrance to the Lindbergh estate on Sourland mountain refused at first to let him pass. They relented only after he had telephoned to Col. Henry Breckinridge, legal adviser to Col. Lindbergh, over the emergency field telephone which they reluctantly allowed him to use.

Admits Lindbergh Doubts.

Dr. Peacock had scarcely departed in the United States navy auto in which he made the last part of his journey to Hopewell before Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of the state police, issued a statement at Trenton. The statement merely said:

"Col. Lindbergh does not believe the information obtained at Norfolk to be of specific significance in this case."

Dr. Peacock, upon leaving the white stone house on the bleak, snow-covered hill just outside of Hopewell, admitted frankly that the aviator who has seen so many hopeful clews fade into nothingness was "impressed" by some parts of the story and "not impressed by other angles," which he said he gave him.

Pastor Keeps Optimism.

"Did Col. Lindbergh receive your information with optimism?" some one asked the clergyman, who wore a leather flying jacket underneath his long black overcoat.

"I cannot speak for Col. Lindbergh," he replied, his teeth chattering with the cold. "All I can say is that we are optimistic."

The minister, however, indicated that even he had little hope that the baby would be restored immediately, for he said he expected to return to Hopewell for another conference in "a few days." Further negotiations, it was believed, would be held in abeyance pending his return to Norfolk.

Mr. Curtis, who received a message from Dr. Peacock after the conference at the Lindbergh house, was less guarded in the use of words and he declared that the long missing child would be restored to his parents this week "if everything goes well."

"Col. Lindbergh is impressed with the information we have supplied him," he asserted. "In fact he says it is the most valuable, the most reassuring that he has received since the baby was stolen."

Missionary, His Wife and Son End Lives

A veteran missionary of the Quaker faith, his wife and their 21 year old son locked themselves in a rented garage in the rear of 6610 Woodlawn avenue yesterday, clasped hands as they sat in the rear seat of an automobile and died slowly of carbon monoxide gas generated by the motor of their automobile. In the missionary's pocket was found 18 cents.

The dead are Horace E. Coleman, 64 years old; Mrs. Floy Elizabeth Coleman, 62 years old, and Horace E. Coleman Jr., said to have been a student at the University of Chicago. The elder Colemans, who returned from missionary work in Japan about a year ago, formerly lived at Bloomingdale, Ind.

All Three Sign Letter.

In the automobile was found a letter, written in a tone of resignation that almost approached happiness at the prospect of death, giving directions for the disposition of the bodies. It had been inscribed by the father and signed by all three. In part it said:

"We don't want to be dressed or combed or fussed over, just a sheet around us and a plain pine, unpainted box. Take us to the crematory as soon as possible. No service here—that can come as our friends arrange or gather in groups in many parts of the world.

"We want to be cremated together, the ashes to be sent to the National Sunday School association in Tokio and scattered under the trees on our place—our summer home in Karuizana. We want no one to see us after our going save those who must care for us."

Letter Summons Friend.

The father, mother, and son appeared at 11 a. m. at the home of Michael Kennedy and rented the garage from Mrs. Kennedy. They then forwarded a special delivery letter to a friend, Dr. Ellis Walker of 5519 Ellis avenue, instructing him to go to the garage. Dr. Walker, a dentist, was instructed to communicate with a brother-in-law of the Colemans, F. L. P. Builta of Pine Village, Ind., who would care for the funeral expenses.

Two policemen, Edwin Johnson and Herbert Olson of the Woodlawn station, sent to the garage at the request of Dr. Walker, discovered the bodies. All were seated in the back of the car, with Mrs. Coleman in the middle, and all were still clasping hands.

Father a Lecturer.

The police learned that the elder Coleman had maintained a mail address at the Belvidere hotel, 4655 Lake Park avenue, during the past year while he was traveling on lecture tours. The trio had registered there on Saturday.

At the Belvidere hotel it was said that young Coleman had roomed at 5473 Ellis avenue while attending the university. Thomas R. Builta, a cousin of the Colemans and a student at Northwestern university, resides at 1838 Chicago avenue, Evanston.

Kin Unable to Explain Act.

Mr. Builta, at his home in Pine Village, said he saw the Colemans about a week ago and that they seemed in good spirits. He was unable to account for their suicide pact, he added, as they were in good health and had no great financial worries. He said that young Coleman was a student at the University of Chicago, but his name does not appear on the student register.

Mrs. Coleman, according to advices from Richmond, Ind., was graduated from Earlham college at that city in 1895 as Miss Floy Rhode. Richmond friends said she was decorated by Queen Elizabeth of Belgium for her relief work during the war.

SOVIET TROOPS SHOOT VICTIMS IN BORDER TRAP

Survivors Describe Red Terrorism.

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

TIGHINA, Bessarabia, March 28.—Nearly one thousand Moldavian men, women, and children, tempted by the freezing of the Dniester river to escape across this frontier into Rumania from a soviet drive against the last remaining class of peasant proprietors in the Ukraine, have been killed or wounded by Russian frontier guards in the last three months.

Some among an equal number of survivors now housed in hospitals and barracks in Bessarabia and Rumania proper have told stories of the persecution they fled and the dangers through which they passed. On the Russian bank, the writer saw with his own eyes one grim reminder of the penalty exacted for failure to make good escape across the 150 yards of ice—the corpse of a woman, left visible in the snow as a warning to others.

Set Up No Man's Land.

A prohibited zone has been established a mile and a quarter inland along the Russian side of this stream, which for 375 miles constitutes the only border between two countries still practically at war. Yet refugees still steal across this no man's land with the fall of darkness each night and, despite a memorandum forwarded to the league of nations by the refugees, the shootings just as certainly continue.

The refugees are for the most part citizens of the Moldavian soviet republic but are actually of the Rumanian race. That the number this year is so large is due to the fact the soviets, having long ago driven the kulaks [wealthy peasants] either to Siberia or into kolhos—a farmers' collective—are now campaigning against the serednjaks, or farmers with middling possessions.

A Typical Case.

A typical case is that of Nicolas Bucovan, a 33 year old farmer, who lies in a hospital in Tighina with a bullet in a knee. He had been able, despite the hardship of official persecution, to retain his home and fields in Karagatsch, on the other bank of the Dniester, and accumulate enough to feed his family and stock this winter. The soviet commission confiscated his supplies, leaving himself, his wife and two children without food.

He harnessed two horses to a sled loaded with a big water barrel, in which he hid his wife and 7 year old daughter, sat his 3 year old son on the seat beside him and drove toward the Dniester. Reaching it, he lashed the horses and dashed for the Rumanian shore.

He was discovered and one horse was shot down. Bucovan sprang from the sled with his son in his arms and reached Rumanian territory with a bullet in a knee.

Wife and Daughter Slain.

What became of his wife and daughter he did not know, but a report to the Rumano-Russian frontier commission tells the tale. The commission, which went to Chitzkini, where the event occurred, established that the sled, with one living and one dead horse and the water barrel, in which the woman and her child were hidden stood in the middle of the river and approach to it was prevented by a patrol of soviet guards with rifles. After two hours of weeping and wailing from the sled, all was still.

The commission asked the soviet guard to allow the corpses of the mother and daughter to be brought to Rumania, where the rest of the family now found itself, but this was refused. The guard removed both corpses from the water barrel, buried them in the snow on the Russian bank and confiscated the sled and the living horse.

This event occurred in daylight. Afterwards almost 1,000 Russian peasants assembled on the shore and besought the soviet guard to allow them to bury the mother and child in their native village of Karagatsch. This was refused, as soviet authorities regard refugees as deserters and not deserving ordinary decencies.

60 Slain at One Time.

"Tonight at about 11 the frontier guard near Purcari was alarmed by rifle shots and bomb explosions. Light signals for reinforcements sent up by the soviet guard illuminated a massacre in which more than sixty Moldavian men, women, and children were killed by fifteen soldiers who fired and threw bombs at them. More than twenty persons, including children, escaped over the ice to the Rumanian frontier. All were wounded. The whole group had sought to escape, but were discovered and shot down."

"Soviet controllers came to our village a short time before and asked where our wheat was hidden. They posted artillery at the edge of the village to frighten us, fired a few wide shots, and declared they would shoot us all down unless we told where the grain was.

Threatened with Deportation.

"As the bluff failed to work, we were told to prepare to go to Siberia. All who refused to join the Kolhos were assembled. Since we knew that in the neighboring village of Malachi such people were actually sent to Siberia, several families decided to make for Rumania.

"Inhabitants of the villages of Kordona, Rizavertailovka, Gradinitza, and Ghinaia had the same plan, and women and children assembled in Claneshti wood. One group of thirty-three had fled north, a second of thirty came south, and a third of forty came east from other villages.

"Unfortunately, a man of the second group built a fire in the wood, which attracted the attention of a frontier watcher. He sent up light signals and other guards came up on horse and foot. While the children ran away in all directions and the women begged for mercy, the soldiers ordered the men to kneel. Then they began rifle fire and bomb throwing and in a few minutes the wood was turned into a cemetery. Those who could, fled. Rumanian soldiers were ready to fire at us when we shouted we were Moldavians."

NEW MANCHURIA CAPITAL PERILED BY CHINESE ARMY

Japan's Position in Seized Territory Precarious.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, March 28.—Manchuria again occupies the center of interest on the far eastern stage, eclipsing even the unsettled Shanghai crisis.

Apparently as a result of efforts in their behalf at Nanking in connection with the visit there of the league of nations commission investigating the Chinese-Japanese war, Manchurians have strengthened their rebellion against the new Japanese supported Manchurian state, Manchoukuo. They have carried their campaign practically to the outskirts of the new capital, Changchun, where the Manchu puppet ruler, Henry Pu-yi, former Chinese boy emperor, has his headquarters.

"Bandits" Attack Towns.

A telegram from Changchun through the Japanese official Rengo News service today said 3,000 so-called bandits attacked towns within 30 miles of Changchun, forcing Gen Shigeru Honjo, Japanese commander in Manchuria, to reinforce the Japanese garrison.

A Chinese report through their official Kuo Min service reported that a large area east and south of Harbin, including the Changhun district, is seething with rebellion, making the Japanese position precarious.

Lord Lytton, head of the league commission, in an adddress at Nanking today declared that the league's chief interest is to preserve China's territorial integrity. His remark came as a reply to welcoming addresses by Wang Ching-wei, Chinese premier; T. V. Soong, finance minister; and Lo Wen-kan, foreign minister, in which they declared that China's vital hope in the league is maintenance of her territorial, administrative, and political integrity.

"When you say the Chinese people have one vital hope and inspiration," Lord Lytton said, "the maintenance of territorial and administrative integrity, I can assure you at once that this necessarily becomes the prime condition of any settlement effected by the league, since the league could not recommend to its membership any course inconsistent with their treaty obligations, which are predicated on the preservation of China's territorial and administrative integrity."

Says Japan Is Aggressor.

Lo Wen-kan, in his speech of welcome to the league commission, declared:

"You have landed on Chinese soil at the most tragic moment in our history. When you left Europe and America, Japanese activity in Manchuria was already endangering the integrity of Chinese territory, but since then Japanese military measures at Shanghai have endangered the very foundations of our social and political organizations.

"At the very moment when we were trying to free ourselves from domestic complications, our neighboring nation, with whom we desire only cordial relations based on equality and reciprocity of mutual respect, attacked us without previous notice, employing military force first in Manchuria, second at Tientsin and now at Shanghai."

Japan Rushes Troops.

CHANGCHU, Manchuria, March 29.—[Thursday.]—(AP)—Chinese troops opposed to the puppet rule of Japan in eastern Kirin province were threatening today to march on Changchun, the capital of the new Manchurian state, and strong Japanese forces, including bombing planes, were sent out to stop them.

Japanese forces from Mukden and Changchun, including most branches of the military service, are en route to Nungan, some 35 miles northeast of Changchun, where Chinese soldiers under Li Hai-tsing, some 7,000 strong, are about to capture the city. The Chinese headquarters are at Fuyu, and they control the nearby territory south to Nungan. If they capture Nungan they will be in a position to attack Changchun.

Li Hai-tsing's forces apparently had defeated the troops of Hsi Hsia, who was recently set up by Japan as governor of Kirin, outside the town, which was reported on the verge of surrender. The small Japanese detachments previously sent from Changchun to Nungan radioed for help.

Peace Parley Near Collapse.

SHANGHAI, March 29.—[Tuesday.]—Prospects of successfully concluding the Sino-Japanese armistice conference here are the gloomiest they have been at any time since the negotiations began. It will surprise no one if tomorrow's meeting proves the last.

The Japanese steadfastly refuse to withdraw their troops into the international settlement from the settlement road areas. Quo Tai-chi, Chinese vice foreign minister, his patience exhausted, today flatly demanded that the Japanese state when and on what conditions they will withdraw. The Japanese replied that they must wait until "conditions returned to normal." Quo heatedly retorted that "conditions would never return to normal as long as Japanese forces occupy Chinese soil."

With the negotiations seemingly hopelessly deadlocked, Mayor Wu Teh-chen's office today announced that sniping and skirmishing had been renewed along almost the entire front and was briskest near Taichang.

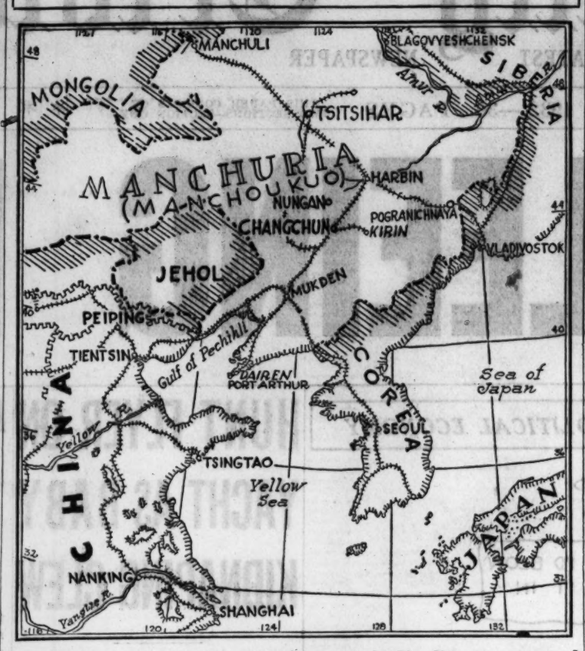
TOKIO, March 28.—Having received reports from Lieut. Gen. Uyeda, Japanese delegate on the peace negotiations at Shanghai, military authorities here seem to expect a breakdown of the conference. They are reported to be discussing with Gen. Shirakawa, Japanese commander at Shanghai, the number of troops to be returned to that city in event of a rupture of the negotiations.

NEW FIGHTING IN MANCHURIA



The map indicates scene of new fighting in Manchuria, where Chinese troops opposed to Japan's puppet government are moving against Changchun, the new capital. The Chinese are reported on the verge of capturing Nungan, about 35 miles from Changchun. Japanese troops are being rushed.

ARGENTINA HUNTS CASH TO PAY UP BACK SALARIES

BY HAROLD TATAM.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, March 28.—The Argentine congress met today in an emergency session to find some way to obtain funds to pay $25,000,000 in back salaries of public officials, reopen clogged credit channels, and balance the national budget.

Alberto Hueyo, minister of finance, presented for authorization his plan to float a national loan of about $125,000,000. Steps will be taken to convert this projected "patriotic" loan into a forced loan should the public response prove unsatisfactory, according to Leopoldo Melo, minister of the interior. In that case the government may temporarily requisition 10 per cent of all the banks' reserves, which would amount to about $100,000,000.

Drastic slashes in government expenditures and substantial increases in taxation are also contemplated in Hueyo's budget proposals, it is understood.

The government, besides having enormously overdrawn its account at the Banco Nacion, owes $25,000,000 in unpaid salaries to public employés, while its foreign credit channels are badly choked. The loan of $125,000,000, which Hueyo hopes will put the government back on its feet, is equivalent to one-sixth of the total Argentine national debt.

Foreign interests will be given access to the loan, but it is hoped home subscriptions will be ample. A proposed bill in connection with the loan would also authorize a reduction of the national gold reserve from 47 to 40 per cent.

SPENDING ORGY IN NEW ZEALAND SLASHED BY 75%

Jobless to Be Given What Public Work There Is.

BY QUENTIN POPE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, March 28.—Almost total suspension of New Zealand's public works construction policy, announced by Joseph G. Coates, former premier and now minister of public works and unemployment, is the latest development in the financial crisis here.

The great department which has had charge of the greatest side of public expenditure, which at its peak reached $43,000,000 a year, will be three-quarters closed from now on, Coates said. The move was inevitable because government loans, which reached $27,000,000 last year, will total only $6,000,000 this year, the minister said.

Must Face Facts.

"The country must face the facts," Coates declared. "A survey of the facts shows very clearly that there is no alternative other than to meet the situation as we find it at present and as we may anticipate it in the immediate future."

Hydro-electric schemes, which are all controlled by the state, show a need for $6,700,000 this year. They have been cut to $1,500,000. Railroad construction work, which three years ago drew $15,000,000 annually from loans raised overseas, is reduced to $3,500,000. From this sum a further $500,000 is to be lopped.

Road funds provided to local authorities are to be halted and this year there will be little road construction from general revenue. A total of $3,400,000 was to have been spent on new public buildings. The funds available will be a mere $75,000, although commitments on works in hand amount to more than $500,000.

Jobs to Be Divided.

Most drastic of the government's proposals is one that construction work which is vitally necessary shall be continued on the basis of relief works. That is, employés of the department shall be fired and taken on again for two days a week at minimum rates. The proposal has raised a storm of protest from labor, but the new method is to be applied.

"Rather than adopt the method of wholesale reduction by dispensing with so many," Coates said, "it is felt that to prevent undue distress the better method would be to employ as many men as possible, and in order that this policy may be applied it is proposed to turn the whole of the public works undertakings on to a purely voluntary relief labor basis until such time as conditions improve."

Public works employés have reached the total of 10,000 men at various times and at present stand at about 7,000.

Detroit, Mich., March 28.—(AP)—Albert Kahn, Inc., engineering and architectural firm which has been one of the principal agents in promoting the soviet five year plan, today announced it had severed relations with the soviet government.

Moritz Kahn, vice president of the firm, said he had been advised of the action by his brother, Albert Kahn, head of the firm, who now is in Russia.

William Hodges, murder, sentenced to life in the penitentiary; James Woods, false pretenses, sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell, by Judge Rudolph Desort.

Frand Chiodo, murder, sentenced to 14 years in the penitentiary; Joseph Campisi, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in Pontiac reformatory, by Judge Walter Stanton.

Fred Schaia, John Deering, alias Durant, and Robert Clauson, alleged bandits, were held to the grand jury in bonds of $80,000 each by Judge Frank M. Padden in the Felony court yesterday on charges of robbery. The high bonds were suggested by Assistant State's Attorney Frank Mast, who said that the men had held up at least fifteen drug stores in Chicago and New York.

George Schaia, brother of Fred, another alleged member of the gang, is in the Bridewell hospital suffering from a gunshot wound he received when police captured the men in the Mira Mar hotel at 6218 Woodlawn avenue a week ago. Mrs. Grace Schorse and Ann May Turner, who also were seized in the raid, were freed of disorderly conduct charges by Judge Padden yesterday.

ARMS DELEGATE HOME TO REPORT PARLEY'S STATUS

Washington, D. C., March 28.—[Special.]—Norman Davis, one of the members of the American delegation to the Geneva arms conference, arrived in the capital this morning and immediately plunged into a series of conferences with state department executives. Although officials declined to make public the nature of the discussions it was learned that Mr. Davis outlined the obstacles which have been encountered in the move to work out a general arms limitation treaty and reported to the department on the plan of action for the future outlined by himself and his associates.

NORMAN DAVIS.
[Harris & Ewing.]

It is understood that Mr. Davis discussed with the department a proposed plan for reducing the world's land forces prepared by the American delegation. No details of this plan were forthcoming.

As matters now stand, many pressing European problems must be settled before there is the remotest chance for the negotiation of a treaty which carries reductions in European land forces.

OATH TO CROWN MUST GO! IRISH TO TELL BRITAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, March 28.—The Irish Free State's reply to the British government regarding President De Valera's intention to abolish the oath of allegiance to the crown and discontinue pending the land annuities to England was drafted today by De Valera, the attorney general and the Free State's legal advisers.

It will be submitted to the cabinet tomorrow or Wednesday and will be sent by special courier to London Wednesday night.

It is understood that De Valera and his cabinet remain unshaken in their resolve to remove the oath from the constitution and retain the annuities. The reply is expected to be along these lines.

PYORRHEA SHRINKS THE GUMS
(TEETH COME OUT)

Strong men show fear at the thought of pyorrhea. Women flinch at the sound of the word. And no wonder. Everybody knows someone who has suffered from this terrible disease, someone who has lost seemingly sound teeth.

Four out of five people past the age of forty have pyorrhea. It is a silent disease. It steals on you. It may be sapping the structure of your gums and teeth for years—and you may not know. Eventually you will know. Half of the adult teeth lost are due to pyorrhea.

Of course your dentist will repair the damage skillfully. You are not paying him any compliment, though, if you go to him only for dental repairs. He would much prefer to prevent the loss of teeth.

Visit your dentist twice a year. That is prevention—and sensible prevention too. Then there is the question of home treatment and care. There is no use in making believe that white, shining, "clean" teeth are either safe or sound. Nobody believes that any more. The gums must be considered as well. Forhan's Toothpaste is the double-duty toothpaste that does both halves of the job. Originated by Dr. R. J. Forhan, for 26 years a pyorrhea specialist. Save pain, expense and humiliation. Start the whole family today with the big brown tube of Forhan's. All druggists.

Are You Truly Discriminate?

Discrimination is the basis of quality. Some things are better than others—by any standard of judgment—and it's no use pretending they are not. Quality merchandise—the finest that can be produced—is for those who can appreciate differences in material, construction, design, finish.

Field merchandise is characteristically quality merchandise.* Sometimes this difference has cost more to create; but often, very often, it costs no more than something of far less merit.

KIDNAPERS TURN CRIME SPOTLIGHT ON WASHINGTON

Davidson Threat Bares Lawless Record.

Washington, D. C., March 28. —[Special.]—Washington crime is again crashing the front pages of the world's newspapers as police attempt to locate extortionists who, within the last four days have threatened harm to the children of three prominent members of Washington's most exclusive society circles.

Mrs. Betty Hanna Davidson, granddaughter of Mark Hanna, demanded police protection and a sweeping police investigation today following receipt of a telephone call threatening injury to her daughter, Daisy, 6 years old, unless a payment of $2,000 was paid.

The Davidson threat followed by barely three days the disclosure that threatening letters had been received by Mrs. Alice Longworth, widow of the former speaker, and Sir Wilmott Lewis, titled Washington correspondent for a London newspaper. The letters threatened harm to Paulina Longworth, 7 years old and probably the best known child in the United States, and to Wilmott Lewis Jr., 5 years old.

Crime Runs Rampant.

Despite the fact that Washington is controlled by the federal government and its law enforcing agencies backed by the might of Uncle Sam, Washington police have proved powerless to achieve the goal set by government officials three years ago when the world was informed that Washington was to be made a model law enforcement city.

Notwithstanding the activities of the police, liquor law violations have increased, if statistics of convictions are to be believed, murders have continued unchecked, holdup men ply their trade and within the last few days, extortionists have become active.

The extortion case that first stirred Washington into action and sent a blue coated guard scurrying out Massachusetts avenue was when Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, widow of the late Speaker Longworth and mother of Paulina Longworth, received a half sheet of note paper on which was typewritten a demand for $1,500, with the threat that if she told the police she would "suffer the consequences."

Then followed a similarly typewritten note addressed to Sir Wilmot Lewis, correspondent for the London Times. The letter demanded $1,500 and warned that if the money were not paid it would mean the abduction of his son, Wilmott Jr.

The threat against the Davidson child came yesterday afternoon, when a man called Mrs. Davidson by telephone and sent substantially the following message:

"Your child is in danger. Leave $2,000 in small bills in the grocery store at Florida avenue and 19th street between 2 and 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. If you do this there is no danger."

Record of Lawlessness.

Despite the official desire that Washington be known as the nation's model city the blotters in the police stations and the headlines in the local papers continue to tell the story of a city that is about as lawless as many other American cities and more lawless than a lot of them.

To select a few cases of the past few weeks: Two days ago, Henry Epstein surrendered to Baltimore police on a charge of having killed James Wilson during a drinking party in a Washington apartment.

A few days earlier, police in a 60 mile an hour chase, arrested three men as suspects in the robbery and beating of a farmer in nearby Maryland.

And a couple of days before that Mrs. Anita Doyle of a Washington suburb was cut with a hatchet and stabbed with an ice pick by a colored man who broke into her home.

"Phantom Sniper" Appears.

Early in February a "phantom sniper" appeared in Washington. Driving by in an automobile he shot two high school girls, Helen Andrews and Doris Beall, and seriously wounded Gordon F. Backus, a government clerk. While the police looked for the criminal Paul Riedel, a baker, was shot and killed presumably by the same motorist.

Recent Washington police records also tell of the robbery of a savings bank, the criminals getting away with $14,000, of a police gun battle with three bandits, and their capture, and the beating of a 27 year old high school teacher.

Dissatisfaction with the way police affairs were being conducted resulted in a shakeup of the force several months ago. Twenty officers were indicted. There were trials and hearings and considerable shifting about. Less criticism of the department is now being heard.

TEACHERS' HEADS OPPOSE PARADE TO DEMAND PAY

Mayor Warns of Peril to Fund Negotiations.

Leaders of groups representing a majority of the Chicago school teachers yesterday cold shouldered the proposal that the teachers organize a demonstration and march into the loop on Saturday, demanding pay. During the day Mayor Cermak issued a warning that any such demonstration might endanger seriously the negotiations which are being carried on to get further funds for city and school pay rolls.

The demonstration was suggested last week by Miss Mary M. Abbe, president of the Chicago Teachers' federation. Only 350 teachers were present yesterday at the meeting called to discuss the proposal. No other teachers' group has indicated a desire to join the parade, to date.

Miss Agnes Clohesy, president of the elementary teachers' union, largest of the teachers' organizations, sent a bulletin to its members, urging that they abstain from any such demonstration, and quoting Mayor Cermak's remarks.

Mayor Negotiating for Funds.

"I am negotiating for pay for both school and city employés, and I hope to pay them this week, and next week, and every week thereafter until they are paid up to date," Mayor Cermak said.

"I am afraid that any such demonstration as has been suggested has a political background. When the schools close, then they will have time to parade. While they are getting help, it will do no good. Rather than parading and wasting their shoe leather in a demonstration which will only hurt the city and themselves, the teachers should do their bit to help us by urging all taxpayers to pay at least part of their taxes."

Mayor Cermak said also that when the legislature reconvenes after the primary he will bring to its attention the problem of giving some protection to small home owners who are in danger of losing their property through inability to pay taxes.

Pay Canal Employés Today.

Sanitary district employés today are to be paid their salaries for the last two weeks in December, it was announced yesterday by President Thomas J. Bowler. The two week pay roll totals $188,000. The payment was made possible through the efforts of D. F. Kelly and the Citizen's committee, Trustee Ross Woodhull said.

Fortune Gone, Butcher Kills Self in Home

Harry Foege, 49 years old, shot and killed himself last evening in his home at 3249 Eastwood avenue. Police said that he was once reputed to be worth nearly $500,000. Rapid losses depleted his fortune. In addition he had been unemployed for the last two years. Foege was a butcher.

U. S. Judge Tells Paschen to Retain New Attorney

Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday permitted Attorneys Benjamin P. Epstein and George F. Barrett to withdraw as counsel for Christian W. Paschen, former building commissioner, who is to be brought to trial on a charge of income tax dodging on April 18.

CHICAGO OFFICIAL TELLS WISCONSIN HOW POOR CITY IS

Madison, Wis., March 28.—[Special.]—William A. Jackson, Chicago's commissioner of gas and electricity, was taken to the city police station yesterday when he drove in with a 1931 license on a Lincoln automobile. But Mr. Jackson told such a sorrowful story of Chicago's municipal poverty that the police let him go.

"The car is the city's," he declared, "and there is no money in the treasury to pay our salaries, much less to buy license plates from the state."

According to Policeman Stanley Main, Commissioner Jackson blamed graft for Chicago's troubles and on being informed that a Madison patrolman got $150 a month, remarked:

"I'd rather be a policeman in Chicago. They aren't getting paid, but it's a poor policeman who can't steal $500 or $400 a month."

2 PICKPOCKETS SENT TO CELLS FOR VAGRANCY

The police were successful twice yesterday in the use of vagrancy charges as a weapon against known pickpockets.

Municipal Judge Thomas A. Green sentenced Joseph Battaglia, 28 years old, 258 West 23d street, to the Bridewell for six months on a charge of vagrancy.

William Dinsbeer, 28 years old, 3007 Princeton avenue, who also has a long record as a pickpocket, was a spectator at the Battaglia trial. When it was over he went before Judge Schiller, pleaded guilty to vagrancy, and got 60 days in the Bridewell.

U. S. FILM MEN JAILED IN CUBA FOR TRAGIC FIRE

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

HAVANA, March 28.—George Raynard Naylor, American manager, and Frederick Tadt, German accountant, of the firm of Frederick H. Knocke of New York, distributing agent for R. K. O. and Pathe films in Cuba, whose warehouse was destroyed by a fire March 1, were arrested today on an incendiary charge and are held without bond. The fire cost the lives of two small children.

The incendiary charge was made the day after the fire, which caused an estimated loss of $123,000, but the court granted a delay for investigation and permitted Knocke to leave Cuba.

ACCUSERS FAIL TO FACE ABLIN IN COURT HEARING

Leo Ablin, 28 years old, brother of Dave [Cockeyed Mulligan] Ablin, was arrested early yesterday morning on charges of assault with a deadly weapon. The case against him was continued to April 7 when two complaining witnesses failed to appear in the Chicago Avenue court.

Capt. Michael Grady of the Chicago avenue police conducted an investigation to determine if "Cockeyed Mulligan" had once again invaded the precincts where he formerly owned such places of entertainment as the Epicure club, Club Algiers, Little club, and Maison Ritz. Questioning of night club owners indicated that Ablin is now in the radio business.

Leo Ablin was arrested after he walked into a garage at 918 North Hugueiet place and ordered two mechanics out at the point of a gun. The mechanics signed complaints.

FRANK P. PARISH, PIPE LINE HEAD, FREED ON BONDS

Frank P. Parish, 36 year old president of the Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line company, surrendered to U. S. Marshal Laubenheimer yesterday on a warrant charging use of the mails to defraud. Parish and three other officers of the company, S. J. Maddin, Ralph G. Crandall, and James F. McMannon, were indicted last week by the federal grand jury. They are accused of misrepresenting the value of the pipe line stock in public sales promotion. Parish was released yesterday on $5,000 bonds after being finger printed.

SAVANT RELATES A NEW ROMANCE OF ANCIENT MAN

Baron von Oppenheim Is Chicago Visitor.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

From a small oasis in sun beaten Upper Mesopotamia, which was the home of a civilization centuries old before King Tutenkhamen was laid in his resplendent tomb, Dr. Baron Max von Oppenheim, diplomatist and archeologist, came to Chicago yesterday to tell the story of life 7,000 years ago. He will tell it before fellow explorers of the dawn of man. He is the guest of the American Oriental society, which today opens a three day congress at the University of Chicago.

To the every day world Baron von Oppenheim is scarcely known, but to scholars he is the discoverer of what he terms "my Tell Halaf." Tell Halaf is a hill situated in the heart of the desert between the Tigris and Euphrates rivers. To Baron von Oppenheim it is the site of the oldest and most important representation of the proto-Hittite Subarean culture—the third independent culture of the near east, old when Egypt and Babylon were young.

Baron Tells His Story.

The baron told of his discovery in his room in the Windermere East hotel. A short, broad chested man with an enthusiasm which makes him seem twenty years younger than 62, he punctuated his narrative frequently with "astounding," "fantastic," and "marvelous." He spoke a precise English with a French-German accent that is salted also with the inflection of Bedouins, among whom he has lived "off and on for 33 years."

The baron is not a musty digger into the past. During his conversation he leaped 7,000 years from Hepet, the great goddess of the past, whom his Bedouin workers labeled "the baron's bride," to the elegance of New York speakeasies and raptures on American hospitality.

"In America alone," he said, "have I found anything to compare with the hospitality of the desert that is one of the two cardinal points of the Bedouin creed; the other is revenge. Here everywhere I go I am offered a drink, dined, and entertained.

His Gangsters Are Bedouins.

"Next to my Tell Halaf I love America. And your gangsters, I know them. I love my gangsters, the Bedouins. I have lived with them. They are my friends. Like your gangsters they rob and kill. From boyhood they are taught to do so."

The discovery of Tell Halaf—in itself a romantic story—was made by the baron in 1899, while he was German minister plenipotentiary at that time stationed in Cairo. Later he was counselor of the German embassy at Washington, from 1902 to 1904. It was not until 1911 that the actual excavation of Tell Halaf was begun. Then the war interrupted the work. In 1927-'29, however, the task was brought to a preliminary conclusion.

In the excavation, financed entirely by the baron, his party dug through a city of the period of the Arabian Nights caliph, Haroun-al-Raschid, through a Greco-Roman city, an Assyrian city, the late Subarean city, and finally came to the old city.

An Art Older Than Egypt's.

In the old city Baron von Oppenheim found an art which was fully developed when the Egyptians had only crude burial mounds. The sculpture represents art in its most primitive technique. The baron showed photographs of the statues, pointing out their realistic strength, and the naturalism of the relief sculpture.

"It is terrifically interesting," he exclaimed, rolling his r's in emphasis. "Look at these caryatids, the grandfathers of all caryatids. See the sun god standing on the lion, his wife on the lioness and the rain god on the bull. There are the columns from their heads supporting the roof. Amazing.

"The Greeks borrowed from Tell Halaf and today you borrow." The baron pointed to the caryatids supporting a portion of the Fine Arts building in Jackson park across from his window.

"Look here at the bull being attacked by the lion," he went on. "See the movement and the stubborn battle of the bull. It's modern art—simple lines and great force."

Cubist Art of Ancients.

The baron produced picture after picture tracing the influence on the people of Tell Halaf on Greek, Egyptian and Babylonian art. One depicted a queer large billed bird with a head not unlike that of a colossal parrot.

"There," he said, "is the mother of the Egyptian sun god, Ra. Here is the first of the Babylonian chariots. Again here is the development of the sphinx in a series: first the winged lion, then the figure of a woman's head above that of the winged lion, and finally the woman's head on the body of a winged lion.

Glimpse of Bible Lore.

"All 5,000 to 3,500 B. C. Some 11 meters, about 35 feet, tall. Astounding. We have the seven winged seraph which is mentioned in the Bible. It is my belief the Hebrews wandering in bondage once came into contact with the people of Tell Halaf."

The sculpture was of basalt, Baron von Oppenheim said, and was probably carved during years of labor with chips of flint. Copper and crude pottery was common in the earliest period. Homes were probably of sun dried brick.

In telling of the discovery of Tell Halaf, the baron said he was pursuing archeology as a hobby during a vacation from his duties at Cairo. One day he heard of the adventure of a Bedouin of a village five days' march from the sheik he was visiting. The young Bedouin had gone into the desert to dig a grave for his father and had uncovered a stone figure.

In superstitious fear he hastily covered the figure and buried his father elsewhere. Shortly afterward a plague of locusts visited the country. The Bedouin blamed his sacrilege in uncovering the figure. The baron was told he would have difficulty in getting the tribe to show him the place.

"I went to the village," he continued. "Remember, hospitality is a sacred law of these people. I asked about the figure. They denied knowledge. I made them swear on the Koran. They swore falsely. I rose to my feet and delivered the Bedouin curse upon them, their children and their children's children to the fifth generation for lying to a guest. They drew their weapons.

"Then I bared my breast and told them to kill me—their guest. They were ashamed. They had violated or would have violated the cardinal law. Old men asked me to lift the curse, promising to take me to the spot.

He Uncovers the Statue.

"The next day I went and with crude tools uncovered the figure. Imagine it. It was thrilling. First the head and then the body of a crude sphinx. It was the figure of a goddess—the first veiled goddess. I found a stone band by which the veil had been attached and from the eyes and cast of countenance concluded the figure must have been veiled. There I stood before a goddess 7,000 years old."

Baron von Oppenheim has put all his property in a foundation named for him, which finances the excavating expedition, and also a museum housing the relics in Berlin.

AGENT IS ARRESTED IN MIDLOTHIAN FIGHT OVER WATER SUPPLY

Thomas L. Brown, acting agent for the utilities company which precipitated Midlothian's "water war" by raising the rates, was arrested by Police Chief A. A. Terry in that village yesterday and charged with violation of a city ordinance. Brown had started to dig in front of Village Clerk William L. Schallerer's home preparatory to shutting off his water supply.

Taken before Police Magistrate Peter Johnson, Brown was released in bonds of $25 pending a hearing on Saturday. Ordinance 65, which he is alleged to have broken, reads: "No person shall do any plumbing work in the village streets unless he has been examined by the village board, paid a $15 fee, and placed a $10,000 surety bond."

After Brown left town, Chief Terry deputized Thomas Burnhart and Frederick McDonald to assist him in the fight against the water company, which is trying to shut off water to families who are withholding payment of their bills in protest against the higher rates. Chief Terry and his two aides patrolled the street in front of the Rock Island railroad station "on the lookout for trouble that might come by train." It was reported that a crew of plumbers was on the way.

EDW. J. HUGHES TURNS DOWN JOB ON TAX BOARD

Already a Candidate for State Office.

Edward J. Hughes, member of the board of review, declined yesterday to accept appointment on the new tax board of appeals, which is to replace the review board. President Emmett Whealan of the county board had offered the appointment to Mr. Hughes in a letter sent from Hot Springs, Ark., where he is resting after an illness.

The rejection by Hughes of virtually the same office to which he was elected in 1930 came as a surprise. The so-called Kelly bill abolished both the board of assessors and the board of review and created new taxation offices to be filled by appointment, as follows: an assessor to be selected jointly by the governor and the president of the county board and two members of the appeal board, one to be appointed by the governor, the other by the county board president.

J. L. Jacobs, efficiency expert, was appointed assessor by Mr. Whealan and Gov. Emmerson three weeks ago. Mr. Whealan had numerous persons under consideration before deciding upon Hughes. Gov. Emmerson's secretary in Springfield said yesterday that the governor had not yet selected his appointee.

"I'll need a chance to catch my breath," said Mr. Hughes when notified by John F. Delaney, secretary to Whealan, of the appointment. "It is gratifying, of course. I was whole heartedly for the Kelly bill and insisted upon its passage, even though it legislated me out of office."

Later, in announcing his decision not to accept, Mr. Hughes explained that the Democratic organization had given him its indorsement as a candidate for secretary of state and that he feels that his election is assured.

"I think it is for the best interest of the people of Cook county that the taxation offices be taken out of politics," he added.

Patience, One of Virtues, Is Prostituted to a Bad End

A young man entered the offices of the Henrotin Memorial hospital, 939 North La Salle street, last night and announced he expected his sister to arrive as a patient shortly. The clerk on duty, Miss Mary Bauman, 22 years old, of 109 West Oak street, asked him to sit down and wait. He waited patiently an hour and a half, until she started to take the evening receipts from the till to the safe. Then he drew a pistol, took $126 and $91 in checks, and escaped.

REED ENDORSED FOR PRESIDENT BY MISSOURIANS

St. Louis, Mo., March 28.—[Special.]—The Pendergast-Howell-Wilson influences which dominated the Democratic convention at the Coliseum today permanently organized it and unqualifiedly indorsed former United States Senator James A. Reed "as Missouri's candidate" for the presidential nomination.

Gov. Frederick D. Gardner of St. Louis, Frank C. Niles of Kansas City, Judge William T. Ragland of the Missouri Supreme court, and Perl D. Decker of Joplin, former 15th district congressman.

Four women delegates at large on the "Big Eight" slate, Mrs. Nellie Q. Donnelly of Kansas City, Mrs. Alice Ferris of Laddonia, Mrs. Nat Brown of St. Louis, and Mrs. Harvey Gray of Blairstown, were elected by acclamation.

The convention reëlected Mrs. C. B. Faris, wife of United States District Judge Faris, and William T. Kemper as members of the Democratic national committee.

While Missouri Democrats generally believe Reed is without a chance for the presidential nomination his followers showed unexpected strength in the convention.

SWANSON RIPS INTO FEINBERG AS CROWE TOOL

Accused of Using Bench for Political Ends.

State's Attorney Swanson tore into his leading opponent, Judge Michael Feinberg, last night, recounting "the political trickery in making up the 1927 coalition judicial ticket which put Feinberg on the bench." He spoke at a massmeeting at 11411 South Michigan avenue.

Feinberg was denounced as the tool of former State's Attorney Crowe. "Crowe is trying to ride back into power on the kite of Feinberg, who has usurped his judicial office to make political capital out of the present economic situation," the prosecutor declared. "Crowe's insincerity should not be accepted with any more faith than was his political setup to place Feinberg on the bench four years ago.

Recalls the Coalition.

"The history of the Feinberg-Crowe alliance and Feinberg's nomination to the Circuit bench are a matter of record. In 1927 Crowe announced that the twenty places on the Circuit bench would be selected on the principle of coalition and reiterated a previous promise to support the judges who had made good records on the bench.

"For weeks the Chicago Bar association committee on candidates had been giving attention to the judicial election to be held on June 2. The lawyers had been assured of coöperation by George E. Brennan, Democratic chief, and by Crowe. Desiring to obtain control of the south park board, however, Crowe, with his accustomed trickery, dropped Judges Charles M. Thomson, Oscar M. Torrison, and Frank Johnston Jr. through a deal in coöperation with Brennan.

Feinberg Put on Ticket.

"To replace Judge Thomson and Judge Torrison, the Republicans picked Feinberg and Stanley H. Klarkowski. Immediately the three judges left off the coalition slate received public support and the demand was made that they run as independents. The bar association labeled the deal raw political trickery.

"The fight that developed was a fight between the coalition ticket and the independent group. Unsuccessful effort were made to prevent the names of the independents from going on the ballot. The independents raised the shout that the bosses had kicked three excellent judges from the ticket to make room for favored political ward workers, Feinberg and Klarkowski.

"In the bar association poll that year Feinberg placed twenty-fifth in a field of thirty-two candidates. In the election Feinberg received the smallest number of votes, running approximately 61,000 behind the leader. The independent ticket was defeated."

Courtney Opens Up on Gangs.

While State's Attorney Swanson was attacking Feinberg, State Senator Thomas J. Courtney, organization choice of the Democrats for state's attorney, spoke at a number of meetings on the north side, "serving notice on gangsters, hoodlums and racketeers that I expect and welcome their opposition at the approaching election."

"Neither at the primary nor at the election will I accept the support of any gangster, hoodlum or racketeer," he said. "I want these men to know that I am against them and intend to drive them out of the city."

FIRST RED WINGS TAKE UP SUMMER HOME IN FORESTS

Red winged backbirds made their first appearance of the year yesterday in the county forest preserves, according to Ransom Kennicott, chief forester. Robins, song sparrows, larks, and a number of other songbirds already are in the Chicago area, and many of them are starting their nests in the 6,000 birdhouses which public school pupils made and placed in the forest preserves a few years ago. The purple martins, final and most authentic harbingers of spring, are expected to return within the next two weeks to their houses in the forest preserves and Chicago parks.

Pastor Tells How He Tried to Uplift Dancing Girls

The Rev. Harry J. Maas, a correspondence school evangelist, won repeated choruses of giggles yesterday in the Chicago avenue police court as he described his investigation of ten cent sins in a taxi dance hall.

The gigglers were the 56 girls arrested on Saturday night in the "Clark-Erie Business School of Dancing," 645 North Clark street. Maas and about 300 other men were in the place when Capt. Michael Grady entered with a police squad. Edward Block, proprietor of the hall, had advertised a "Night in Turkey" and the girls, in costumes which Capt. Grady charged would have brought blushes to a self-respecting harem lady, were wiggling on the dance floor with their male partners.

Maas Takes the Stand.

Maas, who told Capt. Grady that he was just leaving to call a policeman when the raiders arrived, informed Judge Justin F. McCarthy yesterday that he had been in the place three hours. He was tall and dignified, with black bow tie and black slouch hat of an old fashioned congressman, and an old fashioned congressional hair bob covering his collar behind.

"I bought ten tickets for a dollar," the evangelist said, "and had used three of them. I didn't like the way the girls shake, but of course you can't blame them a great deal. They have a hard time these days.

"I was in the place once before. I tried to show the girls the wrongness of their ways, and tried to dissuade them from the life that they are living."

Street Corner Preacher.

Pressed by Attorney Ben Cohen, who represented Block, for the name of the organization he represented, Maas finally said that he was "investigating for the Lord." He does most of his preaching on street corners, he said. At the time of the raid he was pastor of the Universal church at 24 North May street, but no such institution could be found.

He told Capt. Grady he was a graduate of Moody Bible institute. Officials of the institute said that his name appeared on their rolls six or seven years ago as a correspondence student.

Judge McCarthy continued the hearing to April 19, indicating that he would enter small fines against the girls, who were charged with being inmates of a disorderly house.

From a North Dakota Farm.

After the hearing Maas told a little more about himself. "I was brought up on a farm in North Dakota," he said. "My parents wouldn't allow me to dance, let alone wiggle."

Taxi dances are not the only field of his endeavors, he added. He also visits houses of ill fame, he said, and talks with the women inmates, urging them to lead better lives and presenting them with greeting cards emblazoned with bouquets of flowers and pious advice.

RUM VIOLATOR SENTENCED.

Leonard Leon, operator of the Embassy cafe, 11 North Clark street, pleaded guilty yesterday to violation of the prohibition law and was sentenced by Federal Judge John P. Barnes to eight months in the county jail.

WAYLAND BROOKS IS INDORSED FOR TREASURY PLACE

Ex-Marine Has Notable Record of Service.

The Tribune today continues publication of a series of reports on candidates for nomination in the primaries two weeks from today. Where it has a recommendation to make to the voters of a party it will be included in the discussion of that candidate's record.

STATE TREASURER
REPUBLICAN.

THE TRIBUNE recommends that Republicans vote for C. Wayland Brooks for the nomination for state treasurer. He wears the Distinguished Service Cross, the Navy medal, and the Croix de Guerre. Since the war he has made an outstanding record as an assistant state's attorney.

C. W. BROOKS.

In 1917, when the United States entered the war, he was a freshman at the University of Illinois. He was one of the firsts students to enlist. With an older brother he joined the marines. After a training period he was sent to France with the 6th marines, one of the units of the famous 2d division. Further training made him a corporal and the marines' attack on Belleau woods brought him his decorations and promotion to a lieutenancy.

During an attack on Soissons Lieut. Brooks received seven severe wounds and spent several months in the hospitals of France. While he was in a hospital in Limoges his father, in the Y. M. C. A. service, brought him word of his brother's death and news that his only other brother, Lawrence, had enlisted in the marines, giving the family a 100 per cent service record.

After his recovery he aided in the Liberty and Victory loan drives and went on the chatauqua platform. Later he completed his studies at Illinois and at Northwestern university law school. He is now a lecturer on evidence at the latter school.

Mr. Brooks was appointed an assistant state's attorney in 1926 and was retained in service by State's Attorney Swanson. Among the notable cases he handled successfully were prosecutions of bank embezzlers, the "bombing trust," kidnapers, extortionists, forgers, and murderers, including Leo Brothers.

There are seven other contenders for the treasurership nomination, the most widely known of whom is Edward E. Miller, treasurer in 1921 and 1922 and member of congress for one term from the East St. Louis district. Among the others are William Walter Scott, now clerk of the Appellate court, and David A. Russell, a veteran organization worker.

STATE TREASURER
DEMOCRATIC.

John C. Martin of Salem—down in Egypt—is the regular Democratic organization candidate. He is one of the owners and officers of the Salem National bank and is an officer of the federal land bank for his district. He was a candidate for the treasurership in 1924, won the nomination, and ran 125,000 votes ahead of John W. Davis, the presidential nominee, but was defeated in the Coolidge landslide.

There are thirteen other candidates. One of them is Harold M. Plamondon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Plamondon, who were lost in the Titanic disaster. Harold Plamondon served in the war with the 108th supply train of the 33d division. After the war he entered the investment security business. He now is employed on the staff of State Treasurer Barrett. Another of the thirteen is "Battling Peter" Bartzen, former president of the Cook county board.

SUPREME COURT CLERK
REPUBLICAN.

THE TRIBUNE recommends that Republicans vote for Charles W. Vail for renomination as clerk of the Illinois Supreme court. Vail, a veteran of Cook county and state politics, has held the office since 1914. He is now finishing his third six year term. Following his first election he was re-elected in 1920 by the largest majority ever given to a state official of Illinois up to that time and he was elected the third time in 1926.

Although the justices of the Supreme court make no public utterances on subjects of this sort, Vail's conduct of his office is said to have their approval and he has the indorsement of a number of judges of the lower courts and leaders of the Chicago and state bar, a list of the latter who are supporting him running into the hundreds.

There are six other candidates, the one most widely known being Burdette J. Smith, publisher and co-author of the Smith-Hurd statutes of Illinois.

SUPREME COURT CLERK
DEMOCRATIC.

Adam F. Bloch, now chief in the office of County Recorder Clayton F. Smith, is the regular Democratic candidate for clerk of the Supreme court. He is of Polish descent and at various times has been identified with Polish newspapers. At the time he was appointed to his present position he was managing editor of Polonia. Recorder Smith says he is highly efficient and well qualified for the office he seeks.

Other Democratic candidates are Louis Wilson, a Chicago lawyer, and Howard Schlacks, a Chicago high school teacher and also a lawyer.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR
REPUBLICAN.

Lieut. Gov. Fred E. Sterling is a candidate for renomination by the Republican party. He is now finishing his third four year term in that office.

Sterling entered politics as a young man, serving ten years as an alderman of Rockford, his home city. He became a member of the Republican state central committee in 1914 and in 1916 was elected as chairman of that body.

He served as secretary of the state board of arbitration, but his first big public office was that of a member of the public utilities commission—now the commerce commission—to which he was appointed by Gov. Lowden. In 1919 he was elected state treasurer, succeeding Len Small, and was indicted with Smal in Sangamon county on charges of conspiracy in connection with interest collected on state funds. At Waukegan he obtained a separate trial and the case has never been brought to trial.

The other Republican candidates include Theodor D. Smith, a Chicago insurance and bond salesman and a former member of the legislature, who ran against Sterling four years ago.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR
DEMOCRATIC.

Thomas F. Donovan of Joliet, chairman of the Democratic state central committee, is the regular candidate for this nomination. He has been a member of the state committee much of the time since 1896, and, except for a short period when he stepped out of the post to run for attorney general in 1928, he has been chairman of the body since 1922.

Donovan held the national committeeship of his party also for a year or so after the death of George E. Brennan, his election by the state committee having been chosen as a means of "preserving harmony." He is a lawyer, and for some time has been employed in the law department of the Chicago sanitary district, but the investigation by the Chicago Bar association showed him as one of the attorneys giving genuine service.

One of the four candidates against him is Thomas O'Connor of Peoria, former mayor of that city, who unsuccessfully sought the regular indorsement. One of the other three is Jay J. McCarthy, a Chicago lawyer.

IGOE TAKES SHOT AT CERMAK; SO DOES CAMPBELL

Two Independents Start Chicagoland Fight.

Michael L. Igoe and Bruce Campbell, independent Democratic candidate sfor governor, made the first important campaign speeches last night that they have delivered in the Chicago area. Representative Igoe spoke at three north side meetings; Mr. Campbell addressed a gathering in the Lombard village hall in Du Page county.

Both candidates were united on one point—a challenge to Mayor Cermak's "domination" of Democratic state politics. Each predicted his own nomination over Judge Henry Horner who has the backing of the mayor and the regular Democratic organization.

"We've been told," said Igoe, "that at the approach of the machine, we should get out of the way. We won't do this. Both candidates opposing me are just beginning to realize that Illinois is composed of two parts. The mayor's candidate sees now that there is a downstate—that's why he's continuing his campaign there tonight. And Mr. Campbell is just realizing that there is a Cook county. I have support from both sections.

Would Keep Judge on Bench.

"The mayor's candidate has for seventeen years been one of the greatest Probate judges Cook county has ever had, but is there anything in that service to qualify him for governor? I think Cook county would suffer if you took him out of that job.

"Mr. Campbell, the East St. Louis candidate, has served one term in the legislature. I have been in the legislature almost twenty years and I know exactly what state government is.

"If any evidence were needed that the managers of the mayor's candidate are in panic and completely stampeded it was supplied when the candidate found it necessary to retrace his steps downstate in the last few days of the campaign, as he has done."

Igoe, who pledged himself as a liberal on the prohibition issue, promised "to put the tax machinery to work for the common people" if elected.

Campbell Fights Machine.

"The main issue in this campaign is whether Cermak's machine methods are to be extended into the government of Illinois," Mr. Campbell told his suburban audience. "I do not propose that this shall be done if I can help it. This race for governor is between Judge Horner and me. Democratic voters opposed to Cermak's domination should not throw away votes upon a candidate who cannot defeat Judge Horner, but should give their support to me as the only candidate who can and will be nominated over him."

The voters want a fair an equitable assessment on property and a drastic reduction in taxes," said Campbell, adding: "These conditions will never be remedied as long as government here is controlled by political machines and political bosses. I have every confidence that free and independent voters, both downstate and in Cook county, will vote for me in the primary."

BANK EMPLOYE LEAPS TO DEATH FROM 18TH STORY

Emil C. Grunwald, an assistant manager of the real estate department of the First Union Trust and Savings bank, ended his life yesterday by jumping from a window on the eighteenth floor of the First National Bank building. The body was found on an iron grill covering a skylight on the fifth floor.

A verdict of suicide was returned by a coroner's jury in the afternoon. Mr. Grunwald was 46 years old.

Edward E. Brown, vice president of the First National bank, in a formal statement, said that Grunwald's suicide was undoubtedly caused by despondency over his ill health. His personal financial affairs were in good condition, Mr. Brown said, and his home at 804 Marion street, Oak Park, was clear of any mortgage debt.

Mr. Grunwald is survived by his widow, Wilhelmina; a daughter, Marianna, 18 years old, and a son, Robert, 14 years old.

BRUNDAGE SWATS CUSTER'S VIEWS ON RACKETEERS

Charges His Rival Gives Comfort to Enemy.

A declaration that some political groups are seeking to "racketeer the Republican party" was made last night by Edward J. Brundage, candidate for governor in the Republican primaries April 12. Brundage ripped into Omer N. Custer of Galesburg, one of his opponents for the governorship, for his remarks at a meeting of colored voters Sunday in the 8th regiment armory.

E. J. BRUNDAGE.

"When a candidate for governor," said the Brundage statement, "is quoted as saying, 'One of the candidates says the racketeers are with me. Well, I'm going to be for those who are with me,' that is the spirit which has placed Chicago where it is today.

Rackets Expect Benefits.

"Too many politicians are for those who are for them without making inquiry of the kind of obligations they are assuming! A candidate must know that if racketeers are with him it is because they expect benefits to them coming from his election. Is he so innocent as to believe that the racketeers would be working night and day at the polls if they did not anticipate benefits?

"These participants in organized crime are constantly on the alert to ingratiate themselves with friendly politicians. Their support cannot be accepted without making a candidate either actively or passively a supporter of their lawlessness. When Capone can flout the criminal law, and, it is charged, threaten the promotion of the judge who tried him, it is no wonder that gangsters thrive.

Gangs Seeking Power.

"There is a gangster political alliance which is seeking to dominate Chicago. The city owes it to its reputation to free the courts and police from all reproach. The first place to begin the cleansing is to defeat the politicians who, if not openly allied, accept the criminal syndicate's support.

"We are at the passways in Chicago. Either the public has to fight the criminal syndicate or surrender to it the reins of government. Mr. Custer, from his remarks I have quoted, seems utterly unable to appreciate the situation."

BOY HIKER IN CUSTODY.

John Tidwell, 16 years old, hitch hiked from Garfield, N. M., to see the bright lights of Chicago. Officials of the Y. M. C. A. hotel, where he stopped, turned him over to police, who wired his parents for instructions as to what to do with him.

WOMAN ENLIVENS WARD BATTLE ON NORTHWEST SIDE

G.O.P. Has Several Brisk Committee Contests.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Up on the northwest side, the battling over Republican ward committeemen is enlivened by the presence of a woman among the candidates in the 41st ward, Mary Berkemeier Quinn, a graduate of Vassar and of Yale law school. She has been active in politics for years, and is regarded as the chief opponent of Ald. James C. Moreland.

Moreland is the man who cracked into politics two years ago by defeating M. A. Michaelson of leaky trunk fame for the Republican nomination for congress in the Seventh district. He lost in the Democratic landslide in November, 1930, and then landed in the city council.

Milliner Not a Candidate.

Leroy Milliner, the veteran committeeman, who is now in Florida, is not seeking reëlection this time, and Moreland is running for the committeeship with the supposed backing of Milliner. Moreland is also a candidate for delegate to the Republican national convention in the 7th district, and is one of the "Snow uprisers" who are seeking to elect a compact body of anti-Hoover, anti-dry, anti-high cost of government delegates.

Mrs. Quinn has the Deneen support. Moreland is supporting Custer. Robert W. Hoffman is supporting Brundage. Other candidates who filed are Perry L. White, Bert Bertell, and Frank H. Perkins.

On the Democratic side, Thomas J. Bowler, president of the sanitary district, and present committeeman, is the organization choice against three contenders, Teddy Mallek, Casimer M. Weyna and Clayton E. Nelson.

Szymczak Unopposed in 38th.

In the 38th ward, M. S. Szymczak, city controller and present Democratic committeeman, is without opposition.

For the Republicans, Frank M. Kalteux, present committeeman, an attaché of the state waterways bureau and a commissioner of the northwest park district, is with Custer and Swanson. Martin R. Lynn, who was superintendent of the tuberculosis sanitarium and is a follower of Leroy Milliner, is supporting Carlstrom and Feinberg.

Other candidates are Robert S. Bremner, Patrick S. Clarizio, Sigmund May, Edwin Planz, James J. Galligan, and Louis Schrumpf.

Fight for Control in 39th.

The 39th has a lively Republican contest. John William Chapman, former alderman, and Charles J. MacGowan, superintendent of employment in the West parks are struggling for control. Chapman is for Carlstrom and Feinberg. MacGowan is with Custer. The Chapman camp is clamoring that 150 park jobs have been dumped into the ward to help MacGowan.

Clarence Hansen, the Deneen entry was an attaché of the Municipal court clerk's office in the Kearns administration. The new 39th is largely made up of slices taken from the old 40th and 41st wards. The old Deneen grouping was split by the remap, and the old Frank Murphy crowd is backing Hansen.

Other candidates are Thomas F. Cline, who is backing Brundage, and Cecil Emery, an attorney.

The Democrats, too, have a battle in the 39th. Hyman L. Brody, present committeeman, who is backed by he organization, has a strong rival in T. B. McGrath Jr., who carries the Igoe banner. McGrath, who is also running for state auditor, gained considerable publicity by closing his Mayfair bank after paying the depositors in full. Two other candidates are James P. Murphy and Joseph P. Sullivan.

McKeone vs. Lowitz in 40th.

The Republican scrap in the 40th is figured to lie between John J. McKeone, present committeeman, and Leo H. Lowitz, an attorney who, his opponents say, runs a fast race. McKeone, formerly a Deneen man, who was in Kearns' office for years, is in a combination with Ald. Joseph C. Ross, who is on the Harding-Emmerson slate for coroner. McKeone is with Custer; Lowitz, with Carlstrom.

Other candidates are Samuel Ader of the Precinct Captains' association, Herman Ginsberg, Louis Kaplan, and William H. Pomerich. Originally fifteen entered, but nine withdrew.

The Democratic fight in the 40th is so hot that the county organization has divided its indorsement. Christ A. Jensen, former alderman and present committeeman, and Dr. R. A. De Rome, a dentist, both have the O. K. of the downtown organization, which is maintaining neutrality as between the two. Both De Rome and Jensen are with Judge Horner and the entire organization slate. Bernard A. Rooney is with Igoe, and is making a hot race. Rooney is president of the Montrose District Boosters' association. Other candidates are Julius Roth, Martin J. Maguire, and Philip J. Simon.

Hoellen Has Opposition.

Across the North branch, in the 47th ward, Ald. John J. Hoellen is seeking reëlection as Republican committeeman. He is supporting Custer and Feinberg. His chief adversary is William H. Wesby, the Deneen entry, former superintendent of Lincoln park under the Small régime. Other candidates are Blaine J. Barry, Charles F. Fitzgerald, and Charles J. Sachs.

On the Democratic side, Joseph H. Donahue, present committeeman, chief examiner of the county civil service commission, and member of the legislature, is opposed by Samuel C. Herren, who is for Igoe. A third candidate is Ted M. Busse.

The 48th ward is placid on the Democratic side, J. Frank Lyman having no opposition for reëlection as committeeman.

Ald. John A. Massen, the only Deneen man on the county central committee, has four opponents in the Republican primaries. They are: Thomas T. Freeman, who is for Brundage, William Kane, Frank R. Smith, and James H. Hooper.

Nudist Cult an Issue.

The nudist cult is interwoven into the battle in the 49th. Col. James E. White, indorsed by the Republican Civic league and the Republican War Veterans, and a supporter of Brundage, is telling the voters he is the man who led the fight against the proposal for a stockade on the beaches of the ward for nude sun bathing.

Ald. George A. Williston of the ward, uttered bitter reproaches that the fuss was stirred by political groups trying to make political capital. Willison is supporting William A. Burmeister, Deneen candidate for committeeman, who is backed by Harry C. W. Laubenheimer, U. S. marshal, by Percy Owen, former prohibition director and now a food inspector under Gov. Emmerson and by C. P. Paschen, building commissioner under the old city hall régime. A Hoover sign has been hoisted.

Edwin F. Driver, a member of the Brundage finance committee, is supported by a group of business men and young voters. He is a retired business man, who was interested in the Randolph market and the Union market, the latter being a wholesale loop establishment which he turned over to his employés. A fourth candidate is Albert W. C. Johnson.

On the Democratic side, Committeeman John D. Hayes, assistant to the chief justice of the Municipal court, is opposed by Francis A. Marnell, who is backing Igoe. Other candidates are Fred L. Pearce, Mitchel P. Davis, Michael A. Goldberg, Ormond S. Springer.

Double Battle in 50th.

The 50th has struggles in both parties. Committeeman Joseph H. Voss, treasurer of the forest preserve who is to be commissioner of compensation, is backing Judge Horner. Harold E. Sullivan is the Igoe candidate for committeeman. Miles J. Barry, the other Igoe contender, withdrew in behalf of Sullivan, who is a relative of Judge Philip Sullivan, who, in turn, is one of the strongest supporters of Judge Horner. It's a battle royal. A third candidate is C. E. Ryan.

On the Republican side, Louis Nettelhorst, secretary of the Lincoln park board and present committeeman, has for his chief opponent Walter E. Conroyd, an automobile dealer. A few days ago A. K. Mose, former alderman, withdrew from the bulrushes in favor of Conroyd. Conroyd is for Carlstrom and Swanson. Nettelhorst, a former Brundage committeeman, is with Custer and Feinberg.

ANNA MAY WONG.

Detroit, March 28.—(AP)—Anna May Wong, American born Chinese movie actress, learned something about the intricacies of international travel today. En route from the west coast to New York she chose a railroad route which led through Canada and when the train stopped here she left it to chat with Detroit friends in the station. Canadian immigration officers refused to permit her to board the train again. She spent the night here, and said she would continue her trip to New York by an all-American route.

TARDIEU DECIDES TO GO TO LONDON FOR DANUBE CHAT

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, March 28.—Whether or not Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister, and Chancellor Bruening of Germany go to London this week-end to discuss proposals for a Danubian confederation, Premier Tardieu of France intends to go for what he believes to be a necessary conversation with Prime Minister MacDonald and Sir John Simon, foreign secretary. Finance Minister Flandin will accompany Tardieu. The date of the visit has not been settled and there is no clear indication as to what will be discussed.

It is accepted here that the British cabinet will not care greatly to do more than listen to Tardieu's proposals regarding central Europe inasmuch as it has invited Germany and Italy to the conference for the purpose of avoiding any appearance of acting solely or even in any degree in accord with France. Nor is it believed London is in the mood or position to enter into a further explanation of the attitude it will take at the Lausanne reparations conference.

Unless the French premier has some new proposals to make there seems no very clear reason for this week-end visit unless it should be as a demonstration of that coöperation which Tardieu has said was essential between the two countries. In view of the probability that Chancellor Bruening will be unable to go to London this week-end, it is suggested that the conference of the "big four" be held at Geneva before or after the resumption of the disarmament conference on April 12.

FRANCE RELEASES GERMAN WAR CAPTIVE FROM DEVIL'S ISLE

BERLIN, March 28.—(AP)—Paul Schwartz, believed to be the last German held as a prisoner of war, is coming home from France's "Devil's Island," Cayenne, after twelve years' imprisonment. He is one of the few ever to come back from the island. His release is the climax of several months of negotiations between Germany and France.

Born in Corsica of German parents, Schwartz was taken to Alsace Lorraine when he was a baby and there acquired German citizenship. At the outbreak of the war he joined the German troops and fought on the western front.

After the war Schwartz went to Kiel, then occupied by French troops. He was arrested and, because of his Corsican birth, was convicted of high treason in taking up arms against France. He was sentenced to life on the tropical "Isle of the Damned."

TRADE LEADERS MEET TODAY TO PLAN TAX FIGHT

Business leaders from seventeen states will assemble in Chicago this morning at the headquarters of the Association of Commerce to confer upon methods of crystallizing the opposition of middle western business to continued increased expenditures by federal and other governmental bodies.

The conference is to be opened by addresses by Fred W. Sargent, president of the Chicago and Northwestern railway; Charles Barham, vice president of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway and president of the Nashville, Tenn., chamber of commerce, and George W. Rossetter, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce. The delegates are then expected to consider concrete proposals for presenting the middle west's opposition to the growing menace of increased federal taxation.

Representatives from the chambers of commerce of the most important cities in the area extending from Pennsylvania on the east to Montana and Colorado on the west and to Tennessee on the south have accepted invitations to be present.

POLICE ROUT STORE BURGLARS.

Four burglars escaped without loot early yesterday when policemen arrived at the Men's Style shop, 7411 Madison street, Forest Park, soon after the gang had broken a window. The men fled in a car under revolver fire from the police.

B. W. SNOW OPENS WARD FIGHT FOR G. O. P. GATHERING

A bombardment of ward committeemen was projected yesterday by the group of fifteen candidates, led by B. W. Snow, Republican county chairman, who are seeking election as delegates to the Republican national convention on an anti-Hoover, anti-prohibition, anti-high cost of government platform.

The ward committeemen select the delegates from Chicago to the state convention which meets in Springfield April 22. The aim of the bombardment is to insist that state delegates be picked who will fight for a wet plank in the state party platform, for a plank directed against waste and extravagence in government and the marble palace era at Washington.

Convention Picks Delegates.

The state convention picks the eleven delegates at large to the national convention. The main objective of the Snow group is to get the state convention to adopt instructions that the delegates at large shall work for a wet plank and an anti-government in business plank and that they shall oppose the nomination of any candidate for the presidency not in step with these views, meaning anti-Hoover.

It was decided at the conference, which was held at the Palmer house, to make direct appeals to the precinct captains and workers to exert all the pressure they can upon the men running for ward committeemen to make the state convention anti-prohibition in tone and character.

Open Drive Next Week.

Mr. Snow and his group plan to start a drive early next week which will go over the heads of the ward committeemen, many of whom are supporting dry candidates for governor in wet wards. The idea is to get everybody on record and the cards laid face upwards on the table.

An inquiry showed that in eight of the ten congressional districts in Cook county at least one district organization is going along with the program. "The response from the public," said Mr. Snow, "is very strong. It begins to look as if a real uprising is afoot, downstate as well as in Cook county."

HORNER PLEDGES REAL RELIEF FOR STATE FARMERS

Bloomington, Ill., March 28.—[Special.]—An enthusiastic outpouring of McLean county Democrats gave Judge Henry Horner, Democratic candidate for governor, a welcome tonight when he and his fellow candidates reached this city on the second trip through the state on their primary campaign.

After a dinner at which the Horner party were the guests of the McLean county Democratic organization, the proceedings were adjourned to the Coliseum.

Judge Horner's speech made a hit with the crowd. He drew applause by his promise to reduce the costs of conducting the state government to a point where the taxpayer could be given practical relief.

He promised the farmers of the state a direct voice in the solution of their own problems if he is elected governor.

He called upon the Democrats of all sections to rally behind the regularly indorsed ticket so that the party may exert its full strength in carrying the state at the general election.

Among the others who spoke were Thomas F. Donovan, Democratic state chairman and candidate for lieutenant governor, and Edward J. Barrett, present state treasurer and candidate for auditor of public accounts.

SPEYER, BANKER, LEAVES ESTATE TO HIS WIDOW

New York, March 28.—(AP)—Edgar Speyer, international banker and former member of the privy council of Great Britain, left his entire estate to his widow, Mrs. Leonora Speyer, his will, filed for probate today, showed.

During the world war Mr. Speyer, a former baronet, was accused of being pro-German. He asked to have his baronetcy revoked and to be retired from the privy council. Lord Asquith, then premier, successfully urged him to retain the councilship.

Mr. Speyer sold his interests in the London underground railway system in 1920 and left England after a council had announced he no longer was a citizen of the empire. He moved to New York, where his brother, James Speyer, was head of the private bank of Speyer & Co.

Mr. Speyer died in Berlin on Feb. 16. He was 70 years old. His widow, a daughter of a German nobleman, won the Pulitzer prize for poetry in 1927.

The gates will be operated by schoolboy traffic police appointed to guard the safety of their mates. They are installed as an experiment and if successful may be used at all of the 62 street crossings in the suburb which are guarded at recess times by the schoolboy policemen and by ten special police, whose pay roll aggregates $7,500 a year.

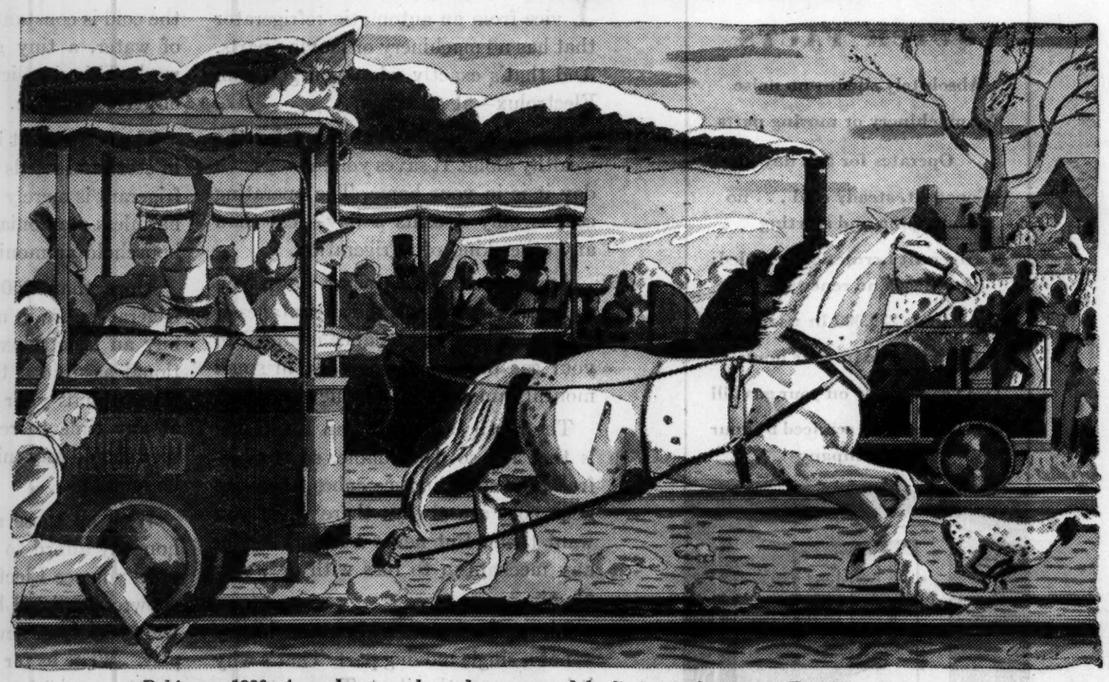
A RACE BETWEEN A HORSE AND A LOCOMOTIVE...AND THE HORSE WON!



Baltimore, 1830. A race between a horse-drawn car and the diminutive locomotive, Tom Thumb. Spectators freely predicted the locomotive did not have a chance. At the word "Go" the horse leaped into the lead. Then the locomotive caught up . . . slowly forged ahead . . . seemed sure to win. But, at the crucial moment, something went wrong with the engine. It slowed down, lost its lead. The horse sprinted . . . and easily won the race!

TODAY EVEN the thought of a race between a horse and a locomotive is absurd. Our modern railroads are the most efficient means of transportation man has ever known. Upon them we have erected our entire civilization.

Probably the most significant contribution the railroads have made to man's progress is their swift and certain transportation of freight. Thousands of freight trains cross the country at tremendous speed. They bring us the very essentials of life . . . food, shelter and clothing. They must arrive on time.

To insure prompt delivery the railroad must always have sufficient cars. But so many special cars are needed to take care of a nation's transportation needs that even some of the largest lines cannot afford to maintain them.

Many railroads, therefore, operate only sufficient cars of a special nature (such as refrigerator, tank and others) for their normal requirements. And, at peak seasons, they call upon the General American Tank Car Corporation for additional equipment. By doing so, they save 365 day maintenance and investment in cars used only 30 or 60 days. General American, by leasing first to one road and then to another, keeps its fleet busy throughout the year—and helps the railroads to render a more efficient service than otherwise would be possible.

Besides maintaining its vast fleet of 50,000 cars, General American builds all types of railroad freight cars . . . box, gondola, hopper, stock, refrigerator, milk, tank. It also operates a large public terminal and an extensive European freight transportation system. Address Continental Illinois Bank Building, Chicago, Ill.

SALE TAX MELEE CAUSES GARNER TO DEFEND CAUSE

Leadership at Stake to Hold Confidence.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 28.—[Special.]—Democratic dissention over the passage of the tax bill in the house has reached such a point that Speaker Garner plans to take the floor and make a personal fight in defense of his leadership.

JOHN N. GARNER. [Acme Photo.]

The speaker indicated such a decision today just prior to another stormy session which saw Democratic members haranguing and arguing among themselves to the accompaniment of an appreciative chorus of "Sic 'em, sic 'em" from the Republican side of the chamber.

Forced into Fight.

Not only will Mr. Garner be taking the field in behalf of his house leadership, but in the cause of his presidential candidacy as well.

For not only have the house leaders of his party, such as Majority Leader Rainey of Illinois and Acting Chairman Crisp of the ways and means committee, besought his active participation, but sponsors of the Garner for President movement have joined in the demand, it is reported, and have made it clear that the time has come for the speaker to speak plainly if he is to look for public confidence.

In a press conference today Mr. Garner was emphatic in explaining that he had not changed his views concerning the necessity of a balanced budget. It is essential, he said, that other taxes be found to replace the defeated sales tax, since the time had come "when the worst kind of taxes are better than no taxes at all."

The debate on the floor found the Democrats hammering at each other over the tariffs on coal and oil which are now carried in the tax bill.

Representative O'Connor, Tammany member from New York, taunted the Democratic leadership's opposition to such anti-Democratic legislation as espousing import duties that had been omitted even by the Republicans.

LaGuardia Loses Again.

Representative La Guardia's [New York] proposal to restore the publicity provisions which were stricken out of the 1924 bill after one year's experience with them led to hot words both before and after the vote by which his amendment was overwhelmed 18 to 123.

Tammany opposition caused Mr. La Guardia to follow his defeat with a few caustic words, in which he said he could "readily understand the nervousness of certain members when publication of the incomes of officials was mentioned."

At which Representative Boylan, another Tammanyite, besought Mr. La Guardia to "take defeat like a good sport, instead of squealing and hollering when the harpoon is stuck into you."

Another La Guardia amendment, which was temporarily passed over, sought to penalize "personal holding companies" formed by the wealthy for the purpose of evading taxes by imposing a 25 per cent tax on undivided income over 30 per cent.

While the house debated a ways and means subcommittee listened to Secretary of the Treasury Mills, Under Secretary Ballantine, Assistant Postmaster General Tilton, and J. W. T. Duvel, head of the grain futures administration.

The appearance of Mr. Tilton gave support to the report that a raise in first class postal revenues is in contemplation as one source of the needed revenue. And Mr. Duvel's presence lent strength to a report that the subcommittee is considering the possible extension to commodities transactions of the proposed tax of one-quarter of 1 per cent on securities transfers.

BRITISH CRITICIZE U. S.

LONDON, March 28.—(AP)—British newspapers showed agitation today over the action of the United States house of representatives on the tax bill and expressed concern over the possible effect on the pound of a failure to balance the American budget.

The speculations were mixed with comment on what was termed "collapse of party machinery" in Washington, D. C., and what the Times called "an irresponsible state of mind" in congress.

The chief concern, however, was over the possibility that a fall in the dollar on international exchange might cause the pound to rise to an unjustifiably high level..

Referring to what it called the "irresponsible state of mind" of the house of representatives, the Times declared that if a bill providing for payment of the soldiers' bonus also were to become a law "it is difficult to see how the United States could remain on the gold standard or escape inflation even more disastrous than the present deflation."

The Daily Telegraph speculated editorially upon what it called the "startling lesson conveyed by proof of the world's shaken confidence in the dollar."

The Labor-Socialist Herald looked upon the position of the United States as a warning and said President Hoover and other leaders of the nation were "flinching from the reality of the disease."

"No local remedies can effect anything," the Herald said. "The only hope is a world reorganization of trade and, above all, a world reorganization of currency that will deliver producers everywhere from the scourge of falling prices."

SOUTH BEND FOR THE ABOLITION OF COMMERCE DEPT.

South Bend, Ind., March 28.—[Special.]—The South Bend chamber of commerce voted today to petition President Hoover and the Indiana delegates in congress to abolish the United States department of commerce, the federal trade commision, and the valuation bureau of the interstate commerce commission. The vote followed addresses by Albert Erskine, president of the Studebaker corporation, and Philip Hanna, managing editor of the Chicago Journal of Commerce.

Business Must Act.

"American business," said the automobile manufacturer, "is on the road to ruin unless it is relieved of oppressive taxation. American business men should lead the way and demand abolition of bureaus that have been established and built up supposedly for their interests."

There were 150 business men at the meeting. Mr. Erskine asked any one who had received any service from the department of commerce to raise his hand. One hand was raised.

Others Will Follow Business.

"If the business men will take the lead in advocating a reduction in governmental expenses," the speaker continued, "the farmers and other interests should follow suit. We must not let congress balance the national budget by borrowing more money; this would menace the stability of the nation. The elimination of useless bureaus and departments and the practice of ordinary economy could bring about a saving of $500,000,000 in the operation of our government."

The Studebaker executive said a few essential functions of the department of commerce, such as the maintenance of lighthouses, could be properly transferred to some other bureau, but that the department as a whole was of doubtful service. He especially mentioned for the ax the department's reporting, statistical, and recording divisions.

Tear Down Old Joliet Bridge for Waterway

Another step toward the completion of the Illinois waterway was taken yesterday when workmen started tearing down the Cass street bridge in Joliet. This structure, erected in 1899, will be replaced by a lift bridge that will permit the passage of large barges on the waterway. The work is being done by contractors who will be paid by the state.

CRASHES AT END OF LONDON TO CAPETOWN FLIGHT

CAPE TOWN, Union of South Africa, March 28.—(AP)—J. A. Mollison, holder of the speed record for a flight from Australia to England, crashed on the beach here this evening at the end of a flight from London in which he hung up another speed mark.

He had come down the west coast and across the Sahara desert in 4 days, 17 hours, and 19 minutes, and he had so little sleep on the way that on the last landing he misjudged his distance. He was not hurt and recovered quickly. The old mark for the distance, set by Peggy Salaman and Gordon Store, was 5 days, 8 hours, and 37 minutes.

The young Scotch flyer explained at the airdrome, where a huge crowd had gathered under brilliant floodlights, that he had chosen the quiet, dark beach instead of the airdrome because he simply could not face the lights. Even on the ground he complained that the glare was causing him great distress.

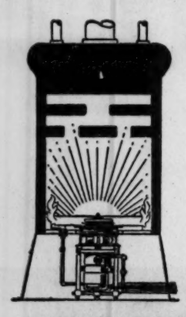
SAVE ON FUEL COST



Petro-Nokol users commonly heat their homes for as much as ⅓ less than formerly. Yet the comfort, ease and cleanliness is so great that few would give up their burners even if oil heat cost more.

RADIANT HEAT SAVES MONEY

It's the radiant flame that saves you money. For penetrating, radiant heat is the ideal form of heat. The same intense heat you feel from the summer sun. Just pure heat rays. No smoke. No odor. No sound.

Your own boiler was designed to take advantage of radiant heat. Nearly 50% of all the heat your boiler absorbs should be radiant heat energy just from the brilliant, luminous flame itself. That's why Petro-Nokol's radiant flame saves on oil. This is in addition to the normal heat energy absorbed from the hot gases of the flame "scrubbing" all the interior surface of your boiler. And with this radiant flame right at the grate level...it cuts fuel costs even lower.

SAVE ON THE EXTRAS

Remember . . . the cost of fuel is not the cost of heating. With your present method you are paying for a lot of extras that do not show on your fuel bill. With Petro-Nokol Oil Heat you save the cost of the furnace man or your own labor; the cost of ash removal. Its cleanliness reduces the high cost of housecleaning, dry cleaning and redecorating. It prevents waste of overheating.

HELPS PREVENT COLDS

By conditioning the air . . . keeping soot, dust and grime out of the air you breathe . . . and maintaining an absolutely uniform temperature that prevents drafts, it is conducive to better health . . . fewer colds. In this way it reduces doctor bills, and loss of time from your daily tasks. Think what these extras are costing you now.

We supply the oil too.

SAVE ON DOMESTIC HOT WATER

At a lower cost than with any other automatic system, you can enjoy oceans of hot water for kitchen and bath . . . summer and winter. A special heating element provided by Petro-Nokol enables you to enjoy the luxury of all the hot water you can use . . . day and night . . . year around . . . absolutely automatically.

CHOOSE EITHER PLAN

No matter what method you are now using . . . you are probably paying for a Petro-Nokol installation without having its advantages. By trying to wash dishes in luke warm water . . . doing without hot water half the time . . . never having enough for the whole family to take a bath the same night . . . trying to keep the little fire going . . . or having to go down and light the heater. End all this now. While you are heating your house for less money, save on the cost of domestic hot water, too. Choose either plan that suits you best.

EMPLOYERS TILT WITH LABOR OVER JUDGE WILKERSON

Hostetter Makes Reply to Olander Attack.

The controversy over Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson's confirmation for the United States Circuit Court of Appeals shifted from Washington to Chicago again yesterday with a dispute between Gordon L. Hostetter, executive secretary of the Employers' association, and Victor A. Olander, secretary-treasurer of the Illinois Federation of Labor.

In a letter to Senator William E. Borah, chairman of the judiciary subcommittee considering Judge Wilkerson's confirmation, Mr. Olander characterized as untrue Frank J. Loesch's charges that Al Capone controls two-thirds of Chicago's labor unions. Mr. Olander said the president of the crime commission was governed in his attitude toward labor by the Employers' association, and that this organization circulates the doctrine that "moral obligations have no place in industrial questions."

Hostetter Makes Reply.

"It is the settled opinion among members of our association," said Mr. Hostetter in reply, "that the direct or indirect influence of the Capone gang extends to a considerable percentage of the labor unions of Chicago, but Mr. Loesch's attitude is governed by his own investigations. Mr. Olander is also mistaken in assuming that we are antagonistic to labor unions as such. At least 25 per cent of our members operate on a strictly closed shop basis."

Mr. Olander's letter said that in October of 1923 the doctrine that moral obligations have no place in industrial disputes was set forth in a speech before the Employers' association and that the speech was circulated among the members. In October of 1928 it was reprinted in the Employers' News, publication of the association, the letter said.

Speech Made by Professor.

"Mr. Olander refers to a speech given by Prof. Gus W. Dyer of Vanderbilt university," said Mr. Hostetter, "but the speaker's meaning has been misapprehended or else distorted. Even if the professor held such views, they would not necessarily reflect those of the Employers' association."

Mr. Olander's letter, which said that Judge Wilkerson was prejudiced against labor, declared that the unions of Chicago had resisted all attempts of racketeers and gangsters to "muscle in," and that no assistance in this fight had been forthcoming from the Employers' association or from Mr. Loesch.

Says Union Men Ask Help.

"Mr. Olander might be surprised to know," said Mr. Hostetter, "that many union men and business agents have come to us for aid in fighting the racketeers and have told us they were unable to get help from the federations. We have done everything we could for the unions that honestly opposed racketeering."

United States Attorney George E. Q. Johnson left for Washington yesterday and will testify before the senators in executive session this morning regarding the agreement whereby the gangster pleaded guilty to income tax fraud with the understanding that a light sentence would be recommended. Judge Wilkerson refused to be bound by any agreement and Capone withdrew his plea.

17 BOYS WALK OUT IN SUNDAY SCHOOL RECREATION ROW

Quit as Protest on Teacher's Ouster.

Seventeen out of 20 boys who attended a committee meeting in the Rogers Park Congregational church, Morse and Ashland avenue last night, walked out of the meeting when they were denied their request that Dr. Howard Dabbs, physician, be reinstated as their Sunday school teacher.

Dr. Dabbs was asked to resign last week by the church's committee on religious education, headed by Dr. Forrest L. Knapp. It was Dr. Knapp who appointed the subcommittee which met last night to plan a new program for the Sunday school. Reasons given for the request that Dr. Dobbs resign were that he stressed athletics, dancing and dramatics above religious training.

Boys Leave Meeting.

A large delegation representing Dr. Dabbs' class was present last night and after more than an hour's discussion Dr. Knapp called for a vote of the boys and girls who proposed to stay with the church school, after he stated positively that Dr. Dabbs would not be reinstated. Four boys and six girls stood up, signifying their intention to remain.

Immediately after the vote one of the four boys walked out with the others, and told them he would "stand by the Doc because he took my tonsils out for nothin'." About half a dozen girls did not vote. Only one, Grace Peterson, 7444 North Artesian avenue, walked out.

Don't Want 'Parlor Games.'

"You can't expect boys who've reached our age—I'm 18—to be attracted by parlor games and that stuff," said Glenn Wilson, 1225 Greenleaf avenue, during the discussion preceding the vote. "We'd rather go to taxi dances if it comes to that."

"It strikes me," said a gray haired woman member of the committee, "that you boys are old enough to join the church and work for the church."

"We don't want to," said Glenn. "Sitting through church puts me to sleep."

Dr. Knapp in opening the meeting asked Dr. Dabbs to speak. Dr. Dabbs told the boys to be loyal to the church before expressing loyalty to him, and then left the meeting.

Supreme Court Upholds Extortionists' Conviction

The United States Supreme court yesterday refused to review the cases of Ralph Scala, Fred Vanucci and Thomas Walsh who were found guilty in federal court here last July of impersonating federal officers. The three were trapped while trying to extort $2,000 from Philip Oliver of Streator on threat of placing him under arrest for violation of the prohibition law.

BLIZZARD RIDES THROUGH EAST; 11 ARE KILLED

New York, March 28.—[Special.]—Snow, sleet, rain and high winds swept over the North Atlantic states today causing widespread suffering and property damage from Ohio to Maine. At least eleven lives were taken by the storm, which was described as the worst to occur at this season in years.

Although New York City escaped the full force of the blizzard which isolated many communities in New England, upstate New York and Pennsylvania, the metropolitan area was drenched with a steady deluge of rain which caused many traffic delays and minor accidents. Trees were blown down, cellars flooded, and many persons suffered minor injuries.

In Westchester county seven deaths were attributed to the elements as the county suffered the heaviest rainstorm since July, 1927. To the north the rain changed to snow which blanketed highways 20 inches deep or more, marooned at least nine interurban buses, and brought down electric power, telephone and telegraph lines.

Fair and colder weather may be expected tomorrow in New York as the storm, which centered today near Philadelphia, apparently was progressing steadily to the northeast. In New York City the precipitation in the 24 hours was 2.68 inches.

Northern New England was buried more than a foot deep beneath snow, which blocked all highways and brought down many telephone wires, while the southern part of the section suffered from torrential rains. Lowell, Mass., was cut off from all direct communication with the north.

TWO GUNMEN ROB MARKET.

Two armed men entered the meat market of Samuel Shapiro at 1624 West 79th street yesterday afternoon and robbed him of $208. Before leaving they locked Shapiro and a helper in a rear room.

Sentenced to Read Five Books in Cell After Fight

Thomas Delmato, 26 years old, 844 Noble street, was arrested a week ago for taking part in a street fight. Municipal Judge John A. Sbarbaro made him and his opponent put on boxing gloves and finish their bout. Yesterday Delmato appeared before the judge again. He was carrying five volumes of Victor Hugo when he was arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct. Judge Sbarbaro ordered him to read all five books and sent him to a cell until he finishes the task.

Mr. J. A. Van Buren
Advertising Manager
Cleveland Plain Dealer
Cleveland, Ohio

Dear Mr. Van Buren:

For ten years we have placed advertising consistently in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Last year we used more space than in any previous year and I am glad to say that 1931 was one of the best sales years we have ever had.

The reasons we think so highly of the Plain Dealer are that we know, first, that it is home-delivered and home-read -- it reaches thousands of women buyers every day; and, second, your circulation very closely parallels the location of our stores, most of which are, naturally, in the better buying localities.

We appreciate the splendid sales assistance rendered by the Plain Dealer and are looking forward to a continuation of our pleasant and profitable relationship.

Sincerely yours,

THE FISHER BROS. CO.

President

Fisher Bros.' outstanding success for 25 years proves that they know how to get the greatest return from their advertising dollars! They know how to sell!

Cleveland is different from most great markets in that one newspaper dominates its buying power.

That paper is the Plain Dealer . . . a morning paper!

It blankets Cleveland's best able-to-buy homes.

And it is read and preferred by those who do the bulk of the buying . . . the women! This has been proved by an impartial and extensive survey.

BRITISH POMP DYING AS INDIA'S SQUALOR GROWS

Brilliant Delhi Fete Seen Nearing End.

BY EGBERT SWENSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DELHI, India, March 28.—As one result of India's fight for freedom, many practical leaders believe the last of the more gorgeous manifestations of British imperialism has taken place. It is the viceroy's annual "investiture," the conferring of knighthoods and other honors. The ceremony is celebrated with great pomp and is clothed in such color and brilliance that it is undoubtedly the biggest show in the empire.

For the last several years, especially under Viceroy Lord Willingdon's predecessor, Lord Irwin, the magnificence of the ceremony was greatly reduced. Lord Irwin, who had a measure of sympathy with Mahatma Gandhi and the independence movement, held it down to proportions which did not contrast so glaringly with the appalling poverty of the Indian population.

Revive Olden Pomp.

But Lord and Lady Willingdon, in keeping with the new "firm" policy in India, decided to revive the old time pomp. Many observers, even British, say it is probably the last show of that gorgeous kind. Political and economic conditions will have become so much worse by next year that even such diehards of Lord Willingdon's caliber will hardly attempt a repetition, they say.

The "investiture" is an occasion where full dress clothes are hardly tolerated. Even some of the newspaper men—British—wore court dress with knee beeches and buckled shoes. Substantially, the background was the scarlet and blue and lavish gold trimming of the British civil and military officers and the splendor of Indian costumes.

With this setting the gems were yet to come, the Indian ruling princes. A flourish of trumpets announced them. In they marched, proudly, with indescribable splendor. They wore flashing, curved, diamond studded swords, silken turbans, gold brocaded robes, and gem strewn sandals.

Viceroy in Silver Robe.

Then a concealed band burst into "God Save the King" and in strode the viceroy. He was dressed no less gorgeously than his oriental vassals in a dazzling silver trimmed robe of pale blue, whose train was borne by two tiny turbaned Indian princes. After him walked the vicereine—to whose ambition and energy is mainly credited the decision to revive the former glory of the investitures. She wore a diamond tiara. Her train, too, was carried by two little dark skinned princes.

The viceregal pair took their places on thrones under an immense canopy. Around them ranged the dozen aids de camp, stiffly at attention. The ceremony began. The viceroy's sword touched the shoulders of the loyal subject who had bowed himself up to receive the honors.

The long ceremony proceeded to its stately end and the viceroy, this time preceded by the vicerine, strode out to the music of "God Save the King" and the fanfare of trumpets to station themselves in another lofty room of the great viceregal palace and receive the respects of their guests.

COURT REVERSES GUN CONVICTION OF 2 GANGSTERS

The state Appellate court delivered an opinion yesterday reversing the convictions of Sam Hunt and James Fawcett, alias "Red" Forsythe, Capone gangsters who were sentenced to the Bridewell last fall for possession of a pistol with defaced serial numbers. Theirs was the first conviction under the new state law prohibiting possession of a weapon from which marks of identification have been removed.

Hunt and Fawcett were arrested outside the Art institute following a shooting on Michigan avenue on Sept. 21. A pistol, the serial numbers defaced, was found a few feet from the spot where they surrendered to the police. Judge Matthew D. Hartigan heard the case in the Felony court and sentenced them to 90 days in the Bridewell and fined each one $100.

The ground for reversal as given by the Appellate court was the fact that no witness testified that either Hunt or Fawcett had been in actual physical possession of the weapon. Although the police chased them and cornered them in the areaway where they surrendered, no one saw them discard the pistol, the court said.

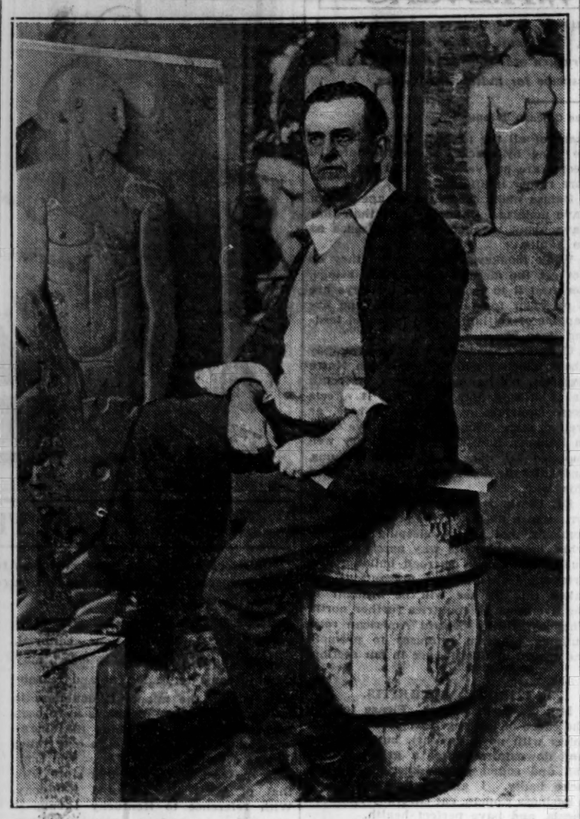
Sculptor's Work Nearly Finished



John Storrs, sculptor, eleven of whose panels will be completed and in place at Hall of Science building of World's Fair in time for inspection during Republican national convention.

At Fair Building

Eleven panels by the sculptor, John Storrs, will be completed and placed between the pylons on the north front of the hall of science group of the Century of Progress in time for the Republican convention in June, the sculptor announced yesterday.

Mr. Storrs received his commission only two months ago. The eleven panels are in four designs. These, with a heroic size statue placed before the panels, will be in harmony with the modern architecture of the group, designed by Paul Cret, architect.

"The sculpture is abstract in character," Mr. Storrs said. "It is the first time I know of that it has been done on so large a scale, and credit should be given the officials who have let me go ahead in my own way."

Mr. Storrs, a native Chicagoan, made his early studies under Lorado Taft at the Chicago Art institute, which later acquired several of his works. He has spent many years abroad.

PEACE PARLEY CRASHES IN INDIA; SEE LONG FIGHT

BOMBAY, March 28.—(AP)—Prospects for an immediate peace between the Indian Nationalists and the British government receded today when Mrs. Sarojini Naidu, head of the Nationalist congress, said her peace overtures to Viceroy Lord Willingdon had been unsuccessful. She talked with the viceroy at Delhi about the possibility of an agreement, she said, but found "not the slightest inclination on the part of the government toward peace, and everything points to a prolonged struggle."

At Delhi today the viceroy presided at the eleventh meeting of the Indian chamber of princes, attended by the bejeweled maharajas of the independent states. He assured them that the government will continue to protect them.

FRAUD VICTIMS FIGHT PAROLE FOR GOODMAN

Fourteen victims, all of whom had been defrauded of large sums through swindles by Attorney Charles B. Goodman of Chicago, appeared before the state board of pardons and paroles at Joliet yesterday to protest against his release from the penitentiary on parole.

C. B. GOODMAN.

Goodman, sentenced to one to ten years on each of seven counts of larceny and on two counts of operating a confidence game—all to run concurrently—has been in the penitentiary less than a year. He arrived at Joliet on April 15, 1931. The victims, with Assistant State's Attorney John L. Murphy of Chicago as their spokesman, informed the board of their belief that his release now would mean that he would be inadequately punished for the $150,000 he is alleged to have taken.

In behalf of the prisoner his wife and State Representative Sol P. Roderick have pleaded that the amount of Goodman's peculations was exaggerated and that he "only obtained $54,000." They asserted that in the event he is freed now he will labor to make good the losses of the victims. Goodman himself is to have a hearing before the board later in the week.

At his trial before Judge David it was shown that he had been given the money by clients to invest for them and had purchased only worthless second mortgages. Altogether there were about seventy complaints against him.

When the charges were first made Goodman fled from Chicago and went to Europe. He was arrested later in New York and brought here.

When he pleaded guilty and Assistant State's Attorney Murphy recommended that the sentences run concurrently Judge Joseph B. David said: "Before I accept the plea in this case I want it understood that I will not write any letters asking leniency of the pardon board. Also the board will be informed of every one of these indictments."

Among the losers in the confidence game was Rabbi David Smordinsky, 1817 North Central Park avenue, whose claim was for $4,000. Others asserted that Goodman had defrauded them of sums ranging from a few hundred dollars to $20,000.

Goodman, who is 35 years old, was regarded as a brilliant young lawyer up to the time of his flight. He declared that he had lost the money obtained from his clients on horse races.

POLICEMAN DIES AS MOTORCYCLE STRIKES TRUCK

William Seitman, 36 years old, 5744 Slocum street, a sanitary board policeman, was killed yesterday afternoon when his motorcycle crashed into the rear of a heavy truck which was making a left turn from Touhy avenue into Keeler avenue in Tessville.

The accident occurred just after a heavy rain. Chief Loren Schey of Tessville said that Seitman, who was riding west in Touhy avenue on his way home, evidently lost control of his machine. Alfred Warkenthien of Tessville, the truck driver, was held for the inquest today.

City Policeman Injured.

Policeman Henry Anson, 58 years old, 6949 Sheridan road, a member of the city police force for more than 30 years, suffered a fracture of the left leg yesterday afternoon when he was pushed into Clark street at Wrightwood avenue by a group of children from the Alcott and the St. Clement schools.

The accident occurred when Anson halted the stream of children at the curbing. A sudden surge from those in the rear pushed him against the passing automobile of Ernest McKenzie, 1249 West 72d court. Anson was taken to the Alexian Brothers hospital.

Two School Children Die.

The deaths of Seitman, two school children and one other yesterday increased the motor fatality toll in Cook county to 260 since Jan. 1. The other victims:

Lucille Babcock, 6 years old, 1626 Wright street. Killed when she was struck by a sedan at Ashland and Wabansia avenues. The accident occurred a few moments after the child had left the Burr school at the intersection. The driver, George Gianakakis, 5556 North Artesian avenue, said the accident was unavoidable.

Donald Bowman, 8 years old, 4108 Kenmore avenue. Killed when he fell beneath the wheels of an automobile as he tried to cross the street near his home. Robert Summer, 846 Sheridan road, was the driver.

Wilbur Meyers, 18 years old, of 187th street and the Dixie highway, Homewood. Died last night in St. James' hospital, Chicago Heights, of injuries received March 13. He was injured when he attempted to stand on the side of his motorcycle while the vehicle was in motion.

Joseph Starcevich, 39 years old, and Ivan Susilovich, 40 years old, both of Gary, were killed yesterday afternoon when their car was demolished by a South Shore electric train in that city.

Coroner John L. Taylor of Lake county last night ordered Marinus Jensen, 38 years old, 1509 Wilmette avenue, Wilmette, held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter. Jensen's car struck and killed Gerald F. Sprong, 19 years old, of Michigan City, in Waukegan road nine miles north of Waukegan early Saturday.

Mrs. John Nicholson, 55 years old, of 165 South Adams street, Hinsdale, widow of a former police chief of that suburb, tried to beat a Burlington train at the Gilbert street crossing in La Grange last night. The race was a tie. The locomotive struck the rear of her automobile and hurled the car 30 feet. Mrs. Nicholson was only bruised in the crash, however, and after receiving aid from Dr. George Carr went home. She explained she tried to cross ahead of the train but that her car stalled and was struck before she could escape.

PEPSODENT ANTISEPTIC is 3 times as powerful as other leading mouth washes. Hence it goes 3 times as far. That's economy for you! Why waste money on antiseptics that must be used full strength to be effective?

IT'S plain to see—the difference between Pepsodent Antiseptic and other kinds is a big difference to the public. It's the difference between one dollar or three—the difference between positively killing germs or fooling oneself by diluting old-style antiseptics. After all, there are really only two leading kinds of antiseptics. On one side you have the mouth wash that kills germs only when used full strength. On the other side you have Pepsodent Antiseptic—utterly safe, when used full strength, yet powerful enough when diluted with 2 parts of water to kill germs in 10 seconds! Pepsodent Antiseptic is at least 3 times as powerful as other leading antiseptics. Hence, it goes 3 times as far—gives you 3 times as much for your money—and gives you greater protection against sore throat colds. What a fine way to save money. Instead of paying $3 for three bottles, you pay $1 for one bottle and make it go as far as three—just mix as you use it. For years 3 people in 4 have diluted ordinary antiseptics but now they've discovered their mistake. When choosing your antiseptic, be sure you choose the one that kills the germs when mixed with water. Insist on Pepsodent Antiseptic—be safe—and save money!

BAD BREATH (Halitosis)

The amazing results of Pepsodent Antiseptic in fighting sore throat colds, prove its effectiveness in checking Bad Breath (Halitosis). Remember, Pepsodent is 3 times more powerful in killing germs than other leading mouth antiseptics. Remember, it kills germs even when diluted with water!

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

THE BUREAUCRACY AT WORK.

The interstate commerce commission has once more denied to the railroads the opportunity to compete in intercoastal trade with the ship lines using the Panama canal. The Southern Pacific operates ships from New York and Baltimore to Houston and Galveston. At these gulf ports cargoes are transferred to cars for the overland haul to California. The railroad wished to stimulate this business by fixing a rate only about 10 per cent higher than is charged for the slower all-water haul through the canal. The commission denied the request on the ground that the railroad could not earn a fair return if its rates were set that low.

One of the commissioners in a concurring opinion said that the denial of the petition presented another illustration of the need for an extension of the powers of the commission to include the right to regulate the ship lines. The reasoning which prompted that opinion is not easy to follow. After forty-five years of railroad regulation the commission has reduced the railroads to a state of insolvency in which only a few of the strongest lines are in a position to earn much more than their fixed charges, and many cannot do even that. Now the commission, not content with that achievement, wishes to extend its beneficent influence to the ship lines, the buses, trucks, and airplanes. If congress assents, the country may look forward to the decay not only of its most important transportation service, the railroads, but to all the auxiliary forms of transport as well.

The petition was denied because the commission thought the railroad could not afford to offer rates as low as it was willing to make. That raises the question of whose interest the commission thought it was guarding. The commission cannot, in this case, have been concerned for the shippers who pay the freight bill, because plainly their interest was in the direction of lower rates. The commission, then, was acting in the interest of the railroad. It told the president of the Southern Pacific that he didn't know his own business, didn't know traffic conditions on his own line, and needed to be saved from his own errors of judgment.

The owners of the Southern Pacific have placed a man in charge of their railroad and are paying him a substantial salary in the belief that he knows how to run the business at a profit. The members of the commission, however, have refused to let him use the judgment he is paid to exercise. They hold their judgment superior to his and to the judgment of all other railway executives in the United States. The result of decisions such as this one is to discourage railway executives from showing any initiative in meeting their own problems. Their only recourse is to reduce wages. Meanwhile, the commission, which is responsible to no one for the payment of wages, interest, and dividends, goes bravely forward demanding the right to regulate additional services, as if that could possibly benefit any one.

The Southern Pacific decision is of particular interest to congressmen from the central states. The refusal of the commission to permit the railroads to provide service at a rate which will compete with the Panama canal rates has done incalculable harm to farmers, manufacturers, and business men situated between the Appalachians and the Rockies. As long as the commission is clothed with its present excessive powers that injustice will continue. The remedy lies in a drastic restriction of the duties and powers of the commission. This remedy, if applied, will be of value not only to the railroads and to shippers, but also, and no less immediately, to the taxpayers who support the commission's bureaucracy.

KENTUCKY DEFENDING ITS SOIL.

Two score college students, boys and girls, from New York proposing to tour the Kentucky mine districts, were met when their cars came to Cumberland Gap by a posse. The students were informed that their purposes were suspect and their presence undesired. They would not be allowed to continue as they had planned because they had been egged on by communists and they would merely create more disorders. The Kentuckians were armed for their kirk and kinder, for the land of their sires and in the defense of their young.

Too many metropolitan intellectuals have visited Kentucky. The native mind resents the superiority implied in the criticism of the simple Kentucky ways, but if the native sons were not so mad they could deal with the slickers. The good people who put toothpicks against Theodore Dreiser's door to catch him in sin were using the bucolic shrewdness against which no city wisecracker has any defense. Kentucky should try the badger game on the visitors, sell them oil stock and salacious postcards, match pennies with them and put croton oil in their moonshine, give them loaded cigars, take them snipe shooting and send them home broadened mentally, the riper for their experiences.

ALICE BREWS IN WONDERLAND.

Representative Crisp of Georgia explained his opposition to the tax bill amendment which would have provided an excise collectable on the sale of a legalized light beer and his advocacy of a tax on malt compounds, wort, and grape concentrate by saying:

"My amendment is on wort and malt, but when the tax is levied they are legal. To make them obnoxious, according to the Volstead act, one must add water and other ingredients."

The house has defeated the honest tax and imposed the shameless one. The latter anticipates a revenue of $46,000,000, relying on the perversity of citizens and the certainty that by adding water they will manufacture something obnoxious to the law. If they do not do this there will be no revenue derived from this tax item. The expectancy is that violation of the law will give the treasury the amount indicated. A properly imbued citizenship would not do it, but if respect for the Volstead act gained any such influence the treasury would miss nearly fifty million dollars.

The house which levies this tax renews its declaration that the beverages on which the tax rests are lawless. It is forbidden to make them, but if the citizenship will oblige by being lawless the government will profit from their disregard of the laws it insists shall prevail. Mr. Lidlkewiaz, the Chicago janitor, will clear away any misapprehensions of the government's intent. He spent sixty days in jail for using the articles which congress relies upon to produce revenue. He also paid a fine, which was added to the government revenue.

To improve the situation to its full the furniture bureau of the department of commerce should advise citizens as to the best layouts for the making of beer and wine. The department of agriculture should encourage the raising of barley and hops just as the farm board has encouraged and subsidized the growing of California wine grapes. Dr. Julius Klein may include in his helpful broadcasts a recital of the better ways of making beer and wine at home. Revenue collectors could lend a hand with the brew.

If malt, wort, and grape concentrate are encouraged to become obnoxious in enough homes the estimate of $46,000,000 revenue may be exceeded. Here is an opportunity for the four minute speakers. Who is so unpatriotic as to fear a jail in his country's financial crisis? Brew till it hurts.

SENATOR BORAH ON RETRENCHMENT.

Senator Borah's strong statement upon the urgent necessity of drastic retrenchment of government expenditures indicates that leading members of the senate realize the crux of the problem before congress. Senator Borah is opposed to the sales tax, but his objection to it has not obscured from him, as it seems to have from many of the members of the house, the imperative and essential duty of reducing, not half-heartedly, but effectually and therefore adequately, the costs of government.

Senator Borah and other senators we hope will lead congress to adopt the only course possible if the federal administration is to be saved from bankruptcy. The course the house has been following leads certainly to the collapse of productive enterprise on the widest scale, the increase of unemployment, and in fact to national ruin.

STEPHEN A. DAY.

Stephen A. Day is a Republican candidate for congressman at large in the primary to be held on April 12. Mr. Day lives in Evanston. He is a wet and has been an avowed wet for years. He ran for congressman at large in 1920, 1922, and 1930. Long before it was certain that Illinois was overwhelmingly against the prohibition régime Mr. Day was outspoken and frank in stating his position. He is no recent and half hearted convert; his declaration against prohibition owes nothing at all to expediency and everything to a settled philosophy of government which he could not alter if he would.

Mr. Day's father was Mr. Justice William R. Day of the United States Supreme court. The candidate's intellectual capacity is further suggested by the fact that he has been personal attorney to Gen. Dawes. The Republicans of Illinois have in Mr. Day a candidate head and shoulders above the mine run of office seekers. His personal and political integrity, his sound judgment on public questions, his knowledge of political conditions, his education and professional training fit him for valuable service in congress. Illinois representation has not been up to the requirements of this great commonwealth. Mr. Day's election as congressman at large would distinctly raise its level.

COSTLY STAMP VENDERS.
[New York Sun.]

Profound relief should greet the announcement that the postoffice department finally has perfected a machine which will sell five 2 cent stamps for a dime and five 1 cent stamps for a nickel. The average citizen who wishes to buy stamps for a few family letters sighs and fumes as he enters a postoffice and contemplates the long line at the stamp window. Several office boys holding currency and lists are in the line, and he knows that this is an ominous sign. For these boys have been sent by their firms to purchase a varied assortment of stamps, and their combined orders take a considerable time to fill. How rapidly the citizen would detach himself from the slowly moving line and how eagerly would he approach a stamp machine were one available!

The distribution of these machines, however, is to be strictly limited. They are to be placed only in offices of such size that the services of a clerk at a window for twelve hours during the day will be saved. Yet such a machine is needed even more in a small office and in substations, because in these the various branches are lumped together. Our citizen aforesaid must wait in line for his stamps while a number of persons obtain money orders, another stamps and insures a whole armful of packages, and numerous other operations of a slow and complicated nature are performed. The high cost of the machine, estimated at around $600, is an important factor in the limited distribution. With 125 machines in operation a saving of $312,500 a year would be made after the first year, and approximately $3,050,000 during a ten year period of service.

At a time when economy is urgently called for this is all to the good; but cannot the experts of the postoffice develop an efficient stamp machine which can be manufactured at a cost below $600? Then one could be placed in every postoffice where a considerable amount of daily business is transacted. The waste of time and wear on temper thus obviated would be immeasurable in value.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the line, let the quips fall where they may.

THE RADIO seems to have taken all the punch out of the political campaign. Right now we ought to have the streets full of oompah brass bands playing "Old Kentucky Home" and spellbinders standing on street corners saving the country every few minutes. We ought to have red fires and skyrockets and raucous yells of Hoorah fer Hoorah. But, instead of all those things which tingle the blood and get us all excited, the statesmen nowadays spend their campaign funds for the privilege of speaking over the radio and reaching the American people as they sit tranquil and contented around their happy fireside in their home in the evening. And pa's gone to the lodge and ma's gone to the bridge club and Laura and her young man have gone to the movies and Uncle Bill is over on the corner at the bowling alley, and there's nobody home but grandpa and grandma, and if they ever happen to tune in a political speech grandpa says: "Tune that feller out, Jennie; what you an' me want is plenty o' good jazz music." No wonder the political campaign is a little static.

COMPLACENCY.

Gray aftermaths of passions spent,
Dead leaves on trees in springs,
And yet, O Lord, I'm well content
With what the present brings.

Beauty still lives, and love, once dead,
Takes on a newer bloom;
A sense of peacefulness is spread
When you are in the room.

The wraiths of all unhappy years
Are exorcised at last;
Let's trust the future, smiles or tears,
Is no iconoclast.

NOT MUCH has been heard of Speaker Garner lately. We fear that when the so-called "total collapse of party machinery" occurred in congress Mr. Garner must have been under it. Send for the wrecking crew!

THE INVESTIGATING STUDENTS from the eastern colleges say they cannot understand why they are turned back at the state line and are not permitted to enter the trouble zones in the Kentucky coal mine war and they are sending a committee to the governor of the state to find out why. We don't like to horn in on a very delicate situation, but maybe the reason the Kentucky officials won't let the students enter the strike region is because they don't want 'em in there!

EGGS—FORTY CENTS APIECE in Moscow! Farewell, comrades! Here's where we shut down the window and listen no longer to the clanging of the chains of the proletariat. Forty cents apiece for eggs! Comrades, take your propaganda stuff and beat it before we throw you out the window.

And speaking again of a motorist's complacency when he knows he has the right of way reminds us of a story. A man went out to a suburb to call on a friend. The friend's little dog charged on the visitor, barking fiercely. The visitor went right up the nearest tree. The friend, hearing his dog barking, came out and saw his visitor perched in the highest branches of the tree. "Oh, tut, tut, tut!" said the suburbanite to his nervous visitor, "come down from there! The little dog won't bite you. You know that." "Sure," said the visitor, "I know it and you know it. But the dog—does he know it?" So when you're riding along happy in the fact that you have the right of way—you know it and the law knows it—BUT—does that big lunkhead speeding along in that little country lane that crosses your road a little bit ahead—DOES HE KNOW IT? That's the question.

You have the right of way. Oh, certainly. You bet you have. That lane you're on is for through traffic, you betcha, and all cars crossing or driving into the main highway must stop before they do so, and if you are nearing the cross road they must wait for you. And so, of course, they will. Yes, indeed, they will. Lykell, lykell, lykell! You had the right of way. The bystanders, if any, will testify to that. It will probably be mentioned in the report of the coroner's jury. But darn the luck, you won't be there to hear it. When the coroner's jury returns its verdict they'll be putting what's left of you in the baggage car ahead. The right of way! If there were no morons, lunkheads, and wild jackasses in the world—yes, the right of way would be just that. But as things are—the RIGHT OF WAY—and now those desiring to take a last look at our departed friend, etc., etc.

QUESTION.

God, who made the shining stars,
The circling planets, the fair, green earth,
With friendly seasons—jubilant Spring,
Bountiful Summer, Winter that puts tired life to rest;
God, who made morning songs and sweet night crooning,
God of the forests and silver rivers,
Gardens and orchards green and golden,
God of harmony, God of beauty,
Who made WAR?

SEN. NYE OF N. D. threatens to bolt the Republican party. And other statesmen are darkly rumored to be ready to bolt the Democratic party. We don't blame anybody for bolting anything or everything these days, but where in the heck are they going to bolt to? Scanning the horizon anxiously, we can't see any place that looks any better than where we are. Or any worse.

ACCORDING TO the interviews in the newspapers nowadays with the victims, burglars, robbers, and footpads are all so polite and nice mannered and in every way perfect gentlemen. But, personally, we can never regard the person who shoves a gat in our stomach and yells "Stick 'em up, youse!" as a perfect gentleman. A perfect gentleman would never say "youse." R. H. L.

DISEASES IN THE CANAL ZONE.

WE are gaining information about malaria and some other semi-tropical diseases from work that is being done by the Gorgas institute. This institution, subsidized in different ways by the United States, by Panama, and by Venezuela, is working directly on the disease problems of Panamanian territory adjacent to the Canal Zone. Their discoveries are of great service to the Zone and to Panama, but people everywhere get some of the benefit. The institute in a sense is subsidized by the army, the navy, the public health service, the bureau of animal industry, and various universities in that these organizations detail scientists to tours of duty, to be spent doing research work for the institute.

The work on malaria done by the institute relates to the disease as it is found among Panamanians living in their own villages, within a few miles of the Madden dam, now being built. Among the discoveries they have made about malaria are these:

Nearly every person examined has some malarial parasites in his blood.

Persons always exposed to malaria acquire a very good immunity to the disease.

As a rule, it does not make them very sick. Rarely are they sick enough to go to a hospital.

After malaria treatment, the percentage of the total population having malarial infection is greatly decreased, but the proportion of those infected, who are capable of infecting mosquitoes, increased.

Most people who develop symptoms do so not because of being newly infected but because of relapse of old infections.

The chief danger of infection lay in being around infected people. Houses in which several infected people lived were more dangerous than houses near swamps and pools, but occupied by only a few people.

In that region drainage and other measures to prevent mosquito breeding are not practicable.

It is the opinion of Dr. Clark that screening of houses and mosquito trapping will not help much in Panamanian villages. He favors compulsory treatment of all the people. It will have to be done by discipline, as the infected people are not very sick, and are therefore rather indifferent.

Babies under 3 months of age do not have malaria. Children older than that have about as much of the disease as do adults.

While monkeys have malaria, they do not get the disease from human beings, nor feed it to them. Wild monkeys are a reservoir for relapsing fever, and are capable of getting it from man and feeding it to him.

Chagres disease is a human malady about which we know nothing in North America, but our neighbors to the south are well acquainted with it. It affects dogs, squirrels, opossums, and bats, as well as man. They have found five cases in Panama, and, since we are very well supplied by dogs, squirrels, opossums, and bats, the disease seems to be headed this way.

Dr. Clark, reporting for the institute, writes of a disease of horses, a trypanosomiasis, not unlike sleeping sickness, which is making its way across the republic of Panama as road building progresses. Unless proper precautions are taken this disease will be brought to the live stock in countries further north. The coöperative Central American road building program promises to promote the spread of this disease in our section.

CHRONIC ARTHRITIS.

Mrs. S. C. P. writes: Please tell me the cause of knees grinding. I can walk miles with no discomfort, but going up and downstairs causes a grinding feeling and sound in my knees, and they ache badly. I am of normal weight, a business woman, eat carefully balanced meals, and have perfect health.

REPLY.

You have a mild, chronic arthritis. Probably it will not get materially worse for many years, nor cause you any more discomfort than it now does.

WHAT RHINITIS IS.

A. V. writes:

1. What is rhinitis?
2. Is it a case of sinus trouble, or a branch of cancer?

REPLY.

1. Inflammation of the lining membrane of the nose. Coryza, or the common cold, is one form.
2. It is neither. However, infection of a sinus may result from rhinitis.

A PRIVATE BARRIER.

Chicago, March 20.—[Friend of the People.]—Can anything be done to have the pile of dirt, old bricks, and rubbish removed from the lot which is located to the rear of 838 Clark street? Last summer, when the basement of an adjoining building was enlarged, the dirt and old bricks were dumped on this lot next to the alley. Since that time people dump rubbish on the pile. It is unsightly and a nuisance, as the clay washes down in wet weather on the sidewalk and the bricks are often scattered in the driveway. E. C.

Report is made that complaint refers to a small pile of broken brick placed at alley line of vacant property by the owner to prevent automobiles from parking on this vacant lot. Instructions were issued on receipt of complaint to have this brick removed by ward laborer, but owner telephoned protesting against its removal and explaining why he had placed it there. As this brick is on private property there is nothing further we can do. JOSEPH J. BUTLER, Superintendent of Streets.

PAID UP MORTGAGE.

Chicago, March 20.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have just paid off a mortgage on a piece of property to which I had clear title prior to the granting of said mortgage. As a result I received four papers: my principal note; my last interest or coupon note; a mortgage policy, and a trust deed, the latter not having been recorded or canceled. 1. Is that right? Have I all the papers I should get? 2. Should I not get a release deed, or is that for some other purpose? 3. Is there anything I have to get recorded? 4. Do I just put the papers away in a safe place? A. H. B.

1. Yes, as far as it goes. If the mortgage creditor held fire insurance policies you should also receive them.
2. Yes, but you should secure this from the trustee named in the trust deed.
3. Yes, the release deed.
4. Yes, as to the remaining papers.

REAL ESTATE PURCHASE.

Chicago, March 20.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I purchased a lot for $3,800, paying $1,000 down and the balance on contract-deed plan. The subdivider has since passed away and his widow states he left her penniless. Can she declare herself bankrupt and go into receiver's hands? If so, will I lose the $1,000 I have paid in? P. B. K.

If he owned the lot at the time of his death you would be in a position to force conveyance of the lot. It is nearly always advisable for a purchaser of real estate to employ an attorney throughout, and we advise you to employ one now.

CHINA-JAPAN WAR, 1894

LONDON, Nov. 13.—It is stated here on good authority that the European powers are not disposed to take any action in regard to the war between China and Japan as long as the United States is offering mediation.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—Intimations were given that the new treaty between the United States and Japan, which is in process of consummation and which Japan is particularly anxious to have ratified, is being used as a lever to secure the consent of Japan to the proposition of the United States to mediate with China. This adds to the indications that peace is more than possible, and that soon.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 14.—While Japan has not yet accepted the proffer of the United States to act as mediator in the dispute with China, there is reason to believe that the Japanese government has requested it be informed explicitly just what terms China has to propose as a basis for peace. China so far has made no satisfactory proposition. The only proposition so far made is for the evacuation by Japan of Corea and China, and Japan could not accept this tender with safety and consistency.

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—It is said here that Germany advises China to negotiate for peace directly with Japan.

TIENTSIN, Nov. 14.—Officials of the Chinese government made the apologies demanded by the British government for the outrage committed by Chinese soldiers on board the British steamship Chunk King last August. The Chunk King was saluted by the guns of the Taku forts and the required apology was made to the British minister.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 29, 1916.

SAN ANTONIO.—Confirmation that Gen. Pershing already has been using a portion of the Northwestern railroad for transportation of troops was secured by Gen. Funston from what was said to be an unofficial source. It was not believed at headquarters Gen. Pershing's use of the railroad prior to receipt of permission from the Carranza government would endanger the negotiations now being conducted by the state department, because it was assumed he had gained permission of those in charge of operations of that section of the line. No reports from Gen. Pershing were received today, but his silence caused no uneasiness at headquarters, where the chief concern continued to be the problem of getting supplies into Mexico without a railroad.

PARIS.—A bombardment of great violence against the French positions from Avocourt to Bethincourt, west of the Meuse, was followed in afternoon by a German attack, which was launched against the Haucourt-Malancourt front in successive waves. It was repulsed with heavy losses, according to the official statement of the French war office.

WASHINGTON.—President Wilson and his cabinet are considering two possible courses of action in the event it transpires that German submarines unjustifiably caused the recent disasters in which American citizens were killed and injured. The two courses of procedure are: To sever diplomatic relations with Berlin and to inform Germany that a recurrence of the unjustifiable injury of Americans will cause an immediate severance of diplomatic relations.

28 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 29, 1904.

YINKOW.—It is reported that 65 Japanese transports escorted by four cruisers approached Newchwang on March 26 and departed southward. It is stated that Viceroy Alexieff will return to Europe in a few days.

LONDON.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Seoul dated March 27 says an engagement occurred on March 23 between Japanese infantry and Cossacks at a place between Anju and Chongju, and resulted in a victory for the Japanese, who, however, lost fifty killed. The Russians retreat slowly. Their loss is unknown. The report that the Japanese lost fifty men killed shows that the skirmish is the most serious that has so far taken place in Corea. Gen. Kuropatkin arrived at Liaoyang, the headquarters of the Russian army on the Yalu, and formally assumed command. A St. Petersburg dispatch says that Grand Duke Cyril was wounded during the naval engagement at Port Arthur on March 27. Another dispatch says that Japanese shells again badly damaged the Russian battleship Czarevitch.

NEWCHWANG.—Russian soldiers removed all American and British flags from the property of citizens of the United States and Great Britain. The jurisdiction of all foreign consuls has been annulled. The United States gunboat Helena and the British cruiser Espiegle may be ordered to leave port at any hour. Russia's action in declaring this port under martial law, it is feared, will result in complications with the powers.

COMPETITION IN COAL FIELDS.

Chicago, March 24.—Your editorial, "Competition in the Coal Fields," may seem to some to be logical and reasonable, but to the miners it doubtless is foolish. The miners' demands have been swept aside. The only thing the operators can see is reduction—the only thing they've ever been able to see. You compare the cost of coal in this state with that of West Virginia and Kentucky. With reference to Kentucky I suppose you refer to certain nonunion mines, where the men never see actual money as wages, but are paid their miserable wages in scrip, which is good only in the company store.

The miners must take a reduction to save the industry—for whom? What would the industry, a job, mean to them if they are to slave for about $2 a day? That would be meager pay even if they should work every day—which they will not. The miners have taken more than one cut already, but the only result was less work, not more! When they accept a cut there is nothing to hinder the nonunion operators from again cutting their men, the thing that invariably takes place.

Unless radical changes are made, a great struggle is before the miners this spring and summer, and, I venture to say, blood will be spilled. What will be the outcome? The men may be forced to take a reduction, which will probably be the signal for the nonunion men to do likewise. The operators will lose nothing; the men will have to accept a lower standard of living. One other thing is bound to happen: Many more of the men will become communists, because such action, such treatment, has this as its logical result. The union officials and the operators would be much wiser if they sought to bring about a raise in wages for the men in the nonunion fields so that competition would be possible. REO.

CAMPAIGN STICKERS.

Chicago, March 17.—An article in this morning's TRIBUNE called my attention to the fact that some of my friends had pasted stickers advertising my candidacy for clerk of the Supreme court on posts, etc., in the loop. This was done without my knowledge and I shall see that the signs are removed immediately without expense to the city. JAMES R. O'LEARY.

ONE EGG.

Chicago, March 15.—With eggs at 10 cents a dozen retail, why does it cost a nickel to drop a single raw egg in one's favorite drink at a soda fountain? It would seem better than 400 per cent profit on a single item is a trifle exorbitant these days. FOUNTAIN FRED.

NEWS.

Chicago, March 22.—In these days the following is a real news item and deserves a line somewhere:

"The first rural teacher hired in Yamhill county, Oregon, in 1932 was given a $5 raise instead of a cut."

That's a little encouraging sign from the great northwest, and they say "little straws show the way the wind blows." G. T. PARKER.

PROTEST.

Chicago, March 22.—When a small, wet group, acting from a selfish motive, puts over, behind closed doors, a wet resolution, that is news and gets front page. When a much larger group from the same association of commerce, entirely unselfish, raises a vigorous protest, that is not news and if we learn of it we must get it from other sources. Is this the service from the World's Greatest Newspaper? H. C. NEWTON, M. D.

JEFFERSON ON TAXATION.

Winnetka, Ill., March 21.—In your interesting editorial, "Legislating Ruin," we read: "Every page of the record discloses the purpose of the house to soak those whom congressmen describe as the rich."

But does not this procedure of the house naturally follow from the education which American citizens have been receiving since the civil war relative to this matter of taxation? "Taxation according to ability to pay" has been and still is the favorite formula of writers in highbrow magazines and metropolitan dailies, and even of some professors of political economy. How very few in congress or elsewhere seem to know that there is a democratic axiom of taxation diametrically opposed to our inherited aristocratic system, which is "taxation according to benefits received." What tragic consequences flow from the ignorance of alleged democrats on this fundamental question of all just governments! Jefferson writes:

"To take from one, because it is thought that his own industry and that of his father's has acquired too much, in order to spare to others, who, or whose fathers, have not exercised equal industry and skill, is to violate arbitrarily the first principle of association, the guarantee to every one of a free exercise of his industry, and the fruits acquired by it."

Loyalty to the teaching of Jefferson would solve the taxation problem.

ANDREW P. CANNING.

SEE EDITORIAL OF MARCH 25.

Chicago, March 24.—Your attack on one of the people's most able representatives, La Guardia of New York, will surely awaken your readers as to whom you favor to carry the burden of taxation—namely, the small wage earner.

Lifting this burden from the small wage earner and taking some of the wealth of multimillionaires, on a graduated scale, seems not to meet with your approval. I wonder why. This so-called radical bloc in Washington has begun to realize that the man of moderate means has been carrying more than his share, so they hope to get it from accumulated wealth, which sounds logical enough to one who has never been able to acquire more than the necessities of life, but, from the viewpoint of the wealthy, your criticism might be justified.

Mr. La Guardia represents a great state and I'm sure also voices the true sentiment of his people, which is sadly lacking in his colleagues in congress, so more power to him, for he has the courage of his convictions.

WM. F. MIELKE.

STRADDLERS.

Elgin, Ill., March 22.—John Garner does not state how he would have cast his vote in the house if the vote had been a tie. The contractors and building trades would like to know just this. We have listened to these straddling senators and congressmen just a little bit too long. Within the next few months prohibition is going to get a terrible sock in the solar plexus. F. J. BERO.

EXPLORER FINDS BUTTERFLY WITH SIX-INCH WINGS

Bags Ant-Bear with Claws 3 Inches Long.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, March 28.—(AP)—Up in the grand desert of Paraguay roamed a wolf 5 feet long with a black mane, and Dr. Donald S. Wees, exploring the area for the Harvard university museum, is bringing back his pelt.

He also has the hide of a giant ant-bear with an enermous bushy tail and powerful forelegs tipped with three inch claws. He is bringing back butterflies with six inch wings, and dragon flies with bodies an eighth of an inch wide and six inches long.

He reported bagging these trophies today in a letter dated Feb. 11 from his camp on the Yguazu river, where he and two companions broke their journey in a hand sawed cedar canoe.

They are exploring the head waters of the Parana river in a territory seldom visited by white men.

Ant-Bear Turns on Hunter.

"The wolf," he wrote, "measures five feet. It is a soft brown pelt with a heavy black mane. We had quite a time with the ant-bear. It is a rare species and this one was a giant.

"We got in a shot that wounded him and trailed him into a thicket when he turned on us. We had to use a revolver, for the undergrowth was too thick to bring a rifle up to the shoulder. He was not more than an arm's length away, rearing on his hind feet with that enormous bushy tail to support him when the last shot dropped him.

"Even as he fell he was trying to reach me with those powerful forearms tipped with three inch claws, one clutch of which would have snapped every rib in my body.

Find 8 Inch Beetle.

"On the way up here we found the skeletons of another enormous ant-bear and a South American tiger locked in a combat which had been fatal to both of them.

"We have three skins of the Dyaku Afuti, which is the wild turkey of Umpau; an eight inch beetle, and a dragon fly whose body is six inches long and one-eighth of an inch wide. We also have some long butterflies, blue, green, and white, which measure six inches across the wings."

Dr. Wees, who is from Elkins, W. Va., in a previous letter told about his troubles with insects—the polvorine and the yatebui and a brilliant butterfly which bites like a horsefly.

STUDENTS IN COAL FIELDS APPEAL TO GOVERNORS

Frankfort, Ky., March 28.—(AP)—Seventy eastern college students, grimy from constant travel by bus and automobile through Tennessee and Kentucky, arrived in Frankfort late today to protest to Gov. Ruby Laffoon their ejection from the southeastern Kentucky coal fields.

Lou Uchim and Emma Nogrady, New York university, attempted to arrange a conference with the governor, but were told he could not be interrupted. An audience probably could be rranged later.

The students had protested to Gov. Henry H. Horton of Tennessee and requests for redress and they received advice as to how to conduct themselves.

"We welcome people to our parks and public places, but we don't want a lot of bolshevists, communists, or anarchists interfering with the dignity of Tennessee," the governor bluntly told the delegation.

"I deny that we were guided by communists or that there was any communistic influence over our group," said Bob Hall of Columbia university, spokesman.

Horton said if the students were "deeply interested" in studying conditions in the mine district, then the proper thing to do was to ask permission to go into the mines, and he believed if their purpose was legitimate they would be admitted.

However, he added, "if the purpose was to stir up strife, you would not be allowed to go, and the proper procedure would be to go home." He added if they thought they had been wronged they had recourse to the courts.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 28.—[Special.]—Col. Gordon Johnston, who was decorated during the war for his work as acting chief of staff of the 7th army corps and the Second army, is now in the unique position of being the only man living to hold the four highest awards which the United States army confers.

The recent award of the decoration of the "purple heart" for heroism shown while leading a charge against the Moros during the Philippine insurrection, placed Col. Johnston in the enviable position of holding at one time the congressional medal, the distinguished service medal, the distinguished service cross and the purple heart.

Native of North Carolina.

Col. Johnston is a native of Charlotte, N. C. He is now stationed at Fort Oglethrope, Ga. The only other men to approach Col. Johnston's record are Col. William J. Donovan, former assistant attorney general, and Col. Charles E. Kilburn, coast artillery, both of whom have received the congressional medal of honor, the distinguished service medal and the distinguished service cross. It is possible that Col. Donovan may be awarded the purple heart, as he was wounded in action in France.

The purple heart decoration can only be awarded to those "who are authorized to wear wound chevrons." The decoration, revived on Feb. 23, 1932, in honor of George Washington, was established by the first President in 1782 and subsequently allowed to lapse. Col. Johnston won his purple heart decoration for bravery in leading a charge on a volcano crater during which he was wounded in the right shoulder.

The late Gen. Leonard Wood, in describing this battle to the war department, reported that Mount Bud Dajo was a fortified lava crater, rising almost perpendicularly 2,100 feet and sheltering about 600 hostile Moro fanatics. Gen. Wood decided the fortress would have to be wiped out.

Cited Many Times.

Col. Johnston's congressional medal of honor was the outgrowth of this attack. The purple heart decoration was awarded him recently for his wounds. His distinguished service cross was awarded for heroism in action at Palo, P. I. His three silver star citations were won for gallantry at Dagami, La Paz, and Datu Alis Cotta.

During the world war, Col. Johnston served as chief of staff of the 82d and 7th divisions. He was also acting chief of staff of the 7th army corps and of the Second army. For "his masterful leadership," on these occasions, he was awarded the distinguished service medal. He enlisted in the army as a private in 1898.

FORD REVEALS DETAILS OF HIS TWO NEW CARS

V-8 Will Do 75 Miles an Hour; 14 Body Types.

Detroit, Mich., March 28.—[Special.]—Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor company, tonight gave out the long looked for announcement of the details of the new Ford V-8. The car, along with the new Ford 4, will be shown to the public Thursday.

One of the chief factors in the announcement is the confidence shown by Henry Ford that a measure of business revival is possible to the country at this time. The announcement made tonight does not include prices of the various models. They will be made public Thursday. Mr. Ford said:

"I'll say candidly we have quit figuring costs on the car. The more you figure costs the higher the price goes, and this is no time for high prices. We have believed it our duty to do everything necessary to start employment again. Now we are ready."

"In addition to our 8-cylinder car of 65 brake horsepower, we are offering a new 4 cylinder of 50 horsepower. Except for the engines there is little difference between the two cars."

The Ford V-8 is capable for 75 miles an hour and the "4" of 65 miles an hour. According to the announcement, fourteen body types of streamline design are offered in each car.

The new car embodies a silent synchronized gear shift, engine rubber mounted, down draft carburetor and carburetor silencer, automatic spark control and a diaphram type pump. The fuel tank is in the rear.

There are also transverse cantilever springs, Houdaille hydraulic shock absorbers, four weel brakes, electrically welded steel spoke wheels.

GIRLS TAKE THEIR PET LAMB TO SCHOOL LIKE MARY OF THE FABLE

Val Jean and Dana De Velin, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Dan De Velin of 750 Wilson avenue, have a pet lamb they have named Mary Ann. Mary Ann is only 4 weeks old and still feeds five times daily from a bottle of milk.

Mary Ann sleeps in a comfortable box in the Wilshore Service station, below the De Velin home, and plays all day in the empty Wilshore dance pavilion, both of which Mr. De Velin owns. The lamb is the pet of all the station's customers and attendants, according to Jack Werner, the manager. The two little girls, who are 12 and 6 years old, have a small wagon that was once drawn by a goat, and they are waiting for Mary Ann to grow up so she can pull them. Mary Ann was born on the farm of De Velin's mother at Connersville, Ind.

FISHER DECIDES APPEALS COURT IS DEAD WRONG

Chief Justice Harry Fisher of the Criminal court yesterday denied the state's motion to take out of his hands a petition to set aside the verdict of a jury which convicted Maurice A. Barrett, loop jewelry dealer, of conspiracy to defraud. Barnett was sentenced to 1 to 5 years in the penitentiary as ringleader of the fake jewelry robbery of Mrs. Laura B. Price to obtain $18,000 insurance two years ago. The state had made a motion to have the petition heard by Judge Harry B. Miller, who presided over the trial of the conspirators. Assistant State's Attorney Charles Lounsbury cited a ruling of the Appellate court that such a matter must be heard by the trial judge if he is still on the bench.

M. A. BARNETT.

Mr. Lounsbury's argument was opposed by Attorney John L. Fogle, who filed the petition. "The Appellate court is dead wrong," said Judge Fisher after a pause, "and I am not going to follow it."

Joseph Baum, one of the fake robbers, testified during the trial against Barnett. When Fogle filed the petition on March 18 he also presented a statement from Baum which declared that he had testified falsely.

It is so Much More Satisfying to Own a LA SALLE

There are almost a hundred thousand motorists in America whose cars have cost them practically as much as a La Salle V-8—yet these people are not enjoying the supreme satisfaction of La Salle ownership. Their cars are providing neither the performance, the comfort, nor the high prestige which go hand-in-hand with a Cadillac-built car. Most of these people, no doubt, denied themselves a La Salle because they believed it cost considerably more to own so distinguished a car.

NATIONAL EXHIBIT
GENERAL MOTORS PRODUCTS
APRIL 2ND TO 9TH

Between April 2nd and 9th, the General Motors Corporation will hold a complete exhibition, in this community, of all its products. Cadillac and La Salle, as outstanding General Motors products, will naturally have a prominent part in this display. From every standpoint, this exhibition will be most unusual—and you should make your plans now to attend. Complete details will be announced in local newspapers at a later date.

Actually, however, they might just as easily have owned a La Salle—if they had only investigated. From first cost to resale value, La Salle is a highly economical car to own. In fact, many owners have found that it has cost them less to own a La Salle than their previous automobiles. If you are not now enjoying the advantages of fine-car ownership, get the truth about La Salle economy. Come in today for the facts—and an extended road demonstration.

The G. M. A. C. plan of payment is recommended to all buyers of Cadillac and La Salle motor cars

The Woman Hater

BY MAY EDGINTON

SYNOPSIS.

Faire Chapelle is the stepdaughter of "Ma" Chapelle, who owns Flaxen's Casino, a café of ill repute near the waterfront of Port Bai. Faire and Aya, "Ma's" daughter by her first husband of dubious color, assist in Flaxen's. The Chapelles are looked upon as outcasts by respectable island residents. Faire feels their attitude keenly, because her father was of unimpeachable antecedents. He had brought her as a little girl into these unsavory surroundings and left her there at his death. She has kept aloof from all that Flaxen's represents.

Sir Philip Persian is governor and commander in chief of the Tama islands, Bai and St. Rosario. His young secretary and ward, Robert Grand, is involved in an affair with Mira Worcester, a faded beauty. Her husband has become suspicious. Sir Philip is anxious to save the boy from scandal. Malise Bookes, the governor's aide de camp, forces Faire, through threats, to accept Mira's guilt. Sir Philip is furious when he learns what Bookes has done, and sends for Faire to try to make amends. He arranges passage for her to London, where her sister Sheba, now Lady Rosewood, a widow, owns a famous beauty salon. Sheba takes Faire into the business. Malise Bookes, who was a former suitor of Sheba's, is sent home to London. Mira Worcester, who has returned to London, spreads malicious gossip about Faire, which Faire will not deny because of her affection for Sir Philip and her promise to him of secrecy. An estrangement develops between the sisters. Among Sheba's many clients seeking the fount of youth is Mary Chevronne, recently widowed, with whom Sir Philip had had a youthful affair and feels honor bound to marry after his term expires. Sheba leaves town and Faire moves into an attic studio. Mary Chevronne is attracted to Faire and calls her to her home to give her treatments.

INSTALLMENT XXVI.

BEAUTY PARLOR CONFESSIONS.

"So here you are, Miss Chapelle."

"Good morning, Mrs. Chevronne."

A breakfast service on a tray of massive silver was on the bedside table. Letters and newspapers scattered the pomegranate spread. The maid was holding a chiffon wrap, into which Mary Chevronne slipped her big bare arms. "I'll sit at the dressing table, Miss Chapelle. There's room for your case there." She got out of bed and stood, not the well corseted, trimly gowned woman of the day before yesterday, but bigger, looser, droopier in her undress. And yet, in her eyes, in the curve of her mouth, there was something girlish, something credulous, refusing to hold back, to keep quiet to age.

She had selected one of the letters from the bed, held it tightly as she moved towards the dressing table.

"Isn't it"—she felt herself paling—"Sir Phillip Persian?"

It was a large photograph. It must have been taken at least five years ago. This was a younger Philip Persian than the disciplined, hard governor of the Tama islands. This was . . . the young man of a brief moment who had knelt beside a girl in an austere room whose long windows opened to a tropic night and a white moon.

Mary Chevronne's voice, honey of excitement, overlaying its years of weariness. "I have such a lot to ask you, my dear."

"O, yes, Mrs. Chevronne?"

"Do you know that photograph? Who it is?"

"Isn't it"—she felt herself paling—"Sir Philip Persian?"

"Yes." A thrill, a gasp, in the middle aged woman's voice! Was it possible—Faire thought as so young a girl can think—was it possible then that women of 50—or, more nearly, 55—were as emotion ridden, as passionate, as exalted, as were those young enough to be their daughters? Even those weeks at Sheba's salons had not fully enlightened her. She had seen them come in their dozens, the seekers after youth, the hangers-on to the flame-like garment of youth, the pursuers of love and glamour. Yet she had never taken them seriously. She had heard Mme. François say cynically and lightly: "Is it not sad when it is too late?"

But now suddenly Faire, perhaps because she had a wild heart free from the disdains of sophistication, opened her eyes and saw Mary Chevronne as Mary Chevronne saw herself. She saw her not as a silly, elderly female amorist but as a woman swept forlornly and lately by a love that exalted her to the skies of ecstatic expectation or would cast her to the hell of ultimate despair. Because Faire Chapelle's heart was thus wild and unspoiled she saw with a fullness and sublimity of generosity the despair and beauty of Mary Chevronne's love for Philip Persian.

"Your hands are like ice, my dear."

"I'm so sorry."

"No. I like it. I like cool hands. I want to talk to you. We needn't have the mask today?"

"I will give you a cleansing treatment and a toning up massage."

"That's a dear girl."

Now Mrs. Chevronne had sunk on the dressing seat, rather overflowingly. She was looking with narrowed piercing eyes at herself in the glass. She had laid the letter by the portrait, her fingers still on it. Faire's eyes fell to the restless fingers—to the envelope. She had only once before seen Philip Persian's handwriting. She saw it again now.

In the glass Mary Chevronne's eyes followed the direction of the other eyes. And the blush and smile of a girl came over her face. It was wonderful how young and tender her dark, heavy face became.

She moved the portrait frame a little so that it weighted down the letter and dropped her hand in her lap.

"I was admiring your ring," said Faire with the easy automatic facility already learned in the salon.

"Yes?" said Mrs. Chevronne sweetly. "It was given to me by the dearest person in the world nearly five years ago when he went abroad."

Faire soaked a pad in cleansing lotion.

"I suppose to you, child," said Mrs. Chevronne, "five years seems a very long time."

"I suppose . . . it would . . . in some conditions."

"Five years is nothing! Nothing!" Mrs. Chevronne said more loudly. But a slight tremor shook her.

"How old are you, Miss Chapelle?"

"Twenty-two."

"When I was twenty-two I was married to a man I hated."

Faire had, during her short apprenticeship in the cause of beauty, given so few treatments on her own responsibility that she had as yet seldom been the recipient of those extraordinary confidences in which women pour out their souls and their family secrets to hairdresser, masseuse, or manicurist. And now she was to hear, not the immaterial revelations which the other girls heard and automatically forgot, but revelations which mattered to her more profoundly than anything else in her world.

She said: "How very sad, Mrs. Chevronne."

The training at the salons in the art of suitable conversational response was to the point: "You say 'how very sad, madam.' Or, 'how wonderful, madam.' Or, 'I am so glad to hear it, madam.' Or, 'I am so sorry to hear you say so, madam.' Or perhaps it should be: 'I do not think men always realize how women suffer, madam.' Or, 'madam, how could he treat you so!' Or again perhaps: 'But, then, madam, your friend . . . I think she was jealous of you.' And always: 'Madam, we can not realize ourselves, but if only you could see the difference in your skin since you have taken care!" So Mme. François counselled her initiates.

"How very sad," said Faire Chapelle.

Mrs. Chevronne leaned back in the dressing seat. But she had not relaxed. She was tensed in every fiber.

"Relax, please."

Mrs. Chevronne laughed a little as she complied—and Faire thought: "She is happier this morning because of the letter."

"I was married to my husband for twenty-five years before I met the man I really adored," said Mrs. Chevronne.

"Yours is one of the tragedies, Mrs. Chevronne."

"What do you know about tragedy, child?" said Mrs. Chevronne through half closed lids watching in the mirror the patting finger tips.

"Very little, perhaps. But I can feel for others."

"Can you feel for much older women?" said Mrs. Chevronne, flushing. "Doesn't it seem to you that I am a fool to be crazily in love with a man over twenty years younger than myself?"

"O, no. . . . Relax, please."

"You're new to this business, but you're very, very good at it. Madame said I'd find you a wonder. You are sensitive. That's what is needed for a good masseuse. And you are intelligent, of course, my dear—you're Sheba Rosewood's sister. But how different!"

"Different?"

"I could never talk to Sheba as I could talk to you! You are human, aren't you? Very young—and the young are often so cruel—but you are human. You think. You know."

"Relax again, please, Mrs. Chevronne."

Again the low laugh. "O, I'm a perfect fool this morning; a perfect fool! But listen! I want to ask you something, and I want the truth. In four months can you—can you—improve me? These lines under my eyes; and this double chin; and I've a frown. That must come out."

"We can do a great deal, madam."

"I—I don't want my face lifted. He always liked my expressiveness. A lifted face is so blank, isn't it? You see, my dear, I want to keep the things that he liked best in me."

"I shall do everything I can. But you are too pessimistic about yourself. I assure you——"

"Stop! I've heard all that from that girl Winfred. You're all trained to say it; to lie and to please. It's part of the treatment to make optimists of the women who come to you!"

"Yes," said Faire slowly.

Schenck Kidnap Scare Stirs His Movie Friends

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., March 28.—Another kidnap scare, less public, but not more intense than that of several weeks ago, when Harold Lloyd, Ann Harding, Bebe Daniels, Marlene Dietrich, and others all posted armed guards to protect their children, has developed here as a result of the mysterious midnight invasion of an eastbound Sante Fe Chief by two armed men.

The men jumped off the train on the outskirts of Los Angeles. They molested no one, but appeared to be looking for some particular passenger and the inquiry that immediately developed assumed that the pair were trying to obduct some wealthy traveler. A wide alarm was raised when it developed that Joseph Schenck, wealthy film producer, had made reservations for the train but was not aboard.

This news left Schenck's friends in an uproar, which did not subside until one acquaintance got him out of bed at Agua Caliente, Mexico, where the producer said he had decided not to take the train east, although he had not canceled the reservations.

Joe Yule Jr., the 11 year old actor whom a cartoonist enjoined from the use of a name, has changed his name for screen purposes, and will be known both on the screen and in private as Mickey Rooney. He will get screen credit for his part in Universal's "Information Kid," just being completed under the name of Rooney.

The lad recently finished a part in Buck Jones' "High Speed" at Columbia studio and he also recently played in an independent production called "Riff Raff" featuring Dorothy Revier and Forrest Stanley and directed by George Seitz.

Little Joe is a son of Joe Yule who used to be a Chicago burlesque comic at the Haymarket theatre. The father is still living but hasn't seen the boy for some years. The mother is married again and her name here is Mrs. Nellie Yule Brown. She acts as Mickey's mother, make up woman, business agent and guardian.

The Paramount studio today announced signing of twenty-four persons, eighteen of them being new film writers. One of the contracts signed was with Ernst Lubitsch, German director of Chevalier's hits and ended months of negotiating between the director and the studio.

Official Contract

By Charles True Adams

(International bridge authority; author of "Official Contract at Sight")

Doing almost any of the vast number of human pursuits would be surprisingly simple if it were possible to foresee the outcome at the very start, but, unfortunately, we are pretty well along in any of our usual occupations before we can tell with any real definiteness just what the end will be. The squeeze play in contract bridge is quite like ordinary life in most cases in that it is almost impossible to recognize the opportunities of making the play until quite well along in the hand. Yesterday's play-a-problem was a very unusual example of this play in that the play could be discerned at the third trick. This was the hand:

NORTH [Dealer].
♠—J,6,4
♦—Q,3

WEST.	EAST.
♠—9,7,2	♠—8,5
♥—Q,10,8,6	♥—4,3
♦—A,8	♦—K,J,10,7,6
♣—J,7,6,5	♣—Q,4,3,2

SOUTH.
♠—A,K,Q,10,3
♥—J,9,7
♦—9,5,4,2

North dealt and bid a heart. East passed and South took out with a spade. West passed and North showed his second suit with a bid of two clubs. After East's pass, South rebid his spades with a bid of two. West passed. North, assured that South held five spades because of his rebid in that suit, now felt entirely justified in going to four spades which closed the bidding.

West opened the ♦ A, dummy played the 3, East the 7, and declarer the 2. West then led the ♦ 8, dummy played the Q, East the K, and South the 4. East then led the ♦ J, South played the 5, West trumped with the ♠ 7, and dummy overtrumped with the ♠ J. Dummy now led out the ♥ A and the ♥ K on which South played the ♥ 9-7 and to the sixth trick dummy led the ♠ 6 which South overtook with the ♠ 10. South then led the ♠ A, clearing that suit, and followed by leading the ♠ K, the ♠ Q, and the ♠ 3. West elected to keep his ♥ Q and two clubs while East kept his high ♦ 10 and two clubs. This meant that North now took in the ♣ A-K and the ♣ 10 for the last three tricks. Should West have guarded the clubs and not kept the ♥ Q, South would have then taken the ♥ J in his own hand, the ♣ A-K in dummy. If, on the other hand, East had thrown away the high ♦ 10, and kept three clubs, South would have first taken the ♦ 9 from his own hand and then the ♣ A-K from the dummy. Regardless of the play of East and West, South will make five odd—the game and an extra trick.

Here is tomorrow's play-a-problem:

NORTH [Dealer].
♠—5,3
♥—A,J,7,6,4
♦—A,9,8,7
♣—A,4

WEST.	EAST.
♠—Q,9,8,7,6	♠—A,J,4
♦—Q,3	♦—K
♣—Q,9,8,7,2	♣—K,J,10,6,5

SOUTH.
♠—K,10,3
♥—K,9,3
♦—J,10,6,5,4,2
♣—3

Bid and play this hand and compare the result with that printed tomorrow.

Pay Attention to the Nail Tips if You Want to Have Lovely Hands

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Whenever I think of hands in connection with this department, I think: "O, shucks! Every one takes care of her nails. Why bore people by talking about them?"

Then, I may catch a broken nail tip, a tightened cuticle—yeah, my sisters, even a soiled nail tip right under my own very eyes and belonging to my own very person—and I'm off again on a tangent of hand sermonizing. I like to remind myself, too, that no nice person would be seen so hand-i-capped!

However, I do not think it necessary to bore you, or me, with instructions on how to keep up a decent nail standard. You and I both know what implements to use. All we need is to be reminded to use them. Reminded that nail niceness today isn't a desirable hand trait, but a most necessary one.

Of course, we can go on to a more fastidious phase of nail upkeep. After we get the ground clear, so to speak, we can try little tricks of polishing off their beauty. We can find, for instance, a more becoming shaping of the nail, perhaps a little longer, more oval. Personally, I do not like the thin, long, sharply pointed nail. Many women do and manage, somehow, to preserve it against typewriter and other damage.

It seems to me there is a little more character in a slightly broader shaping of the nail tip. Then it looks as though it really does belong to the finger. Next, we can look into the polish finishes. We may find a pale rose finish is more flattering than the one we're using; or, even a pale opalescent shade. Or, a less brutal carmine. The point is that those finger ends can be made interesting, pleasingly so, indeed.

And then there is the magic that lies in pretty poise and gesture of these useful members of ours. Might just as well cultivate hands for all they have to give. The most valuable tip we can take unto ourselves on this score is that grace of hand gesture comes chiefly with and from a relaxed wrist and mind control over useless, fidgety movements.

Far Eastern Crisis Subject of Two Books

Tell Source of Troubles in Manchuria.

"Manchuria: The Cockpit of Asia," by Col. P. T. Etherton and H. Hessel Tiltman. [Stokes.] Published March 17.

THE eyes of the world are on the far east. Manchuria up to the present time has been to many people only a name, a far-away place about which little was known. It is now, however, in view of recent events, assuming a place of importance because the reverberations of the Chinese - Japanese conflict can be felt throughout the civilized world. The west has been more and more aware of the problems which confront the east. The important consequences of the westernization of the east strike home with increasing significance. Much of this reawakened interest in the east can be seen in the last few years in the popularity of books both fictional and nonfictional that have been on the western market. Nevertheless a serious evaluation of Manchuria's position has been neglected until now.

OWEN LATTIMORE.

Owen Lattimore, with a fellowship from the Social Science Research council and the support of the American Geographical society, spent many years in the far east collecting the material that appears in this book. Even before his professional connection with these institutions he had come to know informally and personally the situation in the east.

An Analysis of Culture.

His book begins with a thorough and scholarly analysis of the background of Manchu culture and history. He traces the development of the Manchu race and presents its plight after the fall of the empire and before China's expansion and conquest. Turning for a moment to the Chinese culture he brilliantly explains the value of that race and compares its history and customs to those of Japan and Manchuria. One of the most important factors in the far eastern difficulties is Russia, he says.

Russia's interest in Manchuria is largely based on her control of one of the largest railroads in that country which gives her the desired outlet at Vladivostok to the Sea of Japan.

Owen Lattimore recognizes Japan's dependence as a world power, or even as a nation, upon the resources in Manchuria. Japan must have some control in Manchuria, since her national prosperity cannot be effected without the exports of Manchuria. It must also be remembered, Lattimore points out, that Japan, essentially western in her adaptations of modern modes, is largely responsible for the development and prosperity of Manchuria at a time when China was helpless, torn apart by civil war and banditry. On the other hand it is clear that if Japan gains Manchuria she will be the dominating force in the far east and China will forever have to remain in a subordinate rôle. The author points out that it is not easy to lay blame upon either nation and that the Manchurian problem is insolvable.

This book is not primarily for the layman, but for the reader who is to some extent acquainted with far eastern history and development. Nevertheless, any reader who devotes his careful attention to the book will find it a clear, well written, disinterested, and important study of the present crisis.

Another Book for Laymen.

The authors of "Manchuria: The Cockpit of Asia" have written a book that can be understood by any one interested in the far east. It is a simple, incisive, and clear picture of the Manchurian difficulty. The authors also give an historical background of the countries involved and present the economic and industrial dependence of Japan in an especially vivid manner. It might even be said that the authors lean toward the Japanese view of the situation. This book tells the facts and not the theories of the conflict. And the reader must make almost a personal decision in regard to Japanese imperialism, upon which depends either the extinction or the continuance of Japanese prosperity, and the historical Chinese claim upon Manchuria and her justified fear of Japan as a world power. The authors conclude, "It is the prospect of strenuous opposition to these facts by the great powers and the certainty of the relentless march of Japanese policy which makes safe the prediction that Manchuria will remain the cockpit of Asia for half a century to come." Hair to Match Your Gown—Any Color

It Matches Gowns, Lasts Several Days.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

Cleopatra tried it centuries ago, on the banks of the Nile. But Chicago women found out only yesterday how "tres chic" glossed hair can be. It was the sensation in a day of innovations as the ninth annual midwest beauty show opened in the Hotel Sherman, for modern enterprise has found a way to make it not only smart but comfortable.

Unprecedented thousands stormed the grand ballroom as the exposition of beauty flung wide its doors. Men and women from all points of the compass waited in long queues, double file, to register for this largest and most important congress in the country exploiting the latest in good grooming methods.

Max Hoefer, president of the Chicago and Illinois Hairdressers association, which sponsors the show, attributed the thronged exhibition halls to eagerness of the professionals to battle the depression with the best and most recent methods of beauty culture.

"Nothing in the country compares with this show," he said. "The latest and best is always shown here first, and the greatest authorities in their lines are selected for our programs of lectures and demonstrations. So we draw attendance from nearly every state."

Milling through the aisles, examining the most improved apparatus and listening to the numerous lectures, hairdressers and cosmeticians found their interest focused principally in the spring hair styles. The "enameled" feature was by far the most striking of those displayed.

Miss Helen Rohde, who was attired in an evening gown of pale green satin, wore "La Coiffure Enamel," which was generously applauded, the hair matching the gown. This effect is obtained by dusting the hair with powder having a metallic base, in any shade desired, to match any gown, whether it be scarlet or purple or a medium tint. The finger wave is then set loosely, and the coiffure is sprayed over the surface with a thin liquid which stiffens slightly within a short time. Tiny flat sculptured curls are clustered at the back of the neck.

While it must be removed from the hair with an ordinary dry cleaning fluid, this effect may be retained for several days. It may be combed in the interim without affecting the appearance, since the liquid does not make the hair rigid and solid. It has no harmful effect, it is claimed, and the result is as novel as it is lovely.

Short hair dressed close to the head, with a fringe of soft, feathery wisps framing the face, constitutes the trend in hair styles, Hoefer announced. Long hair has been largely abandoned, he said, and will be increasingly demode as the season advances because of its inconvenience.

Many women are today denying themselves in other quarters in order to afford the beauty work that keeps them looking trim and neat when applying for jobs, it was said. This development has come out of the depression, and accounts for the prosperity enjoyed in 1931 by the cosmeticians and hairdressers. It is expected to increase in 1932.

Cape Becomes Style Marker of New Clothes

Dresses and Coats Have Several of Them.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

UNDOUBTEDLY the most disconcerting feminine prerogative known to man is our senseless [to most men] and ceaseless search of something new and different . . . our slavish following of constantly changing fashion. It seems to be utterly beyond the average male imagination why we refuse to wear the same model any longer than the official end of the season . . . why we juggle skirt lengths . . . why we shove waistlines up and down . . . why we hang fashionable hats over one ear, and a thousand other delightfully perturbing impulses that make us the disturbing element that we are.

Despite depression, fashion flourishes and the selection of new coats, suits, dresses, hats, and the very necessary accessories that complete a perfect ensemble are still the most important part of the feminine existence.

Even though we are the less consistent sex, masculine critics have aided and abetted this habit and at the same time hastened to profit financially by this feminine weakness . . . great textile industries are established . . . famous designers delve into modern and ancient books for inspiration . . . skillful fingers of a vast army of men and women alike weave and stitch with matchless magic the creations that are displayed.

And so the world of fashion whirls around . . . each season sees a new fabric, a new color launched, a lovely new slim silhouette sponsored and the same old ever exciting thrill for shoppers . . . discovery new.

Newest Models in Chicago Shops.

Chicago shops are far from the great French designers, where most of these lovely new clothes were created, but the distance has been swiftly spanned and the same originals as well as smart American adaptations are ready for your approval just a few short days after their presentation in Paris.

This season the newest thing you will see is the new top-lofty silhouette . . . a silhouette that looks like a mushroom if you must have a simile. This mushroom growth is achieved with wide shoulders and widened sleeves and more and more with the newly arriving hats that have wide brims.

The surest and easiest way to get shoulder wise to fashion is with capes . . . you will see capes everywhere . . . you can wear them with every kind of a dress and really the more capes you can throw around your shoulders the smarter you will be. Most of the newest capes are the models that are well fitted over shoulders and around the neckline, reaching well down to the waist . . . these are the capes that you will wear instead of a coat.

Fur capes are going strong this spring, short perky ones that barely reach the downward curve of the shoulder . . . longer models that swing at elbow length, and the swanky full waistline length kind that ripple and hang smartly over afternoon and evening dresses.

Every Dress Has Its Cape.

Almost every dress has a matching or contrasting cape . . . street dresses are especially fitted with capes that are buttoned on to match buttoned cuffs and belt. Sports frocks have capes . . . daytime dresses are cape-d and the loveliest new evening gowns cling to their own capes . . . the smartest coats have anywhere from one to three and even four layers of capes . . . and spring fashion follows that lead with suits, too, and all the tricks are taken with capes.

You can buy separate cape collars . . . collars of silk plaid, checked silk, plain and solid colored silks . . . white pique, organdy and linen and these collars will transform all your dull and dated dresses into gayly shoulder conscious and cape-d models just like the newest models from the spring collections.

Famous Rush Street Home Will Be Sold

J. Hamilton McCormick House Abandoned.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THOSE few Rush street blocks from Chicago avenue south to the Virginia hotel where imposing residences and wide lawns still maintain an air of old time glory are rapidly being swallowed up by the commercial growth of the city from the north and south.

One by one the residences of old families have been deserted, and now only a few remain in this little territory which once was the stronghold of Chicago's most influential clans.

The latest historic house to suffer abandonment by its owners is the J. Hamilton McCormick house at 631 Rush street. This imposing four story brown stone mansion where four generations of McCormicks have lived is being closed now and its owners have decided that it shall not be opened for their occupancy again. The property, which is at the northeast corner of Rush and Ontario streets, is for sale, and the house is being stripped now of most of its valuable furnishings. What disposition the owners will make of their priceless collection of pictures, bronzes, enamels, statuary, armor, and old furniture has not yet been announced.

House with History.

The house has a history with which most Chicagoans of the older generation are familiar. It was built by the present owner's father, Leander J. McCormick, who also built the Virginia hotel, which is soon to be demolished, too.

The Hamilton McCormicks gave it up early in this century for an eighteen years' stay in London, and during their long absence the Levi Z. Leiters, the W. P. Rends, the Chatfield-Taylors, and the William A. Gages all had long occupancies.

When they returned to Chicago shortly after the opening of the world war, Mrs. Hamilton McCormick resumed her place as one of Chicago's great hostesses and the old ballroom was the scene of numerous brilliant affairs. She was especially generous in lending her house for war benefits and other charitable affairs.

During the last few years Mr. and Mrs. L. Hamilton McCormick have spent most of their time away from Chicago, and since their son and daughter-in-law, the Alister McCormicks, moved to California, they have not opened the house on their infrequent visits here. A wing of the house was refurnished for the Alister McCormicks when they came to Chicago after their marriage and a new nursery was equipped for their children.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton McCormick are in California at present. Leander and Edward, their older sons, reside in England.

Another Tour of City.

Mrs. Frank Hibbard, who is just back from a fortnight's vacation at Thomasville, Ga., and Ocean Springs, Miss., has planned another sightseeing tour for Tuesday, April 5, and, judging by the reports I've heard of the two others she conducted, I'm sure there will be a rush for reservations.

The new tour will leave from Mrs. Hibbard's novel little shop, Conveniences, which she runs for charity at 106 East Oak street, at 10:15 o'clock, and the first stop will be the Oriental institute at the University of Chicago. From there the party will go to the Saddle and Sirloin club for luncheon, and after luncheon Mrs. Hibbard and her "paying guests" will visit the Union stockyards.

The club, you know, is where the officials of the packing companies eat, and, needless to say, the steaks and chops served there are marvelous. So I know the party will have a good, hearty luncheon. It's just as well the tour of the yards is to be after luncheon, though, isn't it? Reservations may be made by telephoning Conveniences, Superior 4348.

Will Inspect Crime Laboratory.

Col. and Mrs. Calvin Goddard have invited quite a large party to the scientific crime detection laboratory of Northwestern university this evening for a demonstration of the laboratory facilities, including the lie detector. Among those who will be there are Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson Jr. and their niece, Miss Strickland of Macon, Ga.; the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Duncan Browne, Col. and Mrs. Robert G. Peck, Miss Catherine Noyes, Miss Margaret Ennis, Dr. and Mrs. Horace Bridges and their sons, Horace Jr. and Leonard, and the latter's wife; Mr. and Mrs. Burt A. Massee and their house guest, Capt. Knight of Seven Oaks, Kent, England, and Dr. and Mrs. Nathan S. Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Barton Jones of Lake Forest are being congratulated upon the birth of a son last Thursday at the Michael Reese hospital. A letter from Santa Barbara yesterday brought the news that Mr. Jones' sister, Miss Gwethalyn Jones, was one of those who opened their gardens in Montecito to the public last Friday. Miss Jones' residence is called Pepper Hill and is one of the loveliest in that garden spot, so I'm told.

This was the first garden tour of the season arranged by the plans and planting committees of the Community Arts association with the cooperation of members of the city park commissioners, County Horticultural society, Garden Club of Santa Barbara and Montecito, and Recreation center.

Among the Chicagoans or ex-Chicagoans whose gardens will be visited on later tours will be the Milton Wilsons, the Alister McCormicks, the Ralph Ishams, and the William P. Nelsons. Mr. and Mrs. Oakleigh Thorne, whose grandson, Oakleigh T. Lewis, married Bertha Palmer, will exhibit their garden at Les Tejas on April 1.

Mrs. Ford Rodman Carter of 1315 Ritchie court is expecting two interesting guests next Tuesday or Wednesday, the Pierpont Morgan Hamiltons of New York, who will stop over for Good morning!

If you believe that a black cat marching across your path, or that your marching under a ladder will set bad luck marching after you;

If you think the cards infallible in prophesying futures;

If you cross your fingers when you meet a cross-eyed person; AND

Hurriedly throw salt over your left shoulder after you've spilled some;

If you expect money when your palm itches and dolorously resign yourself to kiss a fool when—I've forgotten what—IF, in other words, you're superstitious, you should get SOME kick, at least out of "Broken Wing" which sings of a maiden who believed in signs—that came true.

This fair truster is a Mexican damsel or maybe Spanish—who, with her dotting American foster father occupies a hacienda in Old Mexico. The f. t's name is Lolita and she is most blithe and gay—and greatly desired by one Capt. Innocencio, who is Head Man of the town near which the rancho is located.

He is judge and he is jury,
He is peace, war, fun, and fury,
He is boss of all the monies
He is alcalde of ponies.
He can marry and divorce folks
He can cajole folks and force folks
He can jail 'em, he can bail 'em
He can, if he wants to, flail 'em
Senora from Signorita
He would make charming Lolita——

But Lolita says "No!" If he were the last man on earth, she tells her Papa Farley, well—maybe! Otherwise not? Why should she? For her old nurse has read the cards and said there will be one beeg storm and that out of the storm will emerge the lover of Lolita's dreams. . . .

Well—would you believe it—that is JUST what happens. . . .

And does Capt. Innocencio cut up? And does it look as if there's going to be a little annihilation party? Yes—to both questions.

Lupe is peppy and provocative—as always. You'll like Leo Carrillo, too, though the script does make dear Capt. Innocencio seem a bit TOO simple minded. Melvyn Douglas gives a perfect imitation of a gentleman determinedly behaving like a gentleman e'en though he would like to crown the powers who wished his present rôle upon him. [It really IS a dumb rôle.] Supporting players are able—especially George Barbier. Direction—so—so.

As a matter of fact the story and dialogue, as a whole, are not overbright—but settings and photography are nice, and, as I said—if you believe in signs——?

See you tomorrow!

Miss Jane Addams Back After Absence of Four Months

Miss Jane Addams, head of Hull house and co-winner with Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia university of the Nobel peace prize, has returned to Chicago after a four months' absence. A part of that period she spent in a Baltimore hospital and more lately in Florida recuperating from her illness.

Miss Addams again expressed her faith in the league of nations. Although the league has been disappointingly slow in dealing with the aggression of Japan in China and Manchuria, she said, the league should not be considered a failure.

"Any new political body must have time to function easily," Miss Addams declared. "Our own constitution did not gain its prestige all at once. In the Shanghai situation Japan is entitled to a day in court, even though she is the aggressor."

Miss Addams plans to attend the official ceremony this summer at which the award of the peace prize will be made at Oslo, Norway. Both she and Dr. Butler are to speak. Miss Addams is also scheduled to attend several international gatherings in Europe.

BY MARY MEADE.

What to put in a mixed grill? That's rather like what goes to make up a first-rate vegetable soup. You might say about both of them, though, that the basis will be meat, with enough other things to provide variety of taste and color.

A mixed grill may contain any meat that is ordinarily broiled. One of the most popular is the lamb chop. These may be the thicker, more opulent loin chops, if the budget is bearing up nicely, or the smaller rib chops—these latter, particularly, if two other kinds of meat are used. Lamb patties cost little and grill well. Then there are tenderloin patties, pork and beef, and patties of ground round steak. Ham may be included, if it be cut thin. Bacon is always a good component, both the usual breakfast kind and the Canadian. Sausage, too, adds flavor. The small links may be used, but the meat tempts one to experiment with it. Large mushrooms, stuffed with sausage meat, or apple rings with centers of it, are just a sample of the things you can do with it.

For vegetables, there is, foremost of all, the sweet potato. It is cooked before grilling, of course, and a paste made of butter and brown sugar spread over it gives it that caramel taste. Along about this time of year the sweet potatoes sometimes show a tendency to be misshapen so that by the time they're cooked and peeled there isn't much left of them but slivers. In that case it is better to buy the cooked ones that come in cans. Slice them, and be generous with the sugar and butter.

Mushrooms, as I've indicated, have their points. Just a few do a lot toward dressing up a mixed grill, and that is one of the things about it, too—a mixed grill is a place where a little dab of this and that seems like a planned surprise instead of a way to palm off quantities of food too small to serve in other ways. Carrots and celery, celery root, parsnips, tomatoes, and flowerets of cauliflower dipped in cheese and crumbs, are other vegetables to combine with your meat. You will probably think of many more, and your experience will tell you whether or not to cook them before you grill them.

If you include sausage, you ought not omit apples, because they are such a splendid team. Pineapple is a good fruit, too. The rings may be used, or the fingers, the latter particularly, if you use link sausage. Those two long ovals seem to belong together. Canned peaches and apricots might add the necessary sweet touch.

If the family is large there may not be room for everything in the grill under the flame at once. If not, start the fruit in the oven and slip it under the fire for a minute to brown after the rest of the food is cooked. Pour a little melted butter over it when you bake it.

When I suggested meats, I should have mentioned liver and kidneys. Liver you would have remembered, but the kidney is likely to be neglected, a fate which it does not deserve, because, well done, it is one of the best of meats. I think one reason people are not as fond of it as they might be is that more often than not the cook is too lavish with the fire and the kidney appears at the table dark brown and hard instead of as it should be.

Mixed grills should be served from the kitchen—all the components assembled on the diner's plate, and garnished with a sprig of parsley.

HAM SHANKS WITH VEGETABLES.

1 tablespoon salt.
3 cloves.
2 tablespoons flour.
2 pounds flour.
1 head cauliflower.
1 cup peas.

Simmer the ham shanks with seasonings in a covered vessel until tender, allowing about 45 minutes per pound. Remove the meat and strain the stock. Cut the meat from bone in medium pieces, add 2 cups of stock, cauliflower broken into flowerets, and simmer for 20 minutes. Thicken with two tablespoons flour moistened with water. Add canned peas and cook 5 minutes. Serve on a hot platter. [Serves six.]

A FRIEND IN NEED

Youth Lacks Graduation Suit.

"I wonder if you can help to get a suit, size 15, and a pair of oxfords, size 6. My son will graduate soon and as I have had no work for a long time, I cannot buy them. The rest of us need clothing, too. The other boys are 13 and 4, and I wear size 18 and size 4½ in slippers. We owe rent and do not have enough to eat most of the time. Mrs. T. K."

If your son has an outgrown suit still in fairly good condition it would solve this anxious mother's problems at this time.

Parents Can Stop Feeling of Jealousy

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Where reams are needed to even touch the high spots in child management, how different to skim them in a couple of hundred words. For example, jealousy.

All jealousy is not caused by a craving for an equal share of parents' love. Other emotions may be the cause of it. Greater scholastic brilliancy, artistic talent, beauty, power to capture the limelight—a number of things that one child may possess that another does not may cause the latter to feel jealousy—one of the most destructive and unhappy emotions there is.

Sometimes parents are rather stupidly responsible for the state—showing pride in the beauty or cleverness of one, or praising certain qualities he has, like habits of quiet, neatness and industry. This is really a sort of stupidity, and cruel in its result, if not in its intent. Who would not rather be handsome and clever? It behooves the parents who have a shining light among their children and one who is quite the opposite to watch their step.

In their hands may lie the power to sow the seed of that grudging, bitter feeling called jealousy. In their hands may lie the power to brand a child with the feeling of being inferior. In their hands may lie the power to start a child out in life oppressed by a sense of injustice—a bad thing to carry over into the affairs of the grownup world.

In the hands of parents may lie the power to bring about these negative things—or to bring about positive and worthwhile states of mind and feeling in a child.

Pride May Make Little Quarrel Serious Affair

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Regaining the love of the old flame after a quarrel, during which interim another appears to have usurped your place as favorite, is apparently common difficulty.

The pair goes along smoothly for months or for a year or two. They're happy. They make plans for the future. Then, one day there arises a misunderstanding. One gets mad, or the other does, or both. They separate. He won't telephone. Her pride won't let her call him up and have a talk. The man, more often than the girl, finds surcease for his heartache in another girl.

The girl goes off into retreat—brooding, unhappy, but without the moral courage to make a step toward a reconciliation. Until—she hears of the other girl. Then her fighting spirit is up. And a good thing, too, if it is and she loves that boy and knows that he did care very much for her.

Some boys under such circumstances behave like a girl. They moon and regret, but pride forestalls the word of reconciliation. Or, they dash out and get drunk in a bravado way of showing the girl they don't care. More often they are in a ripe frame of mind for the first girl who comes along.

In any event, letting the quarrel go over into weks and months is the crime where two people honestly care. The longer it stands the harder the approach to reconciliation. Surely our young people of today are modern minded enough to forget that silly old stuff called pride and get together to talk it out, or fight it out—anyway, have it out.

Marriage during that interim may happen to one of the former adoring pair, as in Jeanette's case. Her love met a girl at a bridge game a few evenings after their quarrel. Before six weks were over he was engaged to her and a month later married. She turned out to be a girl on marriage bent, with no particular interest in the prospect outside of his being presentable, physically and financially, which the young man in this case is.

Now, the old triangle arises. The old love is full of pity for the young man. She saw him recently—looking terrible. Reports by intimates indicate he has fallen into a bed of thorns.

So, quarrels were better made up within a couple of days and pride forgotten, whether you feel you were in the right or wrong. There are other ways and cleverer of handling misunderstandings so that two, and possibly, three lives are not embroiled for life through pride's silly direction.

Bright Sayings of the Children

Little Edward, 5½, always loves to tell his age. He also is fond of asking the age of others. Recently his mother was conversing with a woman, unknown to her, and the boy whispered to her, suggesting that she ask the stranger's age. When the mother refused, the latter begged to know what the boy had whispered. Laughingly the mother told her, and the woman remarked to the boy, "I don't mind telling you; I am over fifty."

The boy asked her a number of questions, and finally she said, "And now, young man, I am going to ask you some questions. How old are you?"

"All right, I'll tell you," the boy retorted, significantly, "I'm past three." L. B. O.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

The new show at the Grand Opera house ought to bring back the flush of youth to the withered cheeks of the spring theatrical season. It is an operetta staged with pomp and circumstance, glittering with the uniforms of hussars and the decorations of nobility, gleaming with the spangles of circus folk, populous with princesses, maids of honor, and ballet girls, rich with the trappings of high flown musical romance. It also contains two white steeds of the tanbark arena, with performers to ride them according to the best standards of the Ringling Brothers. In other words, this piece called "The Blue Mask" is a decidedly showy kind of show. Yes, indeed.

There is none of your flip, astringent Broadway satire in this abundant entertainment. Here you will find flamboyant romance and the frank ecstasies of leading tenor and prima donna soprano as they tear the lyric passions to tatters. This is operetta according to the central European idea, and also according to the Chicago plan.

It has a rich score by Emmerich Kalman, who ranks in the first flight of composers for the light lyric stage of Vienna and Berlin; it tells a good story; and it has been lavishly staged. Certainly "The Blue Mask" stands up well in a comparison with the other entertainments of its type that have found popularity in Chicago under the Shubert management.

Guy Robertson is the fair haired lover of the libretto, and he carries off a stellar rôle in a starry way. He gets a freer swing than he did in "Nina Rosa" or "Marching By"; he wears two hussar uniforms, an equestrian's tights, and the raiment of a man of the world; and he does everything well except when it comes to mounting a horse like the centaur he is supposed to be. He goes up like a Sunday bridle path rider.

In this tale Mr. Robertson represents a Russian prince and cavalry officer who, after getting disinherited in the prologue, takes to the circus life in a blue mask, and thus fascinates his mean old uncle's lovely young widow. Then, at a party where he is masquerading as his real self, she marries him; and when she discovers that he is merely a circus performer, she horsewhips him. Hence an ornate, passionate finale for the second act. A third act of low jinks and tender reconciliation follows, carrying the mixup to a final curtain at 11:30. "The Blue Mask" is, in fact, a copious affair, offering an overflowing measure of operatic amusement.

The bareback riding of the circus scene is not a bit of footlight faking, but the genuine thing. The two white steeds lope around the ring on padded hoofs in the true big top manner, and May Wirth, with six assistants—a tribe of tanbark aristocracy—ride them according to the classic ritual of trick equestrianism, in all manner of styles—standing, sitting, leaping, and somersaulting. This incident, in itself, marks "The Blue Mask" as a decided novelty of the theater. An operetta with the Wirths and their horses working in it is something to talk about.

Carl Randall contributes some of his most stylish stepping, including his magician's dance from the "Third Little Show." He has for partner the prettiest girl of the year's musical shows—Barbara Newberry, recently an auxiliary beauty of the revues and now doing nicely, thank you, as a lyric actress with a real part.

George Hassell, as a preening, plotting magnifico of the Russian court; Bernard Gorcey, as a midget head waiter of the German dialect variety; and Lorraine Weimar, as a scolding mamma, are the comic performers, and they give "The Blue Mask" a fair assortment of laughs. Manila Powers brings a fine voice and excellent technique to the heroine's rôle. Philip Lord and Rollin Grimes are effective in military characters.

To conclude: "The Blue Mask" is a generous eyeful and earful for the operettagoers. Its arrival, in this period of stage famine, should be welcomed.

a day or two with the Carters on their way to the west coast. They will pay a longer visit to the Carters on their way back home.

Mrs. Hamilton is the former Betty Stickney, the New York Junior leaguer who entered the business world and made good in such a big way. Mrs. Carter, also, was one of the first Chicago society women to enter business and she, too, has been very successful. She is engaged in a new venture at present which keeps her in New York half the time but she has no intention of giving up her Chicago residence although Mr. Carter also finds that business necessitates his being in the east quite a bit and Robert, their second son, is living in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. George S. Chappell Jr. [Caroline Smith] have taken an apartment at 185 East Chestnut street which will be ready for occupancy in about two weeks. They have been residing with Mrs. Chappell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Solomon A. Smith of 1242 Lake Shore drive since their return a few days ago from their wedding trip in the east.

Mrs. Llewellyn Returns.

Mrs. Silas J. Llewellyn of Winnetka and her grandchildren, Barbara and Silas Warner, have returned from Palm Beach, where they spent the children's spring vacation from school with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Eliot Warner. Mr. and Mrs. Warner will return to their Winnetka home early next month.

Miss Eleanor Thompson, daughter of the John R. Thompsons, is spending the spring vacation from the Latin school with her aunt, Mrs. Harry L. Thomas, in Palm Beach. Mrs. Thomas also has visiting her Mrs. Edward Peal of Lake Forest and Mrs. Knisely Hales of Winnetka. Eleanor and her younger sister, Lois, are to be in eastern camps this summer, so Mrs. Thompson and the baby of the family, Pauline, probably will spend the summer at an eastern resort instead of in Lake Forest, as usual.

Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson departed yesterday for a week's holiday at Gulf Hills, Miss., with her son, Joseph Jr., who is vacationing from St. Mark's school. The three little Ryerson girls, Mary, Ellen, and Annie, are recovering from the whooping cough which has been upsetting the household for the last few weeks and will leave in mid-April with their mother for the Ryersons' estate at Santa Barbara.

More News of Holiday Travels.

The John R. Winterbothams and their young son, Johnny, are spending his holidays from the Latin school at Pass Christian, Miss. They will return next Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. I. Newton Perry and Miss Polly Perry will return today from having spent the Easter week-end with Brewster Perry at Culver.

David W. Dangler, son of the David Danglers of Lake Forest, has returned to the Hotchkiss school at Lakeville, Conn., after spending the Easter vacation with his parents. His sister, Miss Nancy Dangler, is attending Ferry hall this year.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. L. Curtis are at the Huntington in Pasadena after a cruise through the Panama canal from Florida.

Mrs. Samuel T. Chase telephoned yesterday to ask us to announce another home dressmakers' sale at the White Elephant Rummage shop at 27 East Ohio street on Thursday.

Colonial Hats from French Modistes Exhibit Rakish or Quaint Trend

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS. — [Special.] — Spring hats copied from the millinery worn in the days of the American colonies are the latest shapes to come out of French millinery salons. Chez Geff, a new Parisian milliner, has made a small sensation with these hats that are exactly like those worn by our own George and Martha Washington.

The George Washington hat is, naturally, a bicorn and is considerably modified as to size, so that it suits the face and shorn head of the modern lady. You can see the back and front view of this hat in the two upper figures of our sketch. It is made of fine black leghorn straw and is worn with one point down before the right ear, in a rakish fashion that is not copied from the father of our country. However, it is extremely smart.

The Martha Washington hat is shown at the bottom, and is to be classified in the quaint category. It's intended to wear with late afternoon frocks of silk organdy or printed chiffon, and is made of vivid blue picot straw, shaped into a genuine poke bonnet. The poke part of this bonnet extends only an inch or so in front of the face, merely framing it attractively. The trimming consists of a dark blue velvet band and a small corsage of forget-me-nots and pink rosebuds.

Americans in Italy See Talkies in Garrett Home

ROME, March 28.—American talkies are shown in Italy only in the palace apartment of Ambassador John W. Garrett. There they have the advantage of being uncensored. Mrs. Garrett, deprived of talkie contact with America, had a sound reproducing machine installed in one of the salons and every two weeks or so a small group of friends sees and hears pictures that are unknown to the Italian public. No foreign language films are authorized in Italian motion picture houses so the text must be put into Italian.

Famous Old Hymn Offends 'Foreigners'; Will Be Rewritten

Philadelphia, Pa., March 28.—[Special.]—For many years religious meetings have reverbrated with the proud notes of that old favorite, "From Greenland's Icy Mountains, From India's Coral Strand," but modern missionaries, moved by the rising tide of nationalism in the so-called "heathen countries," have been calling the hymn "too snobbish" and the committee which is meeting this week in Atlantic City has ordered the hymn rewritten.

The Rev. Dr. Charles R. Erdman of the First church, Princeton, N. J., and the Rev. Cleland B. McAfee of New York City, former moderator of the general assembly of the church, have been assigned the job.

The lines of the hymn in one particular stanza objected to mention India and Africa and the stanza ends with:

"They calls us to deliver Their land from error's chain."

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Dallas, Tex., March 28.—The manner in which the Chicago White Sox today continued their triumphant parade through the minors by defeating the Dallas Steers, 9 to 7, had many entertaining features not usually encountered in the game of baseball, not the least of which were some hilarious antics by those sterling comedians, Pat Caraway and J. Smead Jolley.

Pat did not get into the game until old Red Faber had devoted five innings to making his 1932 debut, a debut which had two sad innings and sent Red out of the contest on the short end of a 6 to 3 score.

Pat Brings In Some Excitement.

The minute Pat entered the arena things started to happen. For one thing, he started a six run rally with a single off that former White Sox pitcher and excellent butcher, Grady Adkins. But Pat reached the heights in an eccentric double play which he started and ended, a joyous performance about which you'll be informed in detail later in this narrative.

J. Smead caught throughout and did amazingly well as a receiver, but got on the laugh side through two Herculean tussles with pop flies and a ponderous dash down the third base line in a run down play which ended in Caraway's aforementioned double play.

Hal Anderson and Lu Blue starred in the serious features of the encounter, Anderson with a triple, a double, and a single and a walk, and Blue with the first Sox homer of the year, two singles, and a walk.

The minor leaguers revealed at the outset that they had no sentimental reactions in the matter of old Red's

THE GUMPS—JUST SUPPOSIN'

GOLDEN GLOVES BATTLES DRAW 20,841 CROWD

Easterners Sweep 9 Early Bouts.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 28.—New York tonight defeated Chicago, twelve bouts to four, in the fifth annual intercity match, in Madison Square Garden. It evened the series, first held in 1928, at two victories apiece and one tie.

The show attracted 20,841 paid customers. The receipts were $41,043.

New York's decisive triumph not only squared accounts with Chicago for the five year period, but almost evened up for the 13 to 3 drubbing received in Chicago a year ago.

Close Decisions to New York.

New York as a team was vastly superior, as the score indicates. Its boys were smarter in ring technique, better conditioned, and more rugged of physique. They also got the breaks in the decisions. All bouts which were close went to New York, even though neutral officials had been imported to insure fair dealing. At least three decisions could have gone either way.

The throng that turned out to cheer the young men of Manhattan to victory resembled the gathering that used to attend Tex Rickard's attractions in the same arena. Mayor Jimmy Walker, flanked by leaders from politics, business, and the professions, had a front row seat. Modishly gowned women, looking lovely in their jewels and multi-colored headwear, and their escorts, with bulging white shirt fronts, were to the right and left.

Up in the galleries sat the dollar customers, the fans who come for the love of the fight and who have no interest in the attendant trappings. In a box on the south side of the ring sat Gene Tunney and Polly Lauder Tunney, both of whom appeared to be getting a kick out of the honest effort of the workmen in the ring.

Phagan Wins First for Chicago.

The show was half over before the 100 Chicagoans sitting together on the east side of the ring got a chance to cheer. All of the Chicago boys in the four lighter divisions had gone down in defeat. Then came Johnny Phagan, a colored battler from the north side, who got his baptism in Golden Gloves a year ago.

Phagan was up against Sam Kanterwitz, from the New York ghetto, who was touted as the most dangerous man on the New York squad. Kanterwitz started out as if he would live up to his reputation. But Phagan, Chicago's welterweight champion, answered blow with blow and usually had the best of the rallies.

It was an almost unbelievable continuation of swinging, with never a dull second, with never a moment that might not contain disaster. As the battle moved towards its finish with blistering rapidity of motion, it seemed that one or the other must fall from exhaustion, from utter inability to lift his weary arms.

When Phagan was given the decision the crowd stood up and roared its approval.

Marek, Miller Are Victors.

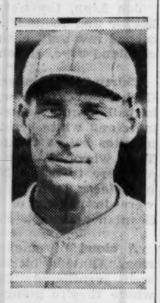
Who'll Win in Big Leagues? Your Guess Is as Bad as Ours

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 28.—According to my old custom, I shall refrain from selecting the winners of the major league pennants this year and this seems to be as good a day as any on which to refrain from doing it. My reason for not trying to tell fortunes this year is that I have not had a chance to talk to any of the sixteen managers. In other years my reason was that I had talked to all of them, obtaining ten or a dozen verdicts; nowadays, the managers are a little more reasonable than they used to be and the men who handle the obvious second raters do not claim pennants any more, but merely promise to make trouble for the winners. Years ago there would have been sixteen verdicts.



LEN KOENECKE.

"We do not seem strong enough to win," the formula goes now, "but the team that wins the pennant in our league will know it has been in a fight because we have a lot of young, hustling, ambitious kids with everything to gain and they will be in there bothering the leaders at all times."

This is a defeatist formula and the time was when a manager would have been adjudged to be no fit character to inspire and lead a ball club who had the nerve to admit that his club couldn't win by any chance. But in those days the position of manager carried some prestige and the boss man of a big league team was supposed to be an important figure in his community.

Nowadays It's Different.

A discouraged has-been working for very little pay on a short term contract, subject to the grudges and personal whims of some one in the business office, with orders to do the best he can with such little material as the management giveh him, he is glad not to be out of a job altogether and he only insists on one right. He reserves the right not to make a chump of himself by claiming a pennant for a team which his own players and their owners and the great army of faithful fans all know have no chance to win and are merely nominated to keep the franchise in action and round out the league.

There was a fellow out in the tall grass who did a remarkable job of doping a world series along about 1913, but he had never seen a major league game in his life and he did his doping entirely by ear, so to speak. He had a job on a newspaper down in the southwest which kept him busy on makeup, rewrite and telegraph copy all day, but he was very ambitious in a literary way and at night, for extra, he used to slap himself out a sort of column in hick dialect, using misspelled words and hayseed grammar for hilarious effect, like "I wuz" and "they kudn't" and "you hain't sene nuthin'." It was the standard No. 2 comic style of the Dere Mable letters and the homespun philosophers.

No System; Just Picks 'Em.

He had no system at all, not even bothering to set down the usual columns of figures in four decimal points and add or subtract or whatever it is that a statistician does with columns of figures. The night before the series opened he guessed the winner of the morrow's game and his idea of what the score might be, and rang the bell. This caused a little local talk, so the next day he did it again and scored again. He then went on to predict the winners and the correct scores of the entire series, and, of course, that made him an expert of more than neighborhood renown.

The next year, of course, he was under pressure to guess the winners again and if he had stuck to his guesswork system he might have done less badly. But this time he had saved figures and comparative records and expert stories from the major league papers all season long, and he used this material in a serious study of the probabilities, the result being that he was not even close at any time. When he turned expert he discredited himself as an expert.

So it has been my custom for a long time not to try to dope the pennant races, and though it is only a modest little custom—nothing fancy, mind you and no cover charge—it's mine, anyway. If the worst comes and everything goes to smash it will still be mine and I can raise enough potatoes on it to live on.

How About It, Huh?

The thing I never could master in doping pennant races and world series is the matter of how much to allow on the negative side for the possibility that such a player as Joe Kuhel, the Senators' new first baseman, for instance, will come down with appendicitis about three weeks out, not forgetting the other factor of unexpected strength in the Red Sox, where almost any strength would be unexpected and a disturbing influence. How much should I allow for the possibility that a rather robust young man whom

CHICAGO CHANCES FADE IN DEFEAT OF CAPT. RODAK

BY HARVEY WOODRUFF.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 28.—Whatever chance Chicagoland boxers had of upsetting the precedent that a visiting team never has won one of the intercity tourneys was dissipated early in the evening in the lighter weight divisions in which New York took the first eight bouts. While the Gothamites were superior both in experience and skill in these classes, two chance blows, one of which resulted in a decision against Chicago's captain, probably was more costly than it appeared at the time. It certainly upset the morale of our squad.

After Albert Soukop had lost a close decision to Louis Salica in the second 112 pound bout, which our boys thought might have gone either way, and Johnny Ginter had been outfinished by Jimmy Martin, Capt. Leo Rodak was leading Johnny De Foe in the second 118 pound match when he stepped into a right cross which sent him to his haunches. This knockdown counted heavily in the reckoning, for, although Leo had a shade up to the time of the upset and giving blow for blow at the bell, the decision was correct enough.

Visitors Under Handicap.

Chicago's defeat cannot be blamed on close decisions. Rather, say it was the handicap which seems to attach to visiting amateur boxers in the intercity bouts. New York's team was better in the lighter classes than its lighter men of a year ago and perhaps not as good in the heavier divisions. Yet a year ago New York lost in Chicago, 13 to 3. In Chicago, Chicago's 1932 team, in advance, looked as good as that of a year ago—in a few spots better.

Visiting teams in all these tourneys have lacked, on the avearge, the aggressiveness of the home boys. Of course, they have the encouragement of home partisans, but Garden crowds on the whole have been fair.

At first, it was customary to blame home town judges for decisions, but with neutral arbiters appointed that cause of complaint, or rather excuse, was in part removed. So one is forced to the conclusion that the traveling or change of scene or sightseeing or something affects amateur boxers more than athletes of almost any other type.

Prove Their Gameness.

There was no lack of gameness by these Chicagoland boys; in fact, they fought even harder while the margin

20,841 WATCH NEW YORK WHIP CHICAGO BOXERS

First Nine Bouts Won by Easterners.

Glove schooling in Davenport, Ia., accounted for the third Chicago victory His opponent, Walter Norris, was battered and bleeding before the end of the second round and the fans were urging the referee to stop the fight. Rules of the contest, however, prevented the referee from stopping any match. That responsibility was invested in the chief second.

The greatest of the many Chicago disappointments was the defeat of Capt. Leo Rodak, intercity and international Golden Gloves champion in 1931.

Rodak, who had a shade in the first and third rounds, lost the decision because of a clean knockdown in the second. Johnny De Foe, his opponent, landed a right cross in the middle of the round that sprawled Rodak on the canvas under the ropes for a count of two. Leo came back gamely, but the impetuosity and aggressiveness of the New York champion was too much for him. Only by consummate ring generalship and bulldog courage did he ride out the gale in the stormy second round.

Klopack Flattens Commerton.

The cleanest knockout of the evening was scored by Gene Klopack, Chicago's second string heavyweight. From the start his opponent, George Commerton, fought himself out of one corner only to be smashed and battered into another. Klopack, after two minutes of the second round, caught the New Yorker with a right to the chin. Commerton dropped across the second strand of rope and eventually fell to the floor, where he was counted out.

Probably the most masterly demonstration of boxing skill was furnished by Mark Hough, New York's Negro middleweight champion. He stopped Charles Niego of Chicago in the second round. He gave a brilliant exhibition of how to slip, duck, roll and ride w[illegible] an opponent's blows. Just a tilt of the head or a squirm of the body at almost of Niego's wallops grazed by harmlessly. He anticipated and gauged nearly all of Niego's leads, taking them going away and making them spend their force. In the second round he caught Niego with a vicious left that sank deep in the stomach. Niego folded around the blow like a wet dishrag and sank to the canvas.

Smith Wins Bout, Loses Decision.

Adam Smith, Chicago heavyweight champion, whipped Jerry Wright, colored, to prove his right to the intercity championship, but the judges ruled otherwise. The fans shouted their disapproval, hundreds refusing to leave the building. Wright substituted for John Rutherford of Princeton university to keep his appointment with the Rockford baker boy. Smith staggered Wright with a right in the third round and would have finished him if the Negro had been willing to stand up and fight.

Julie Katz, flyweight runner-up, gave New York a victory in the first bout of the evening when he whipped Johnny Baltzer of Chicago by a close decision. Katz was taller, heavier, and had a longer reach. He used his physical advantages to pile up points in the first two rounds.

Louis Salica, New York's champion flyweight, gave his team another triumph when he outpointed Albert Soukop of Chicago. Salica had an edge in the first and last rounds, but was given a severe drubbing in the second. Soukop crashed a right against Salica's jaw in the second round that floored the New Yorker for a count of six.

Johnny Ginter, Chicago bantamweight, acquired an early lead over Jimmy Martin of New York, but let it slip away in the last round and lost the decision, making it three in a row for New York.

Joe Roman Knocked Down.

Chicago's hope of victory was blotted out when Sol Resinol, New York lightweight, whipped Danny Neenan, pride of Chicago's west side Irish. Neenan, like most of the Chicago fighters, was unable to protect in the final round an advantage acquired at the start. Neenan always was dangerous and was much the stronger when they exchanged at long range.

Giving a fine demonstration of how to slip, duck, roll and ride with an opponent's blows, Billy Hogan outpointed chubby Henry Rothier of Chicago. Just a tilt of the head or a squirm of the body and most of Rothier's blows grazed harmlessly by Hogan's head. Occasionally the Chicagoan would land a long left hook, but at no time was Hogan in distress.

Another colored boy, Richard Carter, gave New York its second win in the featherweight ranks and the sixth straight of the evening by polishing off Joe Roman of Chicago. Roman, after an impressive start, ran into a left hook that made his knees sag. As he started the descent Carter caught him with a right and the Chicagoan went down for a count of nine.

The crowd booed lustily when Barney Smith of New York was given the decision over Billy Celebron of Chicago. Smith was so groggy at the final bell he could hardly find his corner and had taken a drubbing most of the way.

Levinsky, Lena Sign for Walker Fight April 29

Mrs. Lena Levy, sister manager of King Levinsky, yesterday signed a contract for the Kingfish to meet Mickey Walker at the Chicago Stadium in a ten round bout April 29.

Although Jack Kearns, Walker's manager, last week signed a blanket contract for the former middleweight champion to engage in five fights for the Stadium, a hitch was developed. Kearns signed a contract calling for 35 per cent of the net receipts, and Mrs. Levy signed with the understanding that Levinsky will get as much as Walker. The Stadium corporation, however, will not hand the fighters more than 60 per cent between them, and Kearns must be talked into a 5 per cent cut.

JACK KILBOURNE STOPS TRAMBLIE IN FOURTH ROUND

Costas Vassis of Greece and Les Finucane of Chicago engaged in a slugfest for five rounds, with the Greek boy earning the decision at the end of the bout. Vassis scaled 159¾ and Finucane 157¾.

Billy Gladstone, Chicago, 138 pounds, won a hard five round bout from Johnny Panek, South Chicago, 143. The bout was close until the last round when Gladstone knocked Panek down for a nine count. Billy substituted yesterday for Jack Phillips, who failed to appear.

Jerry Crano, Chicago, 158¾ pounds, stepped Benny "Kid" Stanley, Chicago, 156, in the fourth round of the five round semi-final bout. Crano dropped Stanley four times before he was counted out.

Tuffy Griffith, local heavyweight, and Miss Helen Hayes were married yesterday by the Rev. Father Edward Dondanville at St. Thomas Aquinas church. The wedding was one of the largest of the year and was attended by numerous boxing, business, and political leaders. The bride was given away by her father, John J. Hayes. Tuffy, his bride, and his mother, Mrs. John A. Griffith, left last night for Sioux City, Ia., where his father is ill.

The manager's license of Leon See, manager of Primo Carnera, heavyweight boxer, was revoked and he was suspended indefinitely in National Boxing association territory yesterday by Gen. John V. Clinnin, chairman of the Illinois state athletic commission and president of the N. B. A. See paid a $1,400 fine to the Illinois commission last November with a New York check which returned from the offices of the International Boxing union marked insuficient funds. The penalty was inflicted by the Italian Boxing federation. The check was given to the Illinois board to permit Carnera to battle King Levinsky at the Chicago Stadium.

Blue Hits First Home Run; Sox Victors, 9 to 7

1932 unveiling. In the first inning Stewart, Kelly, and Langford singled, Stewart scoring. Two walks forced in Kelly.

The Sox tied the score in the second inning. With one down, Blue socked that No. 1 homer. Selph walked and Cissell sent a single to short left, putting Selph on third, but Bill was out when he made a silly attempt to reach second. Jolley singled to right, scoring Selph with the tying run.

Anderson Steals Home.

The 2 to 2 count prevailed until the first of the fifth when Anderson led off with a double to left, paused while Hayes lined to Brower, took third on Simons' tap to Minogue, and stole home.

An unusual accident led to the Sox suffering in the fifth. Brower walked with one out and then Langford topped one which was rolling towards the first base coacher's box in foul territory when suddenly it bounced into the playing field. Great consternation prevailed when Brower pulled up at second and Langford reached first. Atwood was called out on strikes, but Jones, Loepp, and Holman singled in succession and this barrage, combined with a double steal by Jones and Loepp and a throwing error by Hayes, brought the Steers' total for the inning to four runs.

The treatment the Sox accorded Adkins at the start of the seventh was nothing short of brutal. Caraway opened with a single to left and Anderson drove him home with a triple to right. Hayes singled to left, scoring Anderson, then Simons singled, Hayes going to third and Simons taking second when Jones juggled the ball. Campbell fanned, but Blue sent his third hit, a single to left, scoring Hayes and Simons. Selph tripled to right, scoring Blue, and came in himself while Brower was throwing out Appling.

This Act Has 'Em in Aisles.

The Sox furnished enough comic relief for a week in the Dallas seventh. Atwood sent up a high foul and Jolley gave it a great dance, but did not touch it when it came down. Atwood then singled to short and went to second when Appling threw the ball into the dugout. Jones reached second and Atwood stopped at third when Selph threw away Jones' grounder. The runners held their bases while Selph threw out Loepp.

Holman grounded to Caraway and when Pat threw to Blue, Atwood broke for home. Blue threw to Jolley in time to turn back Atwood. Smead barged down the line and when he threw to Selph, Atwood got past Smead before Smead could get into reverse. In the meantime Caraway was behind the plate picking up bats and Jolley's mask when someone shouted that Atwood was en route to the plate. So Pat dropped all the implements, reached the plate in a great stride, took the throw from Selph, and tagged Atwood. Thus Pat started and finished a prolonged double play and did some ground tending and mascot work in between times.

BROADWAY WON'T BE AS GAY MINUS THAT HARMONICA

Henry Rothier's Tunes Kept Glovers Happy.

BY FRENCH LANE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 28.—While the Chicago Golden Gloves team traveled from its hotel to Madison Square Garden tonight for the intercity bouts Henry Rothier of Davenport kept them in good cheer with some lively tunes on his now famous harmonica. Broadway will miss Henry and his harmonica when they go back to Davenport.

Among the front row spectators was Edgar A. Stevens of Evanston and Glencoe, who was heard frequently leading the cheering in his section for the Chicago boxers.

George Barton of Minneapolis, one of the neutrals who acted as a judge, reported that Golden Gloves events, in the Twin Cities, patterned after the Chicago-New York events, were a greater financial success than ever before. Judge L. N. Bloom of Cleveland, however, reported that the depression affected the Ohio city receipts.

Madison Square Garden, ordinarily late in filling by holders of reserved seats, attracted its crowd early lest the customers miss any of the bouts. The 21,000 seats had been sold for some time in advance.

Chicago trainers protested the wrapping within the gloves of the first six New York boxers. Inside the taping was a substance of about the durability of cement.

Thirty-five members of the Chicago Catholic Youths' organization's basketball team, wearing bright blue suits and white berets, marched in 10 minutes before the first bout started. They whooped it up for Chicago and are here to battle New York's finest basketeers later in the week. They were in charge of the Rev. Gerald Scanlan and Jack Elder.

A cloud of smoke hung over the ring. Quite a bit different than our well ventilated Chicago Stadium, where they're going to nominate the next President next June. Smoking is permitted only at amateur shows in New York. Light a torch when a pro pug is biffing and they send you up the river.

Among those who came down from West Point to see the bouts was Maj. Ralph Sasse of the Army football team and Athletic Director Philip Fleming. They were seated near President Merlin Aylesworth of the National Broadcasting company.

Bernard Gimbel, merchant, who originated in Vincennes, Ind., and whose boxing limelight was derived from friendship with Gene Tunney, occupied a ringside seat.

Mayor Jimmy Walker, who always attends these intercity Golden Gloves bouts fulfilled his reputation of always arriving late. He was not as late, however, as at many official municipal affairs. Near Mayor Jimmy was Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City.

Chicago boxers began to feel more at home after the fifth bout when the Garden management turned on the ice machinery in preparation for a Stanley cup hockey contest tomorrow night. That is what the stadium management did in the Coliseum on the night of the Golden Gloves finals, to the discomfort of the spectators.

C. E. Eldridge, one time Big Ten football official and sales manager of the Reo company when living in Lansing, Mich., was in the western contingent which had few chances to cheer. Paul Geyser, now of the Terminal Cab company, was with other men of the motor industry.

Pla-Mors Score Twice in 3d Period to Beat Duluth, 2-0

Kansas City, Mo., March 28.—(AP)—A pair of last period goals gave the Kansas City Pla-mors a 2 to 0 victory over the Duluth Hornets tonight in the second game of the American Hockey league semi-final playoffs.

The triumph, added to a 2 to 1 victory in the first game, gives the Pla-mors a commanding position for resumption of the four game series at Duluth.

The victory also gave Goalie Porky Levine of Kansas City, 13 shutouts for the season.

The first score was made midway in the third period with Ranger in the penalty box. Campbell carried the rubber down the ice and passed laterally to Goodman who counted on a hard 10 foot shot in the far corner of the cage.

was rolling up against them. In that respect there certainly was no complaint. That New York's lighter boys looked more experienced and acted it in the ring was just one of the results which may be reversed at some future time. Those of us who followed the team east have no criticism of the boys or regrets in their method of preparation.

We may be pardoned naturally for thinking Billy Celebron was entitled to the decision over Barney Smith, although the official verdict was the other way; that Soukop could have had the verdict over Salica, although it was very close; that Walter outfinished Bob Pastor, and for being confident that Adam Smith defeated Jerry Wright. These are not excuses, but just our thoughts due possibly to partisanship, except in the case of Adam Smith where even the crowd booed the verdict.

Ten Heavies on Fronton Card Tonight

The headliners are George Zaharias, 239 pound Greek, and Hans Kampfer, German, who are slated to go two falls out of three to a finish. They are meeting here for the third time, each gaining a decision in previous encounters.

George Is Heavier.

Zaharias has a 25 pound advantage over the German, but the latter's skill and speed are expected to offset that.

In the semi-final battle Kola Kwariani will meet Gino Garibaldi, the Italian youngster. Gino has been winning his matches here regularly, his last victim being Frank Bronowicz. Kola recently tugged for two hours with Hans Steinke.

O'Shocker Meets Newcomer.

Three other matches complete the bill. Pat O'Shocker is matched with Steve Sznosky, a newcomer from New York. Leslie Grimes makes his local début against Hans Bauer, Chicago veteran. George Vassell, a Greek, has replaced George Tragos, and will meet Bob Jesson of Minneapolis in the opening number at 8:15 o'clock. Tonight's card:

George Zaharias vs. Hans Kampfer.
Gino Garibaldi vs. Kola Kwariani.
Pat O'Shocker vs. Steve Sznosky.
Hans Bauer vs. Leslie Grimes.
Bob Jesson vs. George Vassell.

RUPPERTS PLAY KENOSHA.

The Ruppert Indoor Baseball team will play the Kenosha, Wis., team at the Rainbo Fronton Monday. In the first meeting of these two teams the Rupperts won, 1 to 0.

CLEVELAND PIN STAR GETS 731 TO LEAD A. B. C.

Chicagoans Miss First in Doubles by 8.

Detroit, Mich., March 28.—[Special.]—Otto Nitschke of Cleveland took first place in the singles division of the American Bowling congress tournament today with a 731 score. The Ohio veteran scored games of 245, 255, and 231 to top Alex Graham of New Philadelphia, O.

A number 8 pin error cost Johnny Sublosmy and Eddie Zajac the lead and more than likely the doubles championship. The Chicago pair, members of the John Scully five, which rolled into seventh place in the team event Sunday night with a 2,920 score, crashed through with 1,350, just 8 pins back of Charley Daw and Frank Benkovic of Milwaukee. Their games were 467, 400, and 483.

Shoots 727 Series.

Sublosky turned in the second high three game total of the tourney when he counted 247, 211, and 269 for a 727 series. Zajac missed the 8 pin in the second frame of the last game. He could have redeemed himself by adding a strike to a double in the tenth frame of the last game, but his ball was light, leaving the 5 pin standing. A full count would have placed the Chicago pair in the lead. Zajac's games were 220, 189, and 214. Sublosky, after an error in the second frame of the final game, smashed through with eight consecutive strikes.

Aurora and Chicago bowlers placed seventh and eighth, respectively, in the two man event.

Art Hower and Fred Schlicker of Aurora piled up 1,264 pins to take seventh. After getting 437 and 439 Hower and Schlicker fell off to 383 in their final effort. Hower totaled 674 on 248, 218, and 212, while Schlicker came through with 590 on 191, 223, and 176.

Louie Fratini and Frank Carney of Chicago were close behind with a 1,262 series on 452, 428, and 382 for eighth place.

Split Halts Carney.

Carney's 3-10 split in the final frame of the last game prevented the team from taking a higher berth. Fratini hit 678 on games of 257, 222, and 199, and Carney totaled 684 on games of 195, 203, and 183.

Fred Wilkening of Libertyville, Ill., went into seventh position in the singles when he toppled 690 pins on games of 253, 212, and 225.

Although the tournament has more than two weeks to run many of the country's best bowlers have yet to roll. Every winning score of last year's meet at Buffalo has been beaten.

Last year only one team beat the 3,000 mark, S. and L. Motors of Chicago taking the five man title with 3,013. Joe Voss Belters of Chicago tops the list now with 3,046. In the 1931 show Eddie Rafferty and Charley Reilly of Philadelphia won the doubles title with 1,316. Charley Daw and Frank Benkovic, Milwaukee aces, shot 1,358 Sunday.

Walter Lachowski captured the Buffalo singles title with 712. Nitschke now leads the list with 731. Mike Mauser, Youngstown, O., veteran, won the all events last year with 1,966. Al Rudinsky of Dover, N. J., leads the parade here with 1,973.

Tom McPherson topped the Chicagoans in the singles today. After a 187 opener he cut loose with a 251 game, despite a split in the fifth game. He finished with 202 and a 640 total. Harry Pratt registered 628; Mike Reith 613, and Art Skibbe, 615. Chicago scores:

A's Bid Farewell to Camp, but Braves Spoil Exit by 4-2 Win

Fort Myers, Fla., March 28.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics said farewell to Fort Myers and the 1932 training season here by dropping a game to the Boston Braves to day. The score was 4 to 2.

It was Connie Mack day in Fort Myers. The tall leader was escorted in front of a crowded grandstand and given a blue dressing gown.

The Braves pounced on Rube Walberg in the ninth inning and kept it up until they had four runs across.

Boston [N.]	000	000	004	5	3

DEAN PITCHES CARDS TO WIN.

Avon Park, Fla., March 28.—(AP)—Jerome [Dizzy] Dean, the St. Louis Cardinals' eccentric right hand pitching recruit, showed the class which made him the hurling sensation of the Texas league last season when he blanked the House of David in the five innings he was on the mound this afternoon. The Cards won 2 to 1.

St. Louis [N.]	000	020	000	2	9	3

YANKEES WIN, 12-8.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 28.—(AP)—Surviving a bad fourth inning, in which Walter Brown was slugged for seven runs, the New York Yankees today defeated Indianapolis of the American association, 12 to 8. The victory was the Yanks' ninth triumph in 14 games.

Sam Byrd, subbing for Babe Ruth, led the Yankees' attack with four of their 13 hits. One of the blows was a triple. Earl Combs and Ben Chapman also came through with timely home runs. Score:

New York	031	402	10*	12	13	3

PHILS WHIP ATLANTA, 5-2.

Atlanta, Ga., March 28.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Nationals defeated the Atlanta Southern association team, 5 to 2, today.

Chuck Klein and Hal Lee walloped home runs for the phils in the fourth inning, Klein sending in one man ahead of him. Morrison started on the mound for Atlanta. Elrod was driven out in the fourth and Bream relieved him. Score:

PIRATES WIN IN 13TH.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 28.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates won a thirteen inning thriller from the Detroit Tigers, 5 to 4, here today after Charlie Gehringer had tied the count for the Tigers with a home run in the ninth inning. Roy Johnson also contributed a home run to the Tiger cause.

It looked as if darkness might intervene when the Pirates forced across the winning run. Suhr walked, Piet sacrificed and reached third on Baughn's tap to Pitcher Herring. Then Grace's long fly to Lawrence let in the rally that broke the deadlock. Score:

RED SOX LOSE TO BEARS.

Savannah, Ga., March 28.—(AP)—Although given splendid pitching, the Boston Red Sox were unable to hit minor league hurling today and they dropped the opening tilt of a six game series with the Newark Bears of the International loop, 6 to 3.

Ed Durham and Bob Weiland worked in the box for the Sox and both showed great control, although the latter was nicked for a homer by Johnny Neun, who held down first base for the Boston Braves before dropping back to the International league. Score:

INDIANS PICK PITCHERS.

New Orleans, La., March 28.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians had a complete pitching staff today. After several weeks of juggling new talent, manager Peckinpaugh selected Oral Hildebrand, Howard Craghead and Monte Pearson to fill the three mound vacancies, and complete the lineup headed by Ferrell, Hudlin, Harder, Brown, Connally and Jablonowski. With release of Pinky Shoffner to Newark in the International, the Tribe, however, is left without southpaw help, considered likely to be the team's one pitching weakness. Belve Bean, Southern association flash, Winegarner and Lawson go to Toledo for seasoning.

GIANTS WALLOP SEALS.

San Francisco, March 28.—(AP)—New York's Giants got in some healthy batting practice here today in defeating the San Francisco Seals, 22 to 12.

The Giants smacked out 26 hits off the Coast league club pitchers and every one on the team but three late replacements got at least one.

Cubs Get Day Off; Spend It at Tiger Game

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 28.—Rest was prescribed for the Cubs again today, this being a sort of concession prior to starting their last week of conditioning with the aid of California sunshine.

The squad, after arriving from San Francisco this morning, was advised that no baseball was on the program mapped by Manager Hornsby, but most of the players, emulating the street car conductor who took a car ride on his off day, trooped out to Wrigley field, where the Detroit Tigers and the Pittsburgh Pirates were completing their spring series.

Tomorrow the Chicagoans will become more active. They'll open their own two game affair with the Tigers and then follow with four days of strife here against the Pirates. When this series is completed next Sunday evening, the two latter teams will hop a special train which will deliver them in time for exhibitions at Fort Worth and Dallas, Tex., on April 5 and 6.

Outfield Chief Concern.

The last week out here will be conducted much after the fashion of the recent nine day stay in the San Francisco territory. Hornsby's chief concern up there was to get some first hand information about the best possible outfield combination and to get his veteran pitchers in the mood to travel nine innings. It will be the same here.

There is nothing so far to indicate the pitchers will not be able to make good on the work prescribed for them. But the makeup of the outfield still is something of an annoyance.

It is obvious that Hornsby wants to keep Vin Barton in right field if possible. There has to be a long distance hitter somewhere in the middle of the batting order and Barton is the only one able to fill that part. But while he hits a long ball occasionally he doesn't do so well in the way of singles. His .238 average for the last half of the 1931 season is proof of this.

Barton Slow Thinker.

Barton also has the habit of missing signs and not using his head on the base lines. These are things Hornsby can't tolerate. He accepts errors as part of the game and says nothing about them, but looks upon boners as inexcusable offenses.

The dissatisfaction over Barton explains why Johnny Moore has been in right field most of the time in recent games. The Cubs have been nursing this young man along for several years, but he always has flopped as a hitter although having all the other essentials of a star. Hornsby hates to abondon hope in this case.

Moore will at least remain with the team until the 23 player limit becomes effective June 15, but it is probable that long before that date Lance Richbourg, the ex-Brave, will be regularly installed in right with Cuyler and Stephenson completing the fly chasing trio.

Malone to Pitch Today.

It will be Pat Malone's turn tomorrow to try himself over the nine inning route against the Tigers. He hasn't pitched that far as yet, although there is nothing ailing his arm. Root, Bush, Smith, and Grimes will be subjected to similar workouts in the subsequent games. Grimes has been taking things a bit easy out of respect to his 38 years, but the ease with which he bore down for six innings against the Mission club at San Francisco on Sunday was proof that he is just about ready for a strenuous summer.

Texas Net Team Easily Beats Illinois, 5 to 1

Austin, Tex., March 28.—(AP)—The university of Texas tennis team easily disposed of the University of Illinois netters here today, winning four singles and one doubles matches, while Illinois triumphed in one doubles event.

Just One More H Is Barry Wood Theme Song; It'll Be 10th

Cambridge, Mass., March 28.—(AP)—Barry Wood, Harvard's all America quarterback, started his quest for his tenth "H" today when he joined the Crimson's baseball squad.

A veteran for two seasons, Wood appears certain of gaining a regular infield berth. He has played shortstop and first base but Coach Fred Mitchell is undecided about the versatile star's position this season.

Wood has been awarded nine letters, including a minor "H" for service with the combined Harvard-Yale tennis forces against the Oxford-Cambridge delegation in the summer of 1929, at the end of his freshman year. His collection includes three varsity football letters, three varsity hockey letters and two baseball insignia.

WIFE GRANTED DIVORCE FROM GEORGE LOTT

Philadelphia, Pa., March 28.—[Special.]—Mrs. Abigail Allen Lott, who eloped to Elkton, Md., Oct. 14, 1930, with George M. Lott, Davis cup tennis star, received a divorce in Common Pleas court today.

The suit was brought on behalf of Mrs. Lott, then a minor, by her father, Ralph C. Allen of Abington, on Aug. 27, last. The grounds for the divorce were not revealed, all papers in the case having been impounded.

The elopment and marriage followed a brief courtship which began at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fitz Eugene Dixon in Elkins Park, where Mr. Dixon, who was captain of the Davis cup team, was entertaining the players.

MASSEY STOPS DUBLINSKY IN FOURTH ROUND

WHO'LL WIN BIG LEAGUE FLAGS? WELL, WHO WILL?

I do not even know will get sick three months from now, and do I put down some sort of asterisk or jim-dash at the bottom of the prediction to cover this possibility, as is done in the suburban time tables where it says, "Stops on signal only" or "Does not carry baggage"?

In the National league will this man Koenecke, the new outfielder of John McGraw's club, lend enough strength to the team, barring a slump in August, to offset the new power that Babe Herman will contribute to the Reds if he is not sent to the Cubs? And again, can I afford to ignore the lesson of the 1915 series, whatever that was, and does this all make sense and if not, where is my mistake?

I suppose I needn't have gone to all this length to explain why I am not picking the pennant winners this year, or doping the flag races, as we call it. I could have said it all in the quick New England phrase "not knowin', can't say," but that never would have brought me down to here.

Try the

on your unattractive HAIR!

YOU may be perfectly dressed, you may be naturally handsome, but unless your hair is well-groomed you are not as good-looking as you might be.

And no one can have an attractive head of hair with a tight, dry scalp that shuts off the natural oils.

Your scalp needs this 60-second workout! Twice a week. It needs Vitalis and massage to stimulate the circulation and provide the oils that nourish the hair and smarten its appearance.

Just a quick, hard rub with the fingertips to get Vitalis deep into the roots. Then a vigorous brushing. In 60 short seconds you have done your looks a favor that will win the approval of all your friends.

No more worrying about the threat of loose dandruff and falling hair. No more dull and unkempt hair. And no more stubborn, upstanding hair!

Start today with Vitalis. Get a bottle from your druggist or a regular application from your barber. It's just what your hair needs to be healthy, rich-looking, and always well-groomed—without a hint of that "patent-leather" look!

Ask your Barber . . .

You'll never get such a good view of your hair as your barber does. And nobody can tell you better what it needs. Don't ignore expert advice. When he says "Vitalis?" you'd better say "Yes!"

ASK QUICK BANK TRIALS AS COURT CLEARS DOCKETS

Criminal Judges Catch Up with Grand Jury.

Criminal cases can now be tried the day after indictments are returned, Chief Justice Harry Fisher of the Criminal court announced to his associates at a meeting yesterday in his chambers.

This is the first time in more than 25 years that the court's dockets have been cleaned up so that the judges are treading on the heels of the grand jury, the chief justice said. He credited the decision allowing juries to be waived and the work of Public Defender Bachrach for the present excellent condition of the dockets.

State's Attorney Swanson, when apprised of Chief Justice Fisher's statement, said he wished to congratulate the judiciary for having brought the number of pending cases down to 694 from the usual 2,000 or more indictments awaiting disposition at this time of the year. He pointed out, however, that for several months he has been practically begging the courts to allow him to proceed with his bank prosecutions.

Time Required for Bank Trials.

"Bank cases are of necessity long drawn out affairs," Mr. Swanson said. "The entire financial structure of a bank must be shown to a jury and this requires the introduction in evidence of hundreds and perhaps thousands of exhibits.

"I reorganized my staff soon after the first of the year to be prepared to start immediately a drive against those indicted in bank cases. My assistants have announced themselves ready to proceed in every bank case called for trial.

"The cases have all been postponed until after primary day because the judges say the remarks made by one of their associates, who is a candidate for state's attorney, have been prejudicial and the defendants could not get a fair trial at this time."

This reference apparently was to Judge Michael Feinberg.

It was pointed out at the state's attorney's office that if each of the seven Criminal court judges, who now have little work to do, would undertake at once to try practically nothing but bank cases, they would be kept busy for months. More than fifty indictments are pending in bank cases and others are to be returned.

Up to Courts, Ayers Says.

Assistant State's Attorney Henry Ayers, who is in direct charge of the bank cases, pointed out that after indictments are returned he cannot proceed further without the coöperation of the courts, which have the power to order a defendant to trial or grant continuances.

It was practically agreed yesterday that Judge Thomas Taylor will preside at the trial of John Bain, his two sons, and three other defendants.

Judge Feinberg yesterday signed orders whereby depositors of two closed banks will receive their first payments. A 40 per cent payment was ordered for depositors of the Central Oak Park State bank and one of 10 per cent for depositors of the Elmwood Park State bank.

H. L. EHRICH, ART COLLECTOR, DIES OF HEART ATTACK

New York, March 28.—[Special.]—Word was received here tonight that Harold Louis Ehrich, head of the Ehrich galleries, fell dead shortly before midnight in the Manor hotel at Pinehurst, N. C., where he had gone for a week's rest. Death was attributed to heart disease.

Mr. Ehrich was born in New York in 1880, the son of the late Louis R. and Henriette Minzie Ehrich. He was graduated from Yale in the class of 1902. He spent his entire career in the collection of art and was considered one of the world's foremost authorities on the paintings of the old masters. He bought and sold many of the most celebrated oils in the world.

Perhaps the most notable of Mr. Ehrich's importations was Romney's famous portrait of Master Tennant of Staffordshire, painted in 1789, and known as the Romney "Blue Boy," the second of the so-called "Blue Boy" portraits ever to come to the United States, the first being the famous Gainsborough canvas which is in the Huntington collection in California.

LESLIE M. SHAW WILL BE BURIED AT DENISON, IOWA

Washington, D. C., March 28.—[Special.]—Leslie M. Shaw, 84, who was secretary of the treasury under President Roosevelt and before that attained national prominence as governor of Iowa, died at the Wardman Park hotel early today. Death was due to an attack of pneumonia.

Funeral arrangements include services at the residence at 3 p. m. tomorrow. Burial will be at Denison, Ia., his former home. He is survived by his widow, a daughter, Mrs. John McMillin of New York, and a son, Earl B. Shaw of Milwaukee, Wis.

Mr. Shaw was called to the post of secretary of the treasury in 1902, by President Roosevelt. He occupied the cabinet seat until 1907, leaving Washington for New York as president of the old Carnegie Trust company.

Osage Leader Dead

BACON RIND, 84, OSAGE CHIEF, IS CANCER VICTIM

He was one of the last of the imperious old figures among the American Indians who made grudging concessions to the ways of white civilization.

Catholic funeral services will be held Wednesday at the Church of the Immaculate Conception and afterward the Osages will bear the former chief of the Wah-ti-an-kah band of their tribe to the cemetery for native burial services.

He was a tireless worker for his fellow Osages during their years of poverty in the wild hill country that comprised the Osage reservation, and their unfailing spokesman before the Great White Father in Washington after discovery of oil made them wealthy.

GETS 6 MONTHS FOR SHORT WAVE RADIO IN AUTO

What is believed to be the first conviction under the new state law prohibiting the use of short wave radio receiving sets in automobiles was obtained yesterday in the Boys' court, where Judge J. William Brooks sentenced Henry Herbert, 22 years old, 5242 Keating street, to six months in the Bridewell and fined him $500 under the new law.

The measure was designed to prevent bandit gangs from carrying the sets to warn them of police alarms of their activities. Herbert was charged with driving a radio equipped car for a bandit gang, but police were unable to obtain any identifications of him in the holdups which the gang committed.

His brother, Walter, 20 years old; Joseph Robeck, 22 years old, 3615 Parnell avenue, and Tony Warak, 21 years old, 3409 South Union avenue, were the other members of the gang. Judge Brooks held Robeck and Warak to the grand jury on twelve charges of robbery, and Walter Herbert on thirteen charges.

FUNERAL IS HELD FOR H. A. BUTZOW, CIVIL WAR VET

Funeral services for Henry A. Butzow, civil war veteran and friend of Gen. U. S. Grant, were held at Watseka yesterday. The American Legion conducted the services. Mr. Butzow died on Saturday at the age of 98 years.

Born in Germany, Mr. Butzow attended the universities of Rostock and Berlin. At the age of 19 years he went to sea on an emigrant ship. After several voyages he came to the United States and was employed on the Utica and Black River railroad in New York. A short time later he came to Chicago. In 1858 he was selling cattle in Chicago market and on one occasion drove a herd of 185 cattle down State street.

Gen. Grant mentioned Mr. Butzow in his memoirs as his companion during the riots at St. Louis which preceded the outbreak of the civil war. He enlisted in the 25th Illinois volunteer infantry and served under Grant at the start of the war. He took part in Sherman's march to the sea. He was wounded at Peach Tree Creek.

Among the surviving relatives of Mr. Butzow in Chicago are a daughter, Bertha, and three grandchildren Frank E. Butzow, Ernest H. Butzow, and Kathryn Butzow.

STANDARD OIL OF INDIANA HIT BY TRADE CHAOS

BY O. A. MATHER.

Chaotic conditions in the petroleum industry last year resulted in a sharp decline in earnings of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana. But the situation of the big oil companies has been so fully set forth in reports of a number of companies that further adverse earnings statements cause no surprise.

Net earnings of Standard Oil of Indiana for 1931 were $17,590,000, according to a preliminary statement made public yesterday by President Edward S. Seubert. This was equivalent to $1.04 a share on the 16,911,416 shares outstanding at the end of the year. Net earnings for 1930 were $46,371,437, or $2.73 a share on 16,996,595 shares.

While last year's earnings are less than half of those in 1930, they are "net" after heavy charge-offs. They are figured after depreciation, depletion, amortization and federal income and foreign taxes, the latter is part estimated. Moreover, they are figured after adjustment of inventory of petroleum products to conform to the principal of valuation at the lower of cost or market prices.

Consolidated Report.

The current earnings estimate, according to Mr. Seubert, represents a consolidation with the earnings of the parent company of its proportionate share in the earnings of subsidiary and associated companies, including Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company, Midwest Refining company, Stanolind Oil and Gas company, Stanolind Pipe Line company, Stanolind Crude Oil Purchasing company and others.

More complete details regarding 1931 operations and the company's financial status at the end of the year are being assembled, Mr. Seubert said, and will be announced in connection with the stockholders' annual meeting on May 5.

The 1931 figures show that Standard Oil of Indiana did not fully earn its dividends, which were 50 cents a share in the first two quarters and 25 cents in the last two quarters of the year. Therefore, total dividend payments were approximately $25,400,000 and it was necessary to draw on surplus for about $7,800,000. Total surplus at the end of 1930 was $92,281,647.

CHEAP BUT SCARCE

Money is cheap but it is not plentiful. The banks are willing to make commercial loans that are speedily self-liquidating, but there is small demand for such loans in the present dull state of business. On the other hand, the banks are not willing to make loans for purposes that smack of speculative expansion. They still have plenty of "frozen" loans as a heritage of wild speculation in securities and real estate only a few years ago.

The paradox in the present credit situation was illustrated yesterday. The New York Federal Reserve bank took another step in the program of the reserve authorities to make money rate abnormally cheap. The bank reduced its buying rate on bankers' acceptances, a form of commercial credit of particular importance in financing foreign trade, to 2½ per cent for maturities up to 120 days. This represents a reduction of ⅛ of 1 per cent for the shorter maturities and ¼ of 1 per cent for the longer ones.

This is the first change in the New York Reserve bank's buying rate for bankers' bills since Feb. 26, the day following the reduction in the bank's rediscount rate from 3½ to 3 per cent. Therefore there were guesses yesterday whether the current reduction is the forerunner of another cut in the rediscount rate. However, yesterday's reduction in acceptance rates merely brought the reserve bank's rate in line with prevailing open market rates.

Contraction in Credit.

On the other hand, the weekly statement of the federal reserve bank showing the position of the large city banks which make weekly reports shows further contraction in credit being extended by them. During the week ended March 23 these banks reduced their commercial loans by $58,000,000 and curtailed their loans on securities by $76,000,000. They reduced their investment in government securities by $65,000,000, but increased their investment in other securities by $14,000,000. One reason for the contraction of loans was the fact that their combined net demand and time deposits declined $76,000,000. These banks increased their borrowings from the federal reserve banks by $6,000,000.

U. S. Cutting Deeper Into Income Melon

BY SCRUTATOR.

In 1929 the national income was nearly 90 billion dollars and the cost of governments—federal, state, and local combined—was $12,824,000,000. In 1931 the national income was a little more than 52 billion dollars and the cost of governments had risen to approximately $14,000,000,000.

If prosperity means an excess of income over expenses, then it is easy to see one big reason for its delayed return. Governments are taking an ever increasing proportion of the national income, leaving less for the nation to spend in the normal course of business.

Government expenditures this year will weigh more heavily than ever unless they are drastically cut, for the very good reason that the national income thus far is below the level of a year ago.

Rail Earnings.

The bureau of railway economics, for example, has just released figures showing that in January, 1932, railway earnings were only eight-tenths of one per cent on the property investment, compared with 2.34 per cent in January, 1931. Net railway operating income dropped 65.9 per cent in that period, whereas taxes declined only 9.4 per cent.

Dividing the figure for national income in 1931 by the 14 millions representing the cost of governments, we find that 26.7 per cent of the national income last year was spent by political bodies.

In private business when income drops an attempt is made to cut expenses accordingly. Had expenditures of governments last year been reduced so that they consumed the same proportion of national income as in 1930, they would have totaled only $10,594,000,000. A reduction of 24 per cent would have been necessary to obtain that end.

For Other Years.

To show what 1931 expenditures of governments would have been had they been the same proportion of national income as in other specified years, the following table is presented:

1913	$ 4,773	66
1915	5,454	61
1923	7,028	50
1926	6,818	51
1929	7,500	46
1930	10,594	24

"Lack of elementary business management in the conduct of the great majority of our governmental units.

"Demands of various well organized groups for governmental relief.

"Widespread intrusion of the government into the field of private enterprise, accompanied by the creation of needless, expensive bureaus, commissions, and investigators.

"Too much legislation."

Cost of Setting Values.

As an illustration of the way in which public bodies waste not only the money that they take from taxpayers, but the funds of private industry as well, the following is quoted from a recent address by Alexander H. Elder, general solicitor for the Central Railroad of New Jersey:

"The valuation provisions of the commerce act have occupied much of the time of the commission since 1913 and have cost the commission about $40,000,000 and the railroads about $138,000,000, making a total of $178,000,000.

"While there is a natural reluctance on the part of the commission to admit publicly that the whole undertaking has been a costly public nuisance, this fact seems reasonably clear since no one can suggest any practical use for the valuation data gathered, and a chief problem of the commission today seems to be what should be done with the several hundred employés still retained in the commission's valuation work."

SENATE QUIZ THREATENS U. S. RAILWAY LOAN

Borah, Couzens Hit Mo. Pacific Deal.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 28.—[Special.]—Possibility of a senatorial investigation of the Reconstruction Finance corporation loomed today. Senator Borah [radical Rep., Idaho] gave notice that tomorrow he intends to say a few things about that corporation's recent loan to the Missouri Pacific railroad to enable that railroad to pay off its debts to New York banks.

Senator Couzens [Rep., Mich.], member of the senate interstate commerce committee, joined in the indictment of this transaction, which, they both agreed, had received only the reluctant O. K. of the interstate commerce commission.

Senator Robinson [Dem., Ark.], leader of the minority forces which formed an emergency coalition with the Republicans to speed the passage of this bill through congress earlier this year, added his strength to any coming investigation with this statement: "I think an effort to control the interstate commerce commission in this way is worthy of consideration."

Banks to Get Share.

Of the $12,800,000 advance granted to the Missouri Pacific railroad by the finance corporation $5,800,000 will go directly to J. P. Morgan & Co., Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and the Guaranty Trust company of New York in payment of half a joint loan of $11,700,000 made to the railroad by those banks.

After putting into the record a newspaper account of the commission's admitted reluctance in approving the loan, Senator Borah said:

"I am informed that every form of pressure within reason and decency was used to bring about this decision upon the interstate commerce commission. I think it worthy of those who supposed the Reconstruction Finance corporation was created for that specific purpose and not for the purpose of enabling the banks that desired use of money to have the advantage of the public treasury of the United States."

Johnson Talks of Bankers.

Senator Johnson [Rep., Cal.] injected the hope that tomorrow's speeches would have something to say "about government of, for, and by international bankers."

"What I have in mind," replied Mr. Couzens, "is not so much from the international bankers as it is the Van Sweringens and the treasurer of the Republican national committee (Joseph R. Nutt), who have been more effective in this than the international bankers."

Then Robinson pointed out that the interstate commerce commission by statute of the Reconstruction Finance corporation is required to approve all railroad loans; that it is a legal, not a perfunctory obligation.

Senator Robinson Wonders.

"Now it appears," Senator Robinson remarked, "that in the case of this loan the interstate commerce commission actually disapproved the loan, but in some way was induced to give its legal endorsement. One is led to wonder how such action was brought about. The very object aimed at in this approval statute was just what was not accomplished in this case."

Referring to press accounts of a conference between the railroad executives, corporation members, and at least one member of the commission prior to the granting of the loan, Senator Couzens concluded today's discussion with the suggestion that "the senators can draw their own inference from that."

WESTERN UNION HAS $1,863,184 AS DEFICIT AFTER ITS DIVIDENDS

New York, March 28.—(AP)—After paying dividends of $7,837,683, the Western Union Telegraph company in its annual report for 1931 shows a deficit of $1,863,184. This compares with a surplus, after dividends of $1,058,688 at the end of 1930.

The company, as previously indicated in the preliminary statement, had a net income for the year, before dividends, of $5,974,499, which compares with $9,247,032 for 1930. Current assets as of Dec. 31 aggregated $20,612,101 and current liabilities $13,175,078. Of the assets cash and equivalent included $6,384,365, against $13,320,057 in the previous year.

Gross operating revenues for the last year totaled $108,736,948, compared with $130,581,858 in 1930. The company's surplus, after dividends and adjustments, amounted to $93,333,051.

President Newcomb Carlton said in the report:

"The heavy burden of taxation," he said, "continues to grow. Taxes levied for 1931 against the Western Union by state and local authorities in the United States, despite contraction of business, materially exceeded corresponding taxes for 1929, and equaled $3.36 for each share of capital stock."

Russia Calls Self Second to U. S. in Trade, Income

New York, March 28.—(AP)—Russia is ranked by the Economic Review of the Soviet Union, published by the Amtorg Trading corporation, as second only to the United States in volume of industrial output and national income. On the basis of data issued by the German Economic Research institute the magazine says, the Soviet Union has advanced since 1928 from fifth place among the nations in industrial output to second place, passing Germany, France and Great Britain. Their national income in 1931 was placed at 37.8 billion rubles in 1926-'27 prices, or at 25.5 billions rubles in prewas prices, estimated as nearly double the 1913 figures and in excess of the pre-crisis figure in Germany, France, and Great Britain.

CHASE OFFICIAL PUT ON GOODYEAR RUBBER BOARD

New York, March 28.—(AP)—The election of R. L. Clarkson to the board of directors of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company today was interpreted in Wall street as another important step in the expansion of Chase National bank interests in leading American industries.

Mr. Clarkson is president of Chase Securities corporation, investment banking affiliate of the Chase National bank.

Mr. Clarkson's election to the board marks the first time that Mr. Chase has obtained direct representation. It was said, however, that Chase had widened its influence in Goodyear, which ranks as the world's largest rubber company, as a result of aid extended last year in the form of loans to the Eaton-Otis interest of Cleveland.

FAVORS ENDING OF RAIL SHORT HAUL BUSINESS

Boston, Mass., March 28.—(AP)—Chairman Henry C. Attwill of the department of public utilities today said the short hauling business of the railroads had become so unprofitable he favored their doing only long hauling express business.

Attwill was invited by the legislative committee on transportation to give his opinions on the matter of competition between buses and railroads, a matter which the committee was considering. The chairman also said he favored having railroad freight stations not nearer than five miles apart and abandonment of intervening stations.

Attwill said buses on short runs were "making the trains look sick," and there was no doubt many short railroad lines were operated at a loss.

Dollar Sinks Deeper Into Tax Tangle

New York, March 28.—A further sharp fall in the dollar occurred today as European selling, based on the delay of congress in framing a tax measure to balance the budget, poured into this market from abroad.

In terms of United States money the Franch franc soared above the gold export point to the highest price witnessed since last Oct. 10, while Dutch, Swiss, and Belgian exchanges all advanced to within a few points of the levels at which gold could profitably be withdrawn from New York for shipment to those countries. The pound sterling again led the advance with an extreme gain of 5¼ cents to $3.83¼, the highest quotation since Oct. 31.

German Marks Also Rise.

German marks again duplicated their high for the year of 23.92 cents made on Saturday and not previously equaled since the last week of 1919, but closed at 23.83 cents, up 1 point on the day. The Scandinavian exchanges followed sterling, to which they are linked, with extreme advances of 36 to 66 points, which lifted them to the highest prices since the week of Nov. 21 last.

The full gains were not retained to the close of trading, but final prices on all important European currencies were substantially above Saturday's closing levels. Sterling closed at $3.82⅛, up 4⅛ cents; the franc at 3.94¼ cents, up a point, having sold at one time at 3.94⅞ cents, up 1⅝ points, and about ¼ point above the gold export level. Guilders finished at 40.44 cents, up 6 points, and only 2 points below the high for the day.

To Pay 30 Millions.

The British treasury will pay off $30,000,000 in bills due tomorrow. Notice has been given to the 110 banks which participated in the $200,000,000 credit arranged here last August under the management of J. P. Morgan & Co.

This repayment, with the $150,000,000 taken up March 21, will leave outstanding only $20,000,000 British treasury bills in this markeet and these which are due April 5, also are expected to be rid off without renewal.

Since the formal notice of repayment received by the banks did not ask for the return of any part of the banking commission, as was the case when the $150,000,000 bills were paid March 21, the effect will be to leave available for the British treasury $50,000,000 of the original $200,000,000 until August, for the repayment of the $30,000,000 due tomorrow and the $20,000,000 due April 5 will not cancel the credit line.

It is not likely, especially under present conditions of worldwide confidence in sterling, that the British treasury will need to use the remainder of the credit prior to the expiration date. The $150,000,000 repayment of March 1 took the form of redemption of bills to the amount of $120,000,000 due on that date and $30,000,000 of the $50,000,000 due April 5, which were anticipated.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 28.—Wall street still mourned and refused to be comforted today over the erring ways of congress. The growing threat of another soldier bonus, the move to raise new tariff walls as a source of much needed revenue and above all the increasing fear that insurgent congressmen may block all efforts to balance the budget has steeped the district in the deepest gloom. Alarmed observers are beginning to voice fears that nobody dreamed of entertaining a few months ago.

The stock market naturally is going from bad to worse in the circumstances. Scores of issues of all descriptions went to new bear market lows on declines of from 1 to 5 points. The railroad shares broke through their "triple bottoms" in a group and the industrials and utilities kept their followers generally on the anxious seat. Much of the selling was for bear account, but much more of it, as even the most hopeful observers were bound to admit, represented discouraged liquidation by holders who see no reason to count on improvement in the immediate future.

Find Going Hard.

Group activities melted into each other for the most part, one division faring about like another. A few individual issues, however, found the going somewhat harder than the rest and set themselves apart with sharper losses on the day.

Coca Cola was pressed for sale and sold down about 5 points, but later recovered more than half of its loss. Associated Dry Goods second preferred, selling for the first time this year, took a nosedive of 21½ points on a deal of 100 shares and International Business Machine, with a government anti-trust suit to worry over, dropped 4 points. Colorado and Southern felt the blight of a thin market and gave up nearly 7 points.

Sells at New Low.

Kreuger & Toll had another one of its trying days and sold to a new low of 50 cents a share on heavy liquidation. One block of 50,000 shares was dumped overboard at the new minimum in the last hour of trading.

Heavy selling appeared in American Telephone during the forenoon and forced that utility favorite to within

MIDDLE WEST'S REVISION IDEA AFFECTS STOCK

Edison Shares Higher in Market Here.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Securities of the Middle West Utilities company showed varying reactions yesterday to the proposal for a financial reorganization as contained in the company's annual report. Debentures of the company moved higher on the New York curb on the strength of the news that the directors are considering a plan to "raise sufficient new capital to retire the gold notes."

The common stock, however, declined to a new low price of $1 a share as it became apparent that the reorganization program would call for a scaling down of the stock capitalization. Large blocks of the stock came into the market and transactions in the issue mounted to a total of 46,300 shares for the day. The final quotation of $1 represented the low for the day.

Speculate on Outcome.

How the common stockholders will fare in the reorganization was a matter of lively speculation yesterday in La Salle street. The nebulous character of the program at the present make any generalization untimely. Some observers feel that the eventual success will depend largely on the ability of the company to profitably dispose of some of the operating properties.

This uncertainty over the exact nature of the plan was reflected in a further recession in the company's 6 per cent preferred stock sold down to $5.50 and closed only slightly above its low. The relatively more favorable position of the debenture holders caused sharp rise in all series of the company's notes in New York. The 1932 series, maturing in June, advanced nearly 5 points on spirited movement. Later maturities were also higher, with net gains off 3 to 4 points.

Edison Shares Higher.

Commonwealth Edison shares made considerable progress on the upside on the strength of the statement by Samuel Insull giving an exposition of the affairs and investments of the company's affiliate, Commonwealth Subsidiary corporation. The issue was bid up over 3 points in the face of a generally declining market. Although the big Insull operating companies have not shared the unfortunate experiences of the two investment trusts and Middle West Utilities, they have not been spared by the gossips who thrive in times of adversity. The Insull statement was obviously intended to counteract prevalent opinion that all properties were in the same boat.

EXCHANGE BUYS SEATS

The Chicago stock exchange has bought another of its own seats, according to notice posted yesterday. This makes a total of five memberships which have been bought up by the exchange. Seats sold at the lowest prices since the pre-bull market era Saturday, when a membership was transferred at $4,000.

It is understood that asset value of seats, based on current market values of government bonds owned by the exchange, is in excess of $5,000. Whether the exchange will retire the seats bought up has not been decided, it is reported. The memberships purchased may be canceled, resold, or held in the treasury.

WEAK TONE IN COTTON; PRICES OFF SHARPLY

Cotton markets were all weak, with very little support, and prices at their lowest were off around $1 to $1.50 a bale in New Orleans and New York as compared with Thursday's close. While in Chicago, which was open on Saturday, it was off 11 to 13 points. July in New York in the first half hour dropped to 6.48c, a new low on the present movement, reaching the lowest since early last December. Liverpool was strong, and there was heavy liquidation, possibly some of the selling coming from abroad. Japanese interests were also heavy sellers of May, October, December, and January.

There was also selling by Wall street and the south. Distant months were sold by commission houses in general, and a small amount of price fixing buying was recorded as prices receded. Trade news was unimportant. Spots were off 30 points in New York to 6.30c; New Orleans, 28 points lower to 6.25c; and Galveston and Houston were 6.20c. Prices follow:

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, March 28.—(AP)—COTTON GOODS—Opened the week very quiet. No change was reported in rayons from the quiet of last week. Burlaps were firmer following higher sterling. Silk continued slow. Fair sales of silk goods were reported for immediate delivery. Additional lines of wool goods for men's wear for fall are being shown.

WILLIAM ODELL JR. BUYS RESIDENCE ON ASTOR STREET

Purchases House from Mrs. Harold Strotz.

BY AL CHASE.

William R. Odell Jr., assistant treasurer of the International Harvester company, yesterday purchased the three story residence at 1250 Astor street, facing Union square, from Mrs. Harold C. Strotz, formerly Maxine Stresenreuter Culver, for an undisclosed consideration. The house stands on a site fronting twenty-two feet on Astor street, with a depth of 101 feet. The purchase price was not disclosed, but the property was bought subject to an incumbrance of $25,000.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mr. Odell, who lives at 540 Crab Tree lane, Lake Forest, purchased the property for investment, according to Frank B. Schwarer, attorney for him in yesterday's transaction. Sudler & Co. were the only brokers in the deal. Mrs. Strotz is occupying the house under a lease which expires shortly. The property is just south of and adjoining the tall apartments known as 1260 Astor street, which are at the southwest corner of Astor and Goethe streets.

Several Loop Leases.

Yesterday's loop realty market was conspicuous for its leases. Norman Jabor, formerly with the Kandela Linen shop, 8 North Michigan avenue, has leased the store at 61 East Washington street, in the Pittsfield building, for five years on a minimum guarantee and percentage basis. He will operate a lace, infants' wear, and linen shop. V. A. Bredberg of Ross & Browne was broker.

The Sherman Hat company has leased the third floor at 59-65 East Randolph street and Allen Hats, Inc., have taken the fourth floor of the same building for a term of years, according to Harmon L. Waterstone of Frankenstein & Co. The Uhlein Real Estate company is lessor.

Mr. Waterstone also reports having leased the double store and basement at 67-69 East South Water street to the Lincoln Milling company, and first floor space in the Garland building for restaurant purposes to Henry J. Grossfeld for six years at an annual minimum rental of $6,000, plus a percentage on excess sales.

On Boul Mich.

Strand Millinery, Inc., has leased the store at 222 North Michigan avenue, until resently occupied by Jaeger. The quarters now occupied by the Strand concern, at the northwest corner of Michigan avenue and East South Water street, have been leased for a term of years by the Bohn Refrigerator company, now in the Lake Michigan building, as told in the early editions of THE TRIBUNE on March 17. Henry E. Doney of McMenemy & Martin and William O. Trainer were brokers in the Bohn lease.

Harold H. Egan & Co., agents of the Midland building, report having closed leases comprising an area of 6,000 square feet with the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance company, Black & Eaton Mortgage company, Castenholz & Dirrmar, and the Fitch Publishing company.

James J. Carroll of Swan, Lorish & Caspers will speak on "Present Day Problems of Property Management" this evening at 8 o'clock at the weekly session of the Real Property institute, under the auspices of the Cook County Real Estate board, at 100 North La Salle street.

56 RAILROADS' EARNINGS BETTER DURING FEBRUARY

More Favorable than Recent Months.

Aided by several factors, including the wage cut, the one additional working day and further curtailment in operating expenses, the railroads made a more favorable comparative showing for February than in any recent month. The first fifty-six roads to report had net operating income of $16,742,000 for February, a decrease of 27.2 per cent, in comparison with the results of the like 1931 period. The January net operating income of these carriers was 65.9 per cent less than in the previous year.

Gross revenue, however, reflects little improvement, still running more than 21 per cent below that of a year ago. Gross revenues in February totaled $196,867,000, against $249,903,000 in February, 1931.

Baltimore and Ohio Gains.

The February statement of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad shows net operating income of $1,402,591, approximately double the 1931 figure, despite a 20 per cent decrease in gross revenue. In achieving such a favorable result, all operating expenses, but chiefly transportation and maintenance, were cut drastically.

Gross earnings totaled $10,799,264, against $13,549,378 for 1931, a decrease of $2,750,114. Operating expenses were $8,398,273 compared with $11,772,914 a year ago, a cut of $3,374,641. Net revenue from railway operations totaled $2,400,991, an increase of $624,527, while net operating income amounted to $1,402,591, against $713,568 last year, an upturn of $689,023.

Chicago and North Western railway reported February net operating income of $181,641. This was an improvement over the previous month when the road had a net operating deficit of $272,737. In the comparable month last year net amounted to $383,785. Gross reven· last month was $6,024,868, compared with $5,964,354 in the preceding month, and $7,891,125 in February, 1931.

Atchison Does Better.

The report of the Atchison system showed February net operating revenue of $92,.306 against a deficit of $125,901 in January, and $1,120,810 in the same month last year. February gross was $10,768,108, compared with $10,583,985 in January, and $13,186,844 in February last year.

The Pennsylvania's February operating net was $2,629,499, against $2,664,510 in the preceding month, and $2,697,374 in the comparable period of 1931. Gross was $26,080,828 compared with $29,634,963 in January and $36,150,765 in February, 1931.

Rock Island reported a deficit of $787,671. This was an improvement over the previous month when the road had a deficit of $1,230,562 and compares with a loss of $243,615 in February last year.

Other roads reporting February net operating income with comparisons with last year were:

CANADIAN PACIFIC REPORTS

MONTREAL, March 28.—(AP)—The Canadian Pacific Railway company, in its 1931 report issued today, discloses a deficit of $8,326,225 after dividends. This is comparable with a surplus at the end of 1930 of $136,786.

The report cites a year "marked by drastic economies" and an equally drastic reduction in business. Gross earnings for the year totaled $142,337,648, against $180,900,804 in the previous twelve months. Net operating revenue, before charges and dividends, amounted to $25,682,872, compared with $38,248,658 in 1930. The reduction in revenues, the report states, "is accounted for by the decreased movement in all branches of traffic. No enterprises have been hit harder by the world-wide depression than the railway and express companies of Canada and the United States."

The report cites a reduction in working expenses during the year of $27,219,350. There was a total pay roll saving of about $9,000,000 yearly effected by the 10 per cent cut in salaries early in 1931 of all officers and employes. Freight earnings for the year decreased $24,427,239; passenger earnings, $8,428,121, and miscellaneous earnings, $7,368,791 during the year.

FEAR OF LA GUARDIA TRANSFER TAX IDEAS HIT STOCK EXCHANGE

New York, March 28.—The fears of New York Stock exchange brokers that a vigorous effort would be made by Rep. F. H. La Guardia and his aides to obtain the passage of a bill which would increase the federal stock transfer levy from 2 cents a hundred shares to a quarter of one per cent of the selling price was reflected today in a decline of $17,000 in the price of seats in the exchange.

Arrangements were made for the sale of one membership at $111,000 in the morning, and for two memberships at $100,000 in the afternoon. The last previous sale was made at $117,000.

Today's final price of $100,005 is the lowest quotation for a membership in the exchange since Jan. 2, 1925. Then a sale was made at $99,000. The high for this year was $175,000, and the low for 1931, $122,000. Since last month when the high price for the year was established, the total value of the 1,375 memberships has depreciated $103,125,000 to $137,500,000 on the basis of yesterday's quotations.

Stock exchange brokers declared that if the La Guardia proposal were adopted, trading on the local exchange would be greatly restricted, and many speculators might transfer their operations to the Canadian stock markets. It was said that when restrictive measures were placed on grain trading at Chicago last year, many traders in that city withdrew from the market and transferred their activities to Winnipeg.

Mr. La Guardia's proposal would not only mean a twelve-fold increase in the federal impost on stocks selling at $100 a share, but would discourage short selling, brokers said, since the bill contemplates a tax of a half of 1 per cent on short sales.

At present the federal tax rate on the sale of stock is 2 cents a share, whereas the La Guardia rate would be 25 cents a share for stocks selling at $100 a share, and 12½ cents a share on stocks selling at $50. On March 1, the state transfer tax was increased from 2 cents a share to 4 cents a share.

Says Procter & Gamble Expects to Pay Dividend

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 28.—In a letter sent to stockholders of the Procter & Gamble company, William C. Procter, chairman of the board, stated today that the company's management expected to declare the regular quarterly dividend at its meeting in April. Mr. Procter said his statement was in reply to "many inquiries from our stockholders, in view of the present disturbed business conditions." Last week Procter & Gamble common stock declined 8 points to 30¼ on the New York Stock exchange. The issue rallied 2½ points today on Mr. Procter's statement.

OVER 25 BILLION IN ISSUES THAT U. S. CAN'T TAX

"Soak the Rich" Policy Is Subject of Argument.

Those who want to "soak the rich" say he can't go very far; those who oppose extra high taxes insist such levies would make a lot of income flee into exempt securities to the detriment of business enterprise.

There is more than $25,000,000,000 in securities which cannot be taxed for income by the federal government. The largest part of this is $17,000,000,000 in state, county, and municipal bonds which cannot be taxed at Washington, on the theory that such taxation presumes the right of the government to tax the states and other political subdivisions in other ways—even out of existence.

Short Term Securities.

There is also about $3,500,000,000 in short term government securities; about $1,300,000,000 in Liberty 3½s; about $200,000,000 in bonds of our territories; about $2,300,000,000 in the bonds of the federal and joint land banks—or a total of about $25,000,000,000. To this total should be added certain other government bonds which are tax exempt up to $5,000, and thereafter subject to surtaxes.

Opponents of high rates say super taxes would drive holders of industrial and other taxable securities into tax exempt bonds, unless the taxable bonds pay a very high rate of interest. This requisite high rate presumably would tend to discourage business from borrowing needed money, the opponents say.

They further hold high rates would stimulate the issuance of more tax exempt securities at a time when political subdivisions are already too heavily in debt.

Tax Exempt Securities.

Proponents insist the tax exempt securities are now held by those who wish to avoid the existing rates, and that such holdings could not be increased enough to affect tax receipts materially. They say there is plenty of cheap credit available to a business that needs a sound loan:

some 2 points of its bear market low, but support appeared after the turn of the day and the stock perked up to register a net gain. The early selling was reported to be largely for short accounts, and was based on current talk that the $9 dividend is none too secure. Other utilities were moderately lower.

The oils again set an example for courage, some of them moving against the trend for small gains. Further news of gasoline price boosts here and there helped this group.

N. Y. Tractions Gain.

New York traction issues were bolstered up by talk that bankers who granted the city of New York a $251,000,000 loan some months ago were backing the present fight of real estate interests for a higher subway fare. Gains of 2 to nearly 3 points were made by the issues.

In the railroad section, Union Pacific sold to the lowest price in about twenty-five years.

Among the many prominent stocks to sink to new lows at one stage or another of the session were:

Anaconda, Du Pont, Auburn, General Motors, International Telephone, Kreuger & Toll, Macy, New Haven preferred, Norfolk and Western, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, and U. S. Steel preferred. Most of the pivotal industrial issues, such as U. S. Steel and General Electric, held fairly well within a fraction of previous closing prices.

Vanadium Corporation of America.

Will you please give me a report on Vanadium common? I enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.—O. J. J.

Vanadium Corporation of America was established about 25 years ago. It is the leading factor in the world in the market of vanadium. This metal is used in alloys in the manufacture of steel. The company produces chrome. Its Virginia plant is developing new properties which will yield titanium products, used in paints and in baking.

Ore reserves are ample. The Peruvian properties alone have an estimated vanadium reserve sufficient to last 20 years at the present rate of consumption.

Net sales in 1931 were $2,348,000 and net loss was $1,097,000. After dividends, deficit for the year was $1,372,000.

Sales figures for 1930 are not available. Net income was $1,117,000, or $3.04 per share.

No charge for depletion was made in 1931. "Other income" in 1931 was $120,000, against $697,000 for 1930.

Net income for 1929 was $1,857,000, against $1,713,000 for 1928 and $1,870,000 for 1927.

On Dec. 31, 1931, current assets were $5,942,000 and current liabilities were $499,000. Cash and marketable securities alone were $1,974,000, and notes payable were $200,000, against $1,200,000 the year before.

Working capital was $5,443,000, against $5,092,000 on Dec. 31, 1930.

The improvement in current position in the face of unsatisfactory operations was due to funds received in 1931 from the issuance of $5,000,000 debenture 5s, due 1941. These bonds are convertible into common stock on the basis of $80 per share.

Connecticut Light and Power.

Please let me know what you think about Connecticut Light and Power 4½s, due 1956.—D. J.

Fixed charges during the last ten years have been covered by wide margins. They were earned 3.15 times in 1931, 2.98 times in 1930, 2.90 times in 1928 and 3.01 times in 1927.

The first 4½s, due 1956, are sound.

WHEAT CLOSES HIGHER; PRICE TREND ERRATIC

Corn Also Registers Small Advance in Trade.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Trade sentiment and the wheat market fluctuated with startling rapidity yesterday. May wheat practically touched the high and the low figures for the day twice during the session, with the close at the top after the May had touched 52c on the break. This was a new low on the current movement and 3¼c above the lowest figures of the season. Net gains for the day were ⅝@1⅛c, with March finishing at 51⅝c, while May was 53⅜@53½c; old July, 55¼@55⅝c, and old September, 57½c.

Wheat was easy at the start on an accumulation of overnight selling orders, with the May touching 52¼c. A rally to 53⅝c followed on local and commission house buying, but longs went out of their holdings later on disquieting news from Washington, with the nearby future dropping to a new low on the present downturn. The market later retraced the ground due to buying induced by strength in stocks and a belief that crop damage reports would have more influence from now on.

Say Dollars Depreciate.

At no time during the day were operators able to trade against bids and offers, and the aggregate business was not large. The pronounced strength in sterling which advanced sharply to around $3.83, a new high for the year, was received with misgivings by the trade who regarded the upturn as reflecting depreciation in American dollars, as there was nothing in the news to account for the buying of sterling. The trade was unusually sensitive to Washington news throughout the day.

President Hoover, according to Washington news, disapproves of any plan to abolish the farm board, and Dr. J. W. T. Duval, head of the grain futures administration, was reported as having been called before the house ways and means subcommittee which is making efforts to find new ways of raising taxes. Both reports were construed as bearish by the trade, and were largely responsible for the break to the low point of the day. Local long went out of their holdings on the way down.

A Ray of Comfort.

Bulls had one ray of comfort during the day in the shape of a decrease of 2,920,000 bu in the domestic visible supply to 202,269,000 bu, compared with 202,497,000 bu in 1931, it being the first time since Aug. 25, 1927, that the total had been less than during the corresponding period of the previous year.

European wheat markets were closed due to the Easter holidays, but Buenos Aires reopened after having been closed since Wednesday and was only fractionally lower at midday, and had gained over 1c on Chicago during that period. Winnipeg reported an oversold condition, with buying there against sales at Chicago by spreaders, and closed ⅞@1⅛c higher, with May at 60⅛c in Canadian funds.

France has increased the percentage of foreign wheat mills are permitted to grind to 40 per cent, compared with 35 per cent previously. The trade construed this as indicating a lack of reserves, and expected a better demand from that country.

Corn Market Firm.

Corn dipped early with wheat and equaled the inside figures on the crop, but firmed later, with local shorts on the buying side and closed ⅜@⅝c higher. May finished at 36@36⅛c; July, 39⅛c, and September, 40⅞@40⅞c. Movement of cash corn throughout the west was limited with local arrivals of 26 cars, and the spot basis gained ½@⅝c on the May. An increase of 522,000 bu was shown in the domestic visible, with the total 21,911,000 bu, against 20,548,000 bu last year.

Trade in oats was light, but the market showed a rather firm undertone and closed ⅝c higher in sympathy with other grains. May finished at 23½c and July at 24@24⅛c. Owing to favorable weather rapid progress was reported as being made in seeding and reseeding in the southwest.

There were intimations of further export demand for rye at the seaboard, and a good class of buying was in evidence in futures. The latter showed more strength than wheat and closed 1@1⅝c higher, with cash interests on the buying side. May was 45¼c and July 46½c at the last.

LARD TRADE FAIR

A rather stronger tone developed in the lard market, with a moderate business passing and a net gain of 2½@5c on May and September, which furnished practically all the business. Hogs were sharply higher, with receipts at western points smaller than a week and a year ago. Export clearances of lard for the week were 8,529,000 lbs, against 10,861,000 lbs last year. In bacon they were only 1,712,000 against 3,337,000 lbs last year. Prices in foreign markets are so low that no export business of consequence can be done from the United States. There was nothing doing in bellies, with prices nominally unchanged. Prices follow:

EGG FUTURES HIGHER

Firmness prevailed in egg futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, closing prices showing gains of ⅛@⅜c. Butter futures were unchanged to ⅛c lower. Steady support entered in egg futures at the opening and the market moved slightly higher despite fairly active profit taking and new selling. Storage packed deliveries made new highs for the year. Statistical news encouraged the buying, receipts continuing light and the storage movement bullish. The four markets stored 1,000 cases, or 11,000 less than last year, and the holdings in the ten markets total less than 200,000 cases, compared with a total of over 900,000 cases at this time last year. Butter news was rather neutral and trading restricted. There appeared little hurry to close out the March delivery, despite the fact that tomorrow is the last day for trading in that contract. Sales: Butter, 47 cars; eggs, 78 cars. Prices follow:

ATTENTION

Manufacturers and Executives

We are a small manufacturing company and have been operating for the past few years very successfully with limited capital, manufacturing only one item which has wide distribution. We now have samples of products which would make our line complete and for which there is an immediate demand. Our present condition is healthy, but we are not in a position to finance the additional production costs.

Our proposition is ideal for those who are now manufacturing anything mechanical, electrical or of metal.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today: Cattle, 46,000; hogs, 14,000; sheep, 12,000.

Despite the fact that hog prices yesterday were highest since last Thursday, the market displayed its weak side soon after the opening. It flattened out before noon and barely steady prices were obtained at the close.

The performance was all the more disheartening to the selling side in view of the abnormally small supplies. Yesterday's 27,000, the smallest run for Monday since the middle of September, was regarded as the producers' answer to the price slashing late last week. The supply was 40 per cent under the average of the last six Mondays.

Small Receipts Likely Today.

Another meager supply is in sight for today. However, support was lacking almost from the start. High quality light weight stock, suitable for eastern trade, were scare and advanced 10@25c at the opening, but soon after this outside demand had been satisfied, competition died down and stock exceeding 200 lbs in weight slid rapidly back to Saturday's price levels. The bulk of medium and weighty butcher grades remained untouched by buyers until gains had been erased. All selected light were over the scales at the upturn before the reaction. The peak at $4.60 showed a 20c jump. The general average for the whole day moved up only 5c. Bulk of 160@240 lb averages sold at $4.25@4.50, while 260@300 lb averages sold largely at $4.05@4.20. One large shipment of 529 good quality Nebraska hogs, all one man's feeding, averaged 277 lbs and sold to one of the larger packers at $4.20. It was one of the largest single shipments in recent years.

Offer September Hogs at $5.25.

The hog futures trade was erratic yesterday. September contracts dropped in value, while March and May offers and bids advanced. Heavy grades for next September delivery could be bought as low as $5.25 at the close. The highest bid stopped at $5.00. May light were bid up to $5.00 and mediums for March were offered at $5.15 and bid $4.50.

Quality of cattle was plainer than usual for Monday and despite the comparatively small supply, all but a few top notchers came under the hammer and losses of mostly 15@25c were recorded during the day. Buyers skimmed the "cream" from the supply early at mostly steady prices. No outstanding weighty beeves were here, but some choice 1,143 lb averages went to Swift for eastern trade at $8.15 and some 1,418 lb cattle reached $8.10. The bulk of steers sold at $5.40@7.40. Butcher stock comprised a greater share of offerings and sold steady to 25c lower. Calves shared in the decline and closed on a 25c lower basis. Stockers and feeders showed some action at last week's closing quotations, though the movement back to the country lately has been below normal for the time of year. Country demand favors fleshy steers of good quality.

Lambs Gain 50c.

Light receipts brought buyers on the lamb market early yesterday and prices went up fully 50c during the session. Packers bought eagerly at $7.00 at the start, paying the price for 99 lb averages. Later gains brought their price range for 92@96 lb averages up to $7.25@7.40. The clearance was earlier than usual, with most buyers running short of their orders. Only a scattering of native spring lambs arrived yesterday, and, as usual after Easter, sold at sharply lower prices. The top at $8.50, paid by large local packers, obtained some good quality stocks, comparable to the kinds selling up to $10.50 at the high time last week. The break in these specialties, however, was not as sharp as that usually recorded after Easter. Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 6,000 cattle, 14,000 hogs, and 12,000 sheep, against 5,574 cattle, 9,768 hogs, and 8,747 sheep the previous Tuesday, and 7,306 cattle, 21,476 hogs, and 18,902 sheep a year ago.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Fresh eggs were in fairly good demand, with prices steady to ¼c higher. Receipts 12,045 cases. Butter was firm to ¼c higher. Receipts 13,202 tubs. Live lightweight hens advanced ½c. Receipts 2 cars and 10 trucks. Potatoes firmer, with receipts 148 cars, and 317 cars were on team track.

CUBA SETTLES PACT ON SUGAR UNTIL JUNE 14

HAVANA, Cuba, March 28.—(AP)—Cuba's differences with the rest of the sugar producing world were settled today, at least until June 14, when the international council meets again in Paris. At its meeting today, the National Sugar institute was officially informed that Peru and European nations represented on the council had accepted the Cuban proposal to limit 1932 production to 2,700,000 tons or thereabouts, provided these nations guarantee that Java will not export more than 1,500,000 tons of sugar this year. The June meeting of the council will consider Cuban demands for revision of future export quotas as provided for in the Brussels international agreement.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, March 28.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was not very active today but the undertone was a little easier under more liberal offerings. Prices declined 2 points to the basis of 2.72c for spots, with sales confirmed of 9,000 bags of Philippines for April shipment at 2.73c; 28,100 bags of Porto Rican for April shipment at 2.72c, and 21,000 bags of Cuban for prompt shipment at 2.71c. Futures were unsettled by uncertainty over the effects of the new crop proposals, with prices generally lower and closing at net declines of 1 to 2 points. Approximate sales, 40,400 tons. Prices follow:

There was a little better inquiry for refined sugar but it was still confined to nearby requirements. Prices were unchanged at 4.00c for fine granulated.

LEGAL NOTICES.

FEBRUARY 3, 1932.

Mrs. Riza Von Sternberg, Hollywood, California.

Dear Mrs. Von Sternberg:

I am sure the enclosed copy of a letter which I have received from Dr. Sandor Incze, Editor of the Szinhazi Elet, and author of the syndicated article which appeared in the Neues Wiener Journal, will convince you that we have both been imposed upon and subjected to a publicity which was as cruel and needless as it was deplorable to both of us.

This letter, you will note, specifically admits and confesses the element of fabrication with regard to all misstatements incorporated in the alleged interview, which forms the basis of one of your suits against me. These misstatements, I beg you to recall, I emphatically denied and charged as gross fabrications, because:

No movement was ever launched to boycott me or my pictures by you, with whom my relations were entirely friendly, up to the time of your instituting these two legal actions against me.

No report was circulated by you that I was divorcing my husband, Herr Sieber.

No statement was made by me that Mr. Von Sternberg was divorcing you because of me, or that he would have divorced you if he had never met me.

No statement was made by me that there were serious differences between you and Mr. Von Sternberg, nor did I say that he related the story of his divorce to me, or that I was in possession of information not generally known regarding your marital affairs.

I reiterate my complete denial. I can only again assert that these fabrications and misstatements deliberately incorporated in the alleged interview to injure your reputation as well as mine could not possibly have any foundation in fact.

I trust you will accept this communication as final evidence of my good faith in this matter, and realize that the fabrications and misstatements contained in the alleged interview were beyond my control.

Very truly yours,
MARLENE DIETRICH.

Budapest, August 29, 1931.

Dear Artist:

I send you herewith the issue of December 9th, of the Neues Wiener Journal in which the Berlin interview in question is published in such a manner as if I had sent the same from New York.

I have also sent a copy to Mr. Zukor, and if you so desire I will naturally be only too happy to publish in the Neues Wiener Journal a statement that this article has absolutely no foundation in fact and is taken from the air.

With kind regards, I am,
Very respectfully yours,
[Signed] SANDOR INCZE.

Mme. Marlene Dietrich, Paramount Building, New York.

Mrs. Marlene Dietrich, Hollywood, California. February 3, 1932.

Dear Mrs. Dietrich:

I hereby acknowledge receipt of your communication of February 3, 1932, inclosing a copy of a letter from Dr. Sandor Incze, Editor of Szinhazi Elet, wherein the element of fabrication is admitted and confessed with regard to the syndicated article published in the Neues Wiener Journal of December 9, 1930.

I have noted your specific denials of all the misstatements in the interview with you, misstatements which formed the basis for my legal action for libel instituted against you.

I wish you to know that Dr. Incze's letter is acceptable to me. It demonstrates to my satisfaction his desire to vindicate me as well as yourself, and is most welcome proof of your charge of deliberate and calculated misquotation.

I beg to advise you that I have accordingly this day directed my attorneys to dismiss all litigation against you.

It is my earnest desire that this letter will convince you of my reciprocal good faith and that its publication simultaneously with yours to me will end at once and for always the unfortunate publicity to which both of us have been subjected.

Yours very truly,
RIZA VON STERNBERG.
